Massacre of the Captives by the Greek Robbers—Particulars of the Murder—Conflict with the Troops—Escape of the Band.

LONDON, April 25.—Mr. OTWAY, Under Foreign Secretary, stated in the House of Commons, today, that the Government has received dispatches from Athens confirming the melancholy intelligence of the fate of the captives in the hands of the brigands. The Greek Government made every effort to save them, but in vain. Negotiations having been exhausted, the troops moved against the robbers, and drove them to a tower on the coast near Oropo, where they were surrounded on Friday afternoon. Offers were once more made to the brigands, but were rejected; and at 10 o'clock the next morning an attack was made on their position. As soon as the troops commenced to move, Mr. HERBERT and the Secretary of the Italian Legation were taken out by their captors and butchered; and subsequently, when the brigands found themselves hard pressed, VYNER and LLOYD were killed. The troops finally carried the tower, and the brigands, two of whose leaders had been mortally wounded, fled, closely pursued by the soldiers. There are strong hopes that most of the band will be captured, in which case they will be summarily dealt with by the Greek authorities. The British Press clamor for the punishment of the murderers, and demand indemnity for the slain from the Greek Government.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 24—Evening.—The Grand Vizier has just received a dispatch from Athens announcing the massacre of the English prisoners by the brigands.

Supposed Tidings of the City of Boston—The Steamer Reported to be Sinking on the 11th of February.

LONDON, April 25.—A telegram to the Central Press Association of England, states today that a thin slip of wood, about a yard long and painted blue, drifted ashore yesterday near Ligger Bay, on the north-western coast of Cornwall, containing the following inscription, in large letters: "City of Boston, sinking Feb. 11." The wood bore evidence of having been broken in two, and the remainder of the inscription is consequently lost, except the letter "M," which followed the words above given. Of course we have no means of knowing whether this is a genuine message from the missing steamer or a heartless hoax, but the latter is strongly suspected.

The Napoleonic Dynasty—An Appeal to Vote for the Plebiscitum—The Opposition—Prince Pierre and the Corsicans of the Guard.

PARIS, April 25.—The Journal Officiel contains the following circular to officers of the civil service, signed by all the Ministers:

"The Emperor addresses a solemn appeal to the nation. In 1852 he asked the power to assure order. In 1870 he asks the power to establish liberty. Confident of the title, which is his by reason of eight million suffrages, he does not surrender the Empire to discussion. He submits to vote only its liberal transformation. To vote 'yes,' is to vote for liberty. The revolutionary party, secretly attacking the national sovereignty, and misrepresenting the respect which the Emperor pays to that sovereignty in thus consulting the people, are not the true friends of liberty; but, in spite of these, the masses will march in our ranks. Can they ignore the fact that to abstain from voting, or to vote 'no,' will be to strengthen those who only combat the transformation of the Empire in order that they may destroy it, and with it the political and social organization to which France owes her greatness? In the name of public peace and liberty—in the name of the Emperor—we demand of you all, our devoted colaborers, to unite your efforts with ours. It is to the citizens we address ourselves—not as ordering, but as offering patriotic counsel; our object, to assure to our country a tranquil future, to the end that on the throne, as in the humblest dwelling, the son may succeed the father in peace and quiet."

It is reported today that the disaffection in the party of the Left has been healed, and that the members will all vote alike. In public meetings held here yesterday to discuss the plebiscitum, the majority of the audiences declared in favor of abstaining from voting on the 8th of May.... Signor CERNANDRI, the Italian banker, well known for his republican proclivities, has presented 100,000 francs to the Anti-Plebiscitum Committee. ....Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE yesterday gave a grand banquet to the Corsicans belonging to the Guard.

Reassembling of the British Parliament—Passage of the Naturalization Law.

LONDON, April 25.—The House of Commons reassembled today. Mr. OTWAY made a statement in regard to the massacre of the foreign captives in Greece, and promised that Her Majesty's Government would lose no time in urging the authorities at Athens to take proper action. The House went into Committee on the Budget. The proposals of the Chancellor of the Exchequer regarding newspaper and other stamp duties were agreed to. The Naturalization bill, after a short debate, was passed. The War Office bill was taken up. Mr. FIELDEN opposed the measure, denouncing it as redolent of jobbery. Lord ELCHO held the same views. Mr. STANSFELD defended the bill in detail. One of its principal merits, he said, was to establish control over expenditure. Sir J. PAKINGTON generally approved of the bill, and confined his objections to certain ordnance details. Mr. CARDWELL, Secretary of State for War, closed the debate with a speech in refutation of the objections offered. The bill then passed by a majority of 74. The Metropolitan Poor Relief bill was next considered. After a long debate of purely local interest, the bill passed to a second reading, and the House adjourned.

The Ecumenical Council—Revival of the Question of the Spanish Monarchy—Germany—Victor Emmanuel.

ROME, April 25.—At the Ecumenical Council on Sunday, 664 Fathers were present. The Constitution de Fide was unanimously voted. It contains four charters and eighteen canons, as follows: Charter 1, of five canons, on the Creator; Charter 2, of four canons, on Revelation; Charter 3, of six canons, on Faith; charter 4, of three canons, on Faith and Reason.

LONDON, April 25.—Another public session of the Ecumenical Council will be held to-morrow. The Pope will preside, and the Fathers will vote openly on additional articles of faith....It now seems it was the Earl of DENBIGH who toasted the Prince of ASTURIAS at a banquet in Rome. Owing to a similarity of the names certain Madrid journals have attributed this unfriendly action to Lord DERBY. ....Advices from Madrid represent that violent quarrels have broken out in the Spanish Cabinet, and that the partisans of the Duke of MONTPENSIER are gaining ground outside the capital. It is also reported that a rising in favor of the Prince of ASTURIAS is threatened.

MADRID, April 25.—The journals of this city mention the continued receipt of memorials from the North-eastern Provinces favoring the election of ESPARTERO as future Monarch of Spain.

BERLIN, April 25.—The Parliament of the Zollverein has completed its organization. Herr SIMSON was elected President and Prince HOHENLOHE and Herr VON UJEST, Vice-President.

FLORENCE, April 25.—King VICTOR EMMANUEL has recovered from a slight attack of scarlatina.

The Sappho and Cambria—Queen Victoria's Recent Fright a Hoax—Capt. Eyre and His Certificate—Parliament.

COWES, Isle of Wight, April 25.—The yachts Sappho and Cambria are constantly under sail and are subjected to the severest tests under every circumstance of wind and weather, preparatory to the first of the series of three races to take place in the British Channel. Mr. DOUGLASS and Mr. ASHBURY have agreed to leave the entire management of the races to unimpeachable yachting authorities, whose decisions will be conclusive. As far at present arranged, the basis requires from a six to eight knot breeze for a start, and the course at that time to be sixty miles to windward from some point in mid-channel off the east end of the Isle of Wight.... The report that the Queen and the Princess of WALES were recently placed in great peril, near Ryde, by a runaway team, is contradicted.... Capt. EYRE, of the steamer Bombay, is seeking for the restoration of his certificate, on the ground that the evidence against him is contradictory and inconclusive. Much sympathy is shown for him here.... It is said that the movement in Atlantic and Great Western Railway stock, is owing to the acceptance by the bondholders of Mr. MCHENRY's terms....There is every sign that business will be pushed with vigor in Parliament. The Liberal Whip has issued a circular to members notifying them to be prompt in attendance, as a week of heavy work is expected.

THE INDIANS.

A New Movement by the Choctaws—Proposition to be Admitted as a State—A Vote on their Land Question to be Taken July 4.

MEMPHIS, April 25.—The message of ALLEN WRIGHT, the principal Chief of the Choctaw nation, concerning a special session of the Council, is an able State paper. He warns them by the fate of their territory in Mississippi, and in view of the proposed establishment of the Territory of Lincoln, and says:

"It is idle to talk of things remaining as they are. A great change is approaching; not such as we wish but just as it is, and faster than we are prepared to meet or resist. We must meet the change whether prepared for it or not, and let us meet it manfully." He then advises that the lands "be surveyed and held in severalty, and then that we organize ourselves at once as the State of Okiushumma and ask for admission as one of the States of the Union; and that if it is the honest desire of the United States Government to have us become citizens of the American Union, she will acquiesce in our petition." He also recommends an immediate protest against any Territorial government, and the adoption of a resolution asking the Government to settle the estates of the freedmen, and recommends the encouragement of railroads.

The Council subsequently passed an act submitting the question of dividing their lands so that the same may be held in severalty, or, as heretofore, in common, to the vote of the people on the 4th day of July next.

Letter from a Jesuit Missionary—A "Talk" With the Piegans—Penitence and Humility Manifested—Other Tribes Quiet.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Gen. A. SULLY, Superintendent of Indian Affairs for Montana, has forwarded to Commissioner PARKER the following copy of a letter from Rev. Father C. IMODA, S. J., Missionary in Montana Territory:

HELENA, Montana Territory, April 10.

Gen. A. Sully, Superintendent Indian Affairs:

DEAR SIR: I have the pleasure to inform you that, having been on a visit to the Indian camps on Belly River, in the British possessions, there I met a large camp of Piegans, most of whom were those that fled from the Marias after their misfortune of January last. Being called by the Mountain Chief into his lodge, he spoke at length of their late misfortune, and of the desire he and his people have of making a lasting peace with the whites. Having told him that I was glad to hear what he said, but desired to know if the other Chiefs were of the same mind, we arranged to have a meeting of them, which was held on the 17th of March; and it is from notes taken on the spot that I have the honor to report the following as the expression of their wills:

The Mountain Chief complained of the false report of his having declared war against the whites. He strongly denied having said anything that could be so understood. He said he had been stripped of his lodge and made poor, but he is satisfied that his young men have been beaten, and thinks that now they will mind their Chiefs and not go any more to trouble the whites. He desires now to make with them a good and lasting peace.

ASACA, Chief of the band of Fried Grease Indians, complained that while he has been friendly with the whites his band suffered more than the others. He was not ill-disposed toward them and desired that a lasting friendship should be established again.

The Boy Chief said that it was his desire that the past be forgotten and a good peace be made with the whites. He complained of the Pen d'Oreilles, and desires that the whites will exercise their influence to bring them to make a lasting peace with the Piegans.

STOJAS, of LAME BULL's band, says that his family has been nearly extinguished in the late fights; but he will not talk bad, and desires to make peace. He fears that the North Blackfeet might steal again from the whites, and the blame be put again on the Piegans.

The WHITE CALF, GENEROUS WOMAN, CUT HEAD, and BIG TALK, chiefs of different bands of the Piegans, were also present, and spoke, but their remarks being similar to the foregoing, I think that the above will be enough to persuade you of their general desire to make a lasting peace with the whites. In the hope that such a thing will soon be accomplished, I remain, respectfully, your obedient servant, C. IMODA, S. J.

In this connection, Gen. SULLY speaks of a conversation with Father IMODA, that no further serious difficulties need be apprehended from these Indians; that the small-pox had carried off large numbers of them, and the greater portion of the younger members of the tribe had died. He had vaccinated a great many. They are frightened at the lesson they have got, and have no wish for any further movement of troops this Spring. Gen. SULLY thinks it probable that if some proper person could be sent, clothed with full authority to act, much good would result, both to the Indians and the Government, and that they might be induced to give up their roving habits, stealing, &c. But the person sent to talk with these Indians should be one who understands them fully, and not make promises which afterward will not be complied with. Commissioner PARKER has official reports from Capt. KEYS, agent for the Indians at the Cimarron Agency, New-Mexico, the Utes and the Scarrillo Apaches. The troops which had been stationed at that agency were removed on the 3d of March, but the agent thinks they are not needed. The effect of a military force in their midst still remained, and there had been no complaints from citizens, or any further trouble in regard to the sale of whisky. The Indians express themselves satisfied with what they receive, and are willing to remain without receiving anything, if that is the alternative. The agent had explained to the Utes the greater benefit they will receive by going on the Colorado reservation, but they still refuse.

Base-Ball—The Maryland and Athletic Clubs at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—The base-ball match between the Maryland Club of Baltimore and the Athletics of this City attracted a large crowd, this being the first match of the season here. The playing on both sides was fine. The Athletics were determined to retrieve their laurels, having been beaten in a game with the Marylands last year. Many bets were made that the Marylands would be defeated two to one. At the end of the game the score stood as follows:

Athletic—5, 3, 5, 10, 1, 4, 0, 6, 0—34.
Maryland—1, 3, 5, 1, 0, 1, 3, 2 0—16.

CANADA AND THE FENIANS.

Neutrality Laws of the United States to be Rigidly Enforced—The Movement of Troops to Iowa—The Six Nation Indians.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The telegraphic dispatches forwarded from Toronto professing to state information given by the Government of the United States to the Canadian authorities with regard to the Fenians, or to the intentions of this Government, are not to be relied on. They appear to be prepared with the design of invariably misrepresenting this Government, and are generally pure fiction....The War Department order removing the Seventeenth and Fourteenth Regiments of Infantry from Virginia and Kentucky, and assigning them to duty in the Department of Dakota, removes all troops now performing duty in those States. The understanding is that the move has something to do with the condition of affairs in the Red River country, and refers to the neutrality of the American soil during the existing troubles. There are, besides the troops which are to be sent thither, already in the Department of Dakota, three regiments of infantry and a battalion of cavalry.

The Internal Revenue Office will soon annex the District of Columbia and West Virginia to the Supervising District of Virginia under Supervisor PRESBURY. The head-quarters will be in Washington.

[The following is a special dispatch to the Evening Post of yesterday:]

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The British Minister and Secretary FISH have information that the Fenian leaders have named May 1 as the day when a raid will be made on the Canadian frontier. The United States authorities have provided means by which, the minute any warlike demonstration is made by the Fenians, they will promptly enforce the Neutrality laws. Thus far copies of all secret documents issued by the Fenian officers have fallen into the hands of Secretary FISH and Minister THORNTON, and no movements have been made or contemplated of which they are not advised. The proposed invasion of Canada has been postponed three times this month, probably on account of the uncertainty connected with Gen. O'NEILL's re-election to the Presidency of the Brotherhood; but it has now been definitely settled that the raid will be made on May 1. There is no truth whatever in the Associated Press dispatch from Montreal that Secretary FISH has telegraphed to the Canadian authorities that the United States Government are unable to protect the Canadian frontier, and that they must be prepared to repel all invasions. Secretary FISH pronounces the dispatch a canard, and without the shadow of a foundation. He says all attempts to violate the Neutrality laws will be promptly met, and the parties engaged will be punished.

TORONTO, Canada, April 25.—WILLIAM JACOBS, chief and warrior of the Six Nation Indians, writes to the Globe denying that any of his tribe are to be form part of the Red River expedition.

FATAL AFFRAYS.

Murder of an Engineer on the Mississippi River—Fight between Two Schooner Crews in Baltimore.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 25.—A terrible murder was committed three miles below here, early this morning, on the tow-boat Mary Alice, from New-Orleans for Pittsburg. BENJAMIN KENNEDY, the engineer, being annoyed by two negro deck-hands, named ANDERSON and HENDERSON, ordered them to leave the engine-room, whereupon they seized him, and, after stabbing him with a sheath-knife, threw him overboard. The watchman, who was a witness of the scene, attempted to save the engineer, but was knocked down and brutally beaten. An effort was made to save KENNEDY with the yawl, but he sank before assistance could be rendered. On the arrival of the boat here the negroes were brought before a Magistrate, and committed for murder in the first degree.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 25.—About 11 o'clock this morning a collision occurred in the Basin, between the schooners Foaming Wave and Remedy, near MALTBY's Wharf. A personal encounter ensued between the hands of the two schooners, during which PATRICK MCDONALD, employed on the Foaming Wave, was knocked overboard by WM. LAYFIELD, master of the schooner Remedy, and drowned. The body of MCDONALD was afterward recovered by dragging. LAYFIELD was arrested.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 25.—Hon. GEO. F. COMSTOCK, being today inquired of whether he is a candidate for nomination at the Democratic State Judicial Convention as Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals, replies that he is not, and that all published statements of that character are base fabrications.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 25.—A freight train on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad ran through a trestle near Humboldt, on Saturday, demolishing the engine and six cars. The damage to the trestle will be repaired today.

BOSTON, April 25.—The house of Mrs. MARTHA KEAN, in East Marshfield, was destroyed by fire this morning, and a young man named FREDERICK AMES was burned to death. The loss on the property was $4,000.

POUGHKEEPSIE, April 25.—The Democrats of the Second Assembly District of Dutchess County today elected O. D. M. BAKER delegate to the State Convention.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 25.—A convention of the Southern and State Press Associations met here today. Representatives were present from North and South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

CHICAGO, April 25.—ANDREW KEESECKER, a compositor on the Dubuque Herald, fell dead at his case today. He had been a printer fifty-one years, and set type on the first newspaper published in Iowa.

Coroner's Inquest Upon the Body of Patrick Lane.

Coroner BURNS, of Jersey City, yesterday commenced the inquest upon the body of PATRICK LANE, the East Newark Constable, who was drowned in the Hackensack River, having been ejected from a New-Jersey Railroad car. The jury, accompanied by Superintendent JACKSON, of the Railroad Company, GEORGE W. BAKER, Master of Transportation, Coroner BURNS, and a number of representatives of the Press, visited the bridge in a special train to make an examination of the scene of the accident. The party was also accompanied by Mr. BOYLAN, who was one of the passengers on the train at the time of the accident, and who was a witness to the dispute in the car before LANE was drowned.

Upon their arrival at the bridge a thorough examination was made. It was found that there was a space of over six feet between the two railway tracks which was filled in, so as to form a hard gravel walk. At night the walk is lighted by lights from the signal tower in the middle of the bridge. It was shown from the position of the train passing toward Newark, and by the fact that LANE fell from the north side of the bridge, that he must have crossed this gravel walk, and the track running parallel with that upon which stood the train he had left, and the guard-rail two feet in height, before he could have fallen into the river. The bridge is not a trestle work, but is filled in and planked over and can be safely traveled upon even when trains are passing in opposite directions. The taking of testimony will be commenced today. Conductor PARKER, who was suspended from his post upon the road after the accident, and who immediately obtained employment upon a Western road, returned to Jersey City as soon as he heard of the recovery of the body, and will be present at the inquest.

The Fifteenth Amendment—Republican Meeting To-night.

The first of a series of meetings to be held by the Republican Associations of this county, in honor of the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States, will take place this evening at Metropolitan Hall, No. 95 Sixth-av., under the auspices of the Association of which Col. F. A. CONKLING is President. Several distinguished orators will speak.

ALBANY.

About Adjournment—Changes in the Charity Bill—The Eight-Hour Law—State Elevators—Pneumatic and Arcade—The Central Stock-Jobbing Bills.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Monday, April 25, 1870.

The Assembly went into session at 9 o'clock this morning, and are to hold three sessions during the day and night. There is a determination to adjourn sine die to-morrow afternoon if possible, to give members a chance to get to Rochester in time for the Democratic Judicial Convention, to be held on Wednesday. The State aid men are anxious to hear from the Governor before adjourning on the bills now in his hands, and a combination has been formed for the purpose of passing the bills over a veto, in case one should be sent in, but it is not likely to succeed. The time will be up for a veto on Thursday next, and hence the anxiety to keep the Legislature in session till that date. In case an adjournment cannot be carried to-morrow afternoon an effort will be made to take a recess till after the Rochester Conventions.

THE CHARITY BILL.

The Charity bill, reported from the Ways and Means Committee on Saturday, was made the special order in Assembly at the morning session, and discussed for two hours. The only changes made in the donations for New-York charities from the list published in the TIMES on Sunday are the following: For the Pitt-street Industrial School, $3,000; for the Catholic Orphan Asylum, corner Mott and Prince streets, $3,000; for the North-eastern Dispensary, $1,500 instead of $500; for the Central Dispensary, Eighth-avenue, $2,500. The total amount of donations in the Charity bill, as passed, is about $1,200,000, or nearly $200,000 more than last year's bill.

THE EIGHT-HOUR BILL.

The bill that passed the Assembly some time since, making eight hours a legal day's work for laborers in the employ of the State, was taken up in the Senate this morning and passed. Mr. LORD moved to amend by making seven hours a day's work, but it was lost.

STATE ELEVATORS.

Senator HARDENBERGH's hobby, authorizing the Canal Board to go into the elevating business, and purchase and build grain elevators to compete with those owned by private companies, passed the Senate this morning. It has been strenuously advocated at various times by Mr. HARDENBERGH as a necessary accompaniment to the proposed decrease in canal tolls—the argument being that the private elevators invariably increase the price of elevating whenever canal tolls are decreased, thereby neutralizing the effect of such decrease so far as the canal interest is concerned. It is doubtful whether the bill will pass the Assembly.

PNEUMATIC TUNNEL.

The bill to authorize the Beach Pneumatic Company to increase the size of their tube, so as to carry passengers, was put on its passage in the Senate this morning, and received only eight votes. Its rival, the Arcade, has not been moved in the Assembly yet, and powerful outside influences are at work to defeat it, but whether justly or unjustly, it is the most popular City railroad bill that was ever before the Assembly, and if it rested solely on its (supposed) merits it would pass by an overwhelming majority.

THE CENTRAL AND HUDSON BILLS.

The Drawing-room Car bill, and its twin brother, the bill to abolish the penalty for over-charge of fare, which were introduced in the interest of the Central and Hudson River Railroads, are not likely to become laws this session, and if the rise in Central and Hudson stock is based on the supposition that they are to pass, some Wall-street speculators will get caught, unless they sell out soon. It is doubtful whether the introduction of the bills had any other than a stock-jobbing purpose originally. S.

The Supply Bill—Business in Both Houses Last Night—The Signing of Bills.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, April 25.—The Senate spent five hours this afternoon and evening in discussing the Supply bill. The appropriation for the new Capitol was increased from $1,000,000 to $1,300,000. The following new items were added: $6,000 for the soldiers' monument at Gettysburg, $1,000 to the law libraries of the various Judicial Districts, $8,000 for the Hudson River Insane Asylum. The item of $10,000 for Mr. NORTON, Commissioner of the State at the Paris Exposition, which was stricken out in the Assemby, was reinserted. Several other amendments of less importance were made, and the bill passed as amended by a large majority. The Senate will take up the Charity bill to-morrow. The Assembly consumed the evening session in the third reading of bills, which included none of general interest. The Canal Funding bill was signed this evening, and the Governor said he should sign no more bills till Wednesday. This was said on the supposition that the Legislature would adjourn to-morrow, which is now considered doubtful. The State aid people anticipate a veto of their bills to-morrow, though they can learn nothing definite from the Executive Chamber.

The Hatch Free Canal Funding bill was signed by the Governor this evening, being the only bill signed by him today.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE....ALBANY, Monday, April 25.

Mr. MURPHY stated that the Attorney-General had given an opinion that twenty freeholders were required under the new Excise law to sign a petition for a license. This was contrary to the intention of the Legislature, and to obviate all question be asked unanimous consent to introduce a supplemental act declaring that a petition of twenty freeholders is unnecessary.

Mr. WOODIN said that while correcting mistakes it would be well to correct another. The Excise law now provided for the appointment of Excise Commissioners without confirmation by the Aldermen in cities. If the Senator would consent to change this he would make no objection, otherwise he should do so. Objection having been made, the bill could not be introduced.

WIDENING THE CHAMPLAIN CANAL.

On motion of Mr. C. F. NORTON, the adverse vote on the bill providing for the enlargement of the Champlain Canal was reconsidered—19 to 21. In the absence of several Senators the bill was laid aside.

The following bills were passed:

Amending the charter of the American Popular Life Insurance Company; authorizing the Atlantic Savings Bank of New-York to change its location; legalizing the election and appointment of certain municipal officers in Auburn; incorporating the New-York Improvement Company; to improve portions of New-York and Westchester Counties, and to increase the facilities of communication between the same; to open and widen Bank-street in Brooklyn; incorporating the New-York Real Estate Exchange; relative to the Superior Court of Buffalo.

BILLS TO BE RECONSIDERED.

The bill amending the act relative to cruelty to animals in New-York and Brooklyn was lost—12 to 14; and a motion to reconsider was tabled. The bill amending the charter of the Cosmos Life and Trust Company of New-York was also lost—13 to 10; and a motion to reconsider was tabled.

THE PNEUMATIC TUBE RAILROAD.

The New-York Pneumatic Tube Underground Railway bill was lost by a vote of 8 to 18. A motion to reconsider was tabled.

THE BUFFALO ELEVATORS.

After a long debate and much opposition, the bill appropriating $500,000 for the State to erect and lease elevators at Buffalo and Oswego was passed by a vote of 17 to 12.

PASSAGE OF THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

Mr. TWEED reported complete the bill relative to mechanics and laborers employed by the State (known as the Eight-hour law) which was passed by a unanimous vote.

VETOES.

The Governor sent in a veto of the bill incorporating the United States Mutual Benefit Society of New-York. The bill was lost by a unanimous vote. The Governor also sent in a veto of the bill for the relief of the Hopkinton Manufacturing Company. Tabled.

THE CHAMPLAIN CANAL.

The bill for enlargement of the Champlain Canal was amended on motion of C. F. NORTON so as to reduce the appropriation for 1870 from $100,000 to $25,000, and for 1871 from $600,000 to $400,000. The bill then passed.

The Senate then took a recess until 4 P. M., and at the afternoon session, in Committee of the Whole, discussed the Supply bill throughout the session.

EVENING SESSION.

The Supply bill was passed. The bill imposing a tax for the support of the State Government was considered in Committee of the Whole and ordered to a third reading.

The following bills were passed:

Amending the charter of the Brevoort Savings Bank, New-York; closing part of Clove road, Brooklyn; relative to the improvement of Sixth-street, Brooklyn; providing for the completion of the Wallabout improvement; repealing the act for the widening of Main-street, Brooklyn; relative to the improvement of Twelfth-avenue, New-York; to improve the old post road in Westchester County; regulating the size of barrels for packing fruit, vegetables, &c.; to prevent empiricism and elevate the standing of the medical profession; authorizing the Flushing and North Side Railroad Company to receive additional fare in certain cases; providing for the issuing of bonds to open Mamaroneck-avenue, Westchester County; incorporating the New-York Loan and Deposit Company; incorporating the New-York Loan and Guarantee Company; repealing the act to open Platt-street, Brooklyn; authorizing the Rondout and Oswego Railroad Company to increase its rate of fare; extending the time for the completion of the Rondout and Port Jervis Railroad; re-appropriation of the United States Deposit Fund for academies; to incorporate the American Literary Bureau; amending the act relative to the Coney Island Plank-road; incorporating the Nassau Savings Bank of Brooklyn; making provision for the management of State Reformatories; incorporating the New-York Advertising Company; incorporating the Employment and Indemnity Company of New-York.

At 1½ A. M. the Senate took a recess till 9 A. M.

ASSEMBLY.

The following bills were reported:

In relation to opening streets in Brooklyn; to establish a Stock Exchange in New-York; to refund certain taxes illegally levied in Brooklyn; to provide for the completion of the Bedford-avenue improvement in Brooklyn; extending the time for the organization of the American Trust Company in New-York; amending the charter of the United States Insurance Company.

The following bills were passed:

Incorporating the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Auburn; incorporating the Staten Island Bridge Company, with an amendment suggested by the Governor as to the northern terminus; making provisions for binding out orphans by trustees of asylums; confirming the action of the authorities of New-York in the matter of the Gansevoort property; [Mr. FIELDS stated that he believed a similar bill had passed both Houses already, and had the bill laid on the table after its passage;] amending the act for the further improvement of Prospect Park, Brooklyn; authorizing the Common Council of Poughkeepsie to make certain rules for its government, &c.; making an appropriation to the Homeopathic Insane Asylum at Middletown; providing for the more efficient preservation of the public health in the town of New-Utrecht, Kings County; extending the powers of Boards of Supervisors except in the Counties of New-York and Kings; amending the charter of Peekskill; amending the act to improve Franklin-avenue, in Flatbush, Kings County; providing for the settlement of contracts on the Oneida Lake Canal; fixing the compensation of the Stenographer for the Courts of Kings County at $2,000 per annum; authorizing the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of New-York to lease certain lands for hospital purposes; authorizing the City of Brooklyn and Prospect Park Railroad Company to extend its track; amending the Fire Insurance Incorporating act as to increasing capital stock; authorizing the Courts to procure an additional number of petit jurors; providing for rendering town bonds non-negotiable; authorizing the Seamen's Bank, in New-York, to exchange certain lands in that City; making more stringent provisions against fraud in the sale of steam-boat and steam-ship tickets; requiring more specific returns of statistics of the poor to the Secretary of State; re-establishing the Board of Health in Kings County; providing for the introduction of the European system of steam towage on the canals.

BILL RECALLED.

On motion of Mr. ALVORD, the bill to aid the Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburg Railroad was recalled from the Senate, as he found no provision in it for a State as well as local taxation.

CHARITABLE APPROPRIATIONS.

The House went into Committee on the bill making appropriations to charitable institutions. The bill was, after amendment, ordered to a third reading and passed as follows:

To all Orphan Asylums, Homes for the Friendless and other charitable institutions in the State, $150,000, to be divided according to the number of inmates in each; to the Thomas Asylum for Indian children, $3,500; to the Roman Catholic Reformatory of Buffalo, $2,500; to the charity week-day schools, according to the number of scholars in each, $75,000; to the James-street Industrial School of New-York, $3,000; to the Female Academy Sacred Heart of Albany, $3,000; to Smith's College, of Brooklyn, for the education of destitute youth, $5,000; to the Oswego Orphan Asylum, $5,000; to the Brooklyn Catholic Orphan Asylum, $10,000; for the destitute children in care of the Sisters of St. Ursula, East Morrisania, $3,000; to the Hebrew Benevolent Society of Albany, $500; to the Good Shepherd Orphan Asylum of Haverstraw, $2,000; to the Troy Catholic Male Orphan Asylum, $5,000; to the Ontario Orphan Asylum, $1,500; to the New-York Society for the Protection of Destitute Orphan Catholic Children, $50,000; to St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum of Buffalo, $1,000; to the Mariners' Family Industrial School of New-York, $2,500; to the Southern Tier Orphan Home of Elmira, $5,000; to the Sisters of Charity of Newburg, 5,000; to the Home for the Friendless of Auburn, $5,000; to the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum, corner of Houston and Mulberry streets, New-York, $8,000; to the Onondaga County Orphan Asylum, $3,000; to St. Elizabeth Hospital of Utica, $2,500; to the Brooklyn Howard Colored Orphan Asylum, $1,500; to the Institute of Mercy of Greenbush, $3,000; to the Association for the Benefit of Colored Orphans of New-York, $2,000, out of the late Metropolitan Excise Fund, in lieu of the interest provided by law; to the St. Vincent De Paul of Syracuse, $3,000; to the Day Home of Troy, $2,000; to the St. Vincent Asylum of Troy, $1,000; to the Auburn Orphan Asylum, $3,000; to the St. Mary Institute of Rondout, $500; to the Wayside Industrial Home of New-York, $2,000; to the Academy of Christian Brothers of Albany, $5,000; to the Home of the Friendless of Syracuse, $750; to the Brooklyn Orphan Asylum of Cumberland-street, $10,000; to the hospitals of the State according to the number of inmates, except Bellevue and St. Luke's, of New-York, $75,000; to the Women's Medical College Hospital of New-York, $10,000; to the Way Hospital, $5,000; to St. Peter's Hospital of Brooklyn, $5,000; to the St. Mary Widows' and Lying-in Hospital, of Buffalo, $2,500; to St. Peter's Hospital of Albany, $5,000; to the Hospital of St. Francis, of New-York $5 000; to the Sisters of Charity of Port Jervis, $5,000; to different medical hospitals, infirmaries, dispensaries, &c., various sums from $1,000 to $2,500; to complete the Rochester City Hospital, $10,000; to aid in the construction of the Hahnemann Hospital of New-York, $5,000; to the Fifth-street Industrial School of New-York, $3,000; to the Susquehanna Industrial School, $2,500; to the Orphan Asylum corner of Prince and Mott streets, New-York, $3,000.

VETOES.

The Governor, through the hands of his Private Secretary, returned the following bills without his approval:

First—The act relative to the Coroners of Erie County. He regards it as unjust to require the people to vote for Coroners out of their district.

Second—Incorporating the Peabody Mutual Benefit Society of New-York. His objection is that the bill does not state definitely the object of the Society. If it is a life-insurance society it should be incorporated under the general law.

Third—Incorporating the National Mutual Benefit Association of Buffalo. Same objections as to the previous bill.

The objections were sustained, and the bills rejected.

DAMAGES FOR INJURY ON RAILROADS.

The bill providing that persons injured on railroads may recover not to exceed $5,000, above all expenses of doctors' and lawyers' fees, was taken up, and Mr. ALVORD moved to recommit the bill, with instructions to strike out the enacting clause. After debate the motion prevailed by 59 to 27. Mr. HUSTED moved to reconsider the vote, and that the motion lie on the table. Lost—35 to 63. The motion to reconsider was lost. The House then took a recess until 3½ o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate amendments to the bill providing for the enlargement of the Champlain Canal, were announced. Mr. JACOBS moved to non-concur, and for the appointment of a Conference Committee. Carried.

The following bills were passed:

Amending the charter of the Masonic Hall Association, Brooklyn; establishing the boundary lines between Pelham and New-Rochelle; incorporating the Welsh Land and Emigrant Aid Association. The County Courts—the bill Conference Committee's report was agreed to; amending the Life and Health Incorporating act; incorporating the Eighth Ward Savings Bank, New-York; making appropriations to pay the canal debt; approving of the location for the Asylum for the Insane in Western New-York; the Supreme Court Bill—the Conference Committee's report agreed to—the Assembly recedes from its amendment regarding salaries, leaving them at $5,000; reappropriating moneys to pay for new work and extraordinary repairs on the canals.

THE CHAMPLAIN CANAL.

Mr. JACOBS said he found the Senate amendments to the Champlain Canal bill reduce the appropriation; therefore he would move to discharge the Committee of Conference on the subject, and that the Senate amendments be concurred in. Without disposing of the question the House took a recess until 7½ P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The question pending was upon the Senate amendments to the Champlain Enlargement bill, and they were concurred in after speeches in their favor by Messrs. FLAGG, ALVORD and SELKREG.

The following bill were passed:

Incorporating the Master Plumbers' Association of Brooklyn; incorporating the Depositors' Loan Institution of New-York; relative to Little Nassau-street, Brooklyn; incorporating the New-York Eclectic Medical University; incorporating the Long Island Camp-meeting Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church; amending the act vesting in Boards of Supervisors additional powers, and prescribing their jurisdiction; authorizing the Common Council to complete Willoughby-avenue, Brooklyn; incorporating the Brooklyn City Market Company; to improve One Hundred and Thirty-second and other streets in New-York; to provide for enlarging the armory in Rochester; to amend the charter of the City of Rome; to enable the County of Richmond to lay out a Central Park; authorizing the Commissioners of the Land Office to sell certain land connected with Sing Sing Prison; amending the act widening Union-street, Brooklyn; amending the act laying out Atlantic-avenue, New-Lots, Kings County; to refund certain taxes illegally assessed and collected in Brooklyn; to authorize the sale of real estate in actions to recover right of dower; amending the charter of the Central Savings Bank of New-York; incorporating the Clinton Savings Bank of New-York; to widen St. Mark's-place, Brooklyn; amending the charter of the Hope Fire Insurance Company; to facilitate the organization of agricultural and horticultural societies; prohibiting the sale of hay, straw, feed and grain along the New-York docks—lost, 45 to 38, and reconsideration laid on the table; amending the act regulating sewerage in New-York; making the office of District-Attorney a salaried one; consolidating school districts in White Plains, Westchester County; for the relief of persons having leasehold estates in New-York from erroneous taxation; making more stringent regulations relative to the measurement of gas; prohibiting the use of any more bonds for the improvement of Bedford-avenue, Brooklyn; to facilitate the construction of the Clove Branch Railroad; incorporating the Society in Aid of Friendless Women and Children; amending the Code of Procedure.

Adjourned to 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

SAN DOMINGO.

The Annexation Question—Impatience of the People—Cabral Outlawed—The Easter Fetes—Miscellaneous.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SAN DOMINGO CITY, Monday, April 18.

We are anxiously awaiting news from the United States of the result of the annexation question in Congress. The long delay is creating much uneasiness here and many fear that Congress will not act upon the question during the present session. If they do not, it is feared that the people here will react, and in their disappointment will oppose annexation as strongly as they have worked for it, a proceeding which would make BAEZ's position an extremely critical one, and possibly result in his complete overthrow and the placing of LUPERON and CABRAL at the head of affairs, and consequently the total destruction of all business and trade.

THE EASTER FETES.

The Easter fêtes are now occupying the attention of the people, and a general good feeling prevails. Fire-works, floral processions and general Easter rejoicings are the order of the day. President BAEZ and other officials, together with the military, marched yesterday in procession through the streets. No business whatever is doing, nor will be until after the holidays.

CABRAL OUTLAWED.

BAEZ has issued a decree outlawing CABRAL, stating as the reason, that CABRAL is at Polo, at the head of insurgents; that he did interfere with SALNAVE and his Ministers, and women and children, taking them in the Dominican territory, inhumanly butchering some of them, and finally selling SALNAVE to his enemies to be shot, for the sum of $5,000, being an inhuman crime against the laws of the country and the Constitution, and an act of war against a nation with which this country is at peace. The decree is as follows:

ARTICLE 1. Señor JOSE MARIA CABRAL, formerly General of the armies of the Dominican Republic, and now acting as an officer or agent for carrying out the projects of Hayti against the Republic, is by this manifesto declared an outlaw, and any person is authorized to seize and slay him. [The second article commands the executives of the different districts to publish and carry out article 1.]

Given at San Domingo April 9, 1870, in the twenty-seventh year of the independence, seventh of the restoration and third of the regeneration.

B. BAEZ, President.
MANUEL MARIA GAUTIER, Minister of State.
JOSA HUNGRIA, Minister of War.

Ten men who were captured by CABRAL and given up to the Haytians at Las Yayas have escaped and arrived here from Azua in the Dominican war-steamer Monte Christo.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BAEZ has made a proposition to receive all of the old Spanish issue of paper money at a moderate rate. The proposal is gladly accepted by the holders, as they had given up hopes of getting anything for it.

The United States steamer Swatara is here, and the Dictator and Nantasket at Samana. The Tybee takes twelve passengers, among them Mr. J. W. FABENS, one of BAEZ's Commissioners to the United States.

Distribution of Offices Under the New Charter—Petition From the Germans for Representation.

The following resolutions, which were adopted at a recent meeting of the General Committee of the German Central Organization of this City, were yesterday presented to Mayor HALL:

Whereas, By laws of the Legislature of the State of New-York, recently passed, the power was laid into the hands of His Honor A. OAKEY HALL, the, by us elected Mayor of New-York, to appoint, in accordance with the spirit of said laws, good, faithful, honest and capable men as chiefs of the several departments of administration of the City of New-York;

Whereas, The population of the City of New-York consists to a great extent of Germans, who, in course of time, have served this City and country as faithfully and truly as any other element of that aforesaid population;

Whereas, It was believed, and probably intended, by the above-mentioned laws, to make due and fair distribution of said offices, inasmuch as it would serve the now guiding reforming spirit of the leaders of this State;

Whereas, His Honor the Mayor OAKEY HALL, by his appointments for said offices, has shown that he entirely misconprehended the wise intentions of said laws; that he also entirely misconprehended the wishes and the will of a great part of his constituents, in so far as he, knowing that about one-third of the faithful citizens of this City do belong to the German nationality, almost entirely neglected this part of his constituents, and by so doing deeply abused and deprecated them of their rights, especially because, in selecting men for the Boards of Emigration and Charities and Correction, which said Boards, by their own nature, would certainly have required German representatives, the German element has also been entirely ignored;

Whereas, The Germans of the City and County of New-York cannot pass over this abuse without due remonstration, we, the General Committee of the German Central Organization of the City and County of New-York, have been directed to give word to the offended sentiments of the Germans of the City and County of New-York; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Germans of the City and County of New-York declare the aforesaid appointments as highly unfair and unjust; that we firmly believe that it was meant as a demonstration against the German element of this City, which so often has shown its value and faithfulness to this country; that we firmly oppose against these unjust actions, and that we believe his Honor the Mayor has to a great extent neglected his duties toward this part of his constituents.

Resolved, That a copy of these presents shall be officially served by a committee duly appointed for this purpose, to his Honor the Mayor, OAKEY HALL, and that also copies of these resolutions shall be published in the English and German Press.

Capt. Scott Not Murdered—A Coroner's Jury Declares that He was Accidentally Drowned.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner SCHIRMER in the case of THOMAS SCOTT, the Captain of a scow in the East River, near Harlem, who was supposed to have been murdered by CHARLES RICE, now in the State Prison for stealing some clothing belonging to the deceased. The remains of Capt. SCOTT were found on Monday in the River, near Ward's Island, he having been missing since the 4th of March. The evidence presented by the Coroner was to the effect that SCOTT was intoxicated on the night he disappeared, and was last seen near his scow. RICE, the thief, was seen to go on board the next day, and he probably committed the larceny then, which has led to his being suspected of murder. The jury came to the conclusion that SCOTT had accidentally fallen overboard and was drowned, rendering a verdict to that effect. This relieves RICE from all further suspicion, and he will be permitted to serve out his term of imprisonment undisturbed.

Political Temperance Meeting.

The Political Temperance General Committee met last evening in Masonic Hall, Thirteenth-street, near Fourth-avenue. This Committee purports to be composed of ten delegates from each ward, of which JAMES BOYLE, of the Eleventh Ward, is President; JOHN BOYLE, of the Thirteenth Ward, Secretary; FRANCIS MEHAN, of the Seventeenth Ward, Treasurer; JOHN MCGINN, of the Eleventh Ward, Sergeant-at-Arms, and JOHN TOOMB, of the Twelfth Ward, Counsel and Director. Executive, Finance, Naturalization and Correspondence Committees were appointed, each consisting of five members; measures were also taken to organize ward clubs. It is announced as the purpose of the organization to hold a meeting every Monday night until the November elections; and, though they profess to owe allegiance to no party, it is the intention to throw the weight of their influence in favor of the candidates of the Republican Party, provided they are otherwise acceptable, and favorable to the temperance cause.

Arrival of the Nebraska.

The steam-ship Nebraska, from Liverpool April 13, via Queenstown 14th, reached this port early this morning.

THE McFARLAND TRIAL.

Highly Important Testimony of a Medical Expert.

The Causes Which Tend to Produce Insanity.

WHAT IS CONGESTION OF THE BRAIN?

How its Presence is Positively Determined.

Opinion Regarding McFarland's Mental Condition.

The McFarland case entered upon its thirteenth day yesterday. The Court-room was well filled, and the ladies were present in considerable numbers. Among all classes of the spectators the interest felt was as great as on any day since the trial began, for it was generally understood that the defense would bring their part of the case to a close, and that some very important and highly interesting medical testimony would be presented. The Recorder was in his seat promptly at 11 o'clock, looking somewhat better than on Wednesday last, but still far from well. Mr. Davis was absent, being detained by his official duties as Chairman of the Committee on Naturalization of the House of Representatives at Washington. The prosecution was represented solely by Ex-Judge Garvin, but all the counsel for the defense were present.

The first witness called was the night watchman in the City Prison, whose duty it is to keep a close watch over the prisoners confined in the cells of that institution. He testified generally to finding McFarland awake at all times of the night since his incarceration in the Tombs. Sometimes he was reading and at others he was pacing his cell or restlessly tossing in his bed, unable to sleep. The next witness called was the watchman in attendance in the corridor in the day time, but he was not present. The object was to show that McFarland was as restless by day as he was by night, and, indeed, that there was that same state of sleeplessness and mental agony existing now which witnesses have testified existed during the period of his greatest sufferings before the shooting of Richardson.

Then Dr. Reuben A. Vance was put upon the stand as one of the medical experts for the defense. The spectators who have been present daily during this trial have observed a gentleman of somewhat youthful appearance, but possessing intellectual characteristics far beyond his apparent years, who has occupied a seat near the senior counsel for the defense, and listened attentively to every detail of the trial. That he was not a legal associate of the defendant's attorneys was apparent, and it was some days since understood that he was a medical gentleman of high standing in his profession, who would at a proper stage of the case be called upon to give testimony as an expert. Whatever misgivings the friends of McFarland might have had respecting his ability to acquit himself with credit in such an important character were dispelled yesterday when the doctor began his testimony in response to questions propounded by Mr. Gerry. He replied to the interrogations distinctly and without using technical terms, which are so perplexing to jurymen, and of which some physicians are so anxious to deliver themselves. His evidence was given in such an intelligible manner as to be understood by persons of ordinary comprehension, and was listened to with the deepest attention during the hour that he was under direct examination. This rather difficult part of a case of this kind was managed with the utmost skill by Mr. Gerry, who, aware of the great importance of his testimony, drew forth point after point in such a way as to interest every one who listened to him, and impress in the most forcible manner the minds of the jury by enlisting their attention while the learned Professor was relating the story, illustrating, as he proceeded, of the structure of the brain. No dull and tedious details were presented to fall unimpressively upon the minds of the jury, but carefully drawn and colored engravings were shown as he proceeded. He first told of three separate interviews which he held with McFarland in the City Prison on the 8th, 11th and 15th of March last, and of the results of such interviews, discovering no symptoms of disease in the heart and lungs, but unmistakable indications of a disordered brain, attended with a quickened pulse—the latter ranging from 98 to 128 in a minute. The doctor then described the structure of the brain, illustrating as he proceeded, by reference plates which showed a healthy state and a diseased condition of that organ. He then told how physicians determined by examination, with the aid of instruments, the presence of congestion of the brain, and defined the various grades of insanity, which are attended by illusion, delusion and hallucination. He described the use of the ophthalmoscope, which, by reflecting the light upon the back part of the retina in the eye of the patient, enables the physician to determine the presence of congestion of the brain with unerring accuracy. The treatment for such disease was described, and the effect upon the patient if the complaint did not yield to such treatment. The whole class of symptoms indicating congestion of the brain was then applied to the case of McFarland. The examination concluded with a question in which all the material facts, as already given in evidence by the defense, were summed up, and the doctor was asked his opinion of the state of mind of the defendant on the 25th of November, 1869. The answer was, emphatically, that he was insane, and not aware of the enormity of the deed committed at that time.

At the close of the direct examination Judge Garvin held a conference with the Recorder, and the latter announced that the Court would be adjourned until this morning. It was stated that the reason of the adjournment was that the Recorder did not feel able to continue the trial. By morning it is presumed that the Judge will have fully recovered from his indisposition, and meanwhile District-Attorney Garvin will have an opportunity to more fully prepare himself for the cross-examination of Dr. Vance than he was at the close of his testimony yesterday.

Before adjourning Mr. Graham took occasion to deny, in the most emphatic manner, the statement made in some of the Western papers that he had in any way retracted what he had said during the progress of the trial respecting Mrs. Lu. G. Calhoun.

Detailed Report of the Thirteenth Day's Proceedings—Highly Important Medical Testimony—Another Adjournment of the Trial.

JOHN ORR.

This was an elderly man who is employed in the City Prison as night warden, having charge of the corridor in which McFarland is confined. He testified as follows: Is night warden of the City Prison; is always on duty between one and two o'clock A. M. daily; has been in this position for about one year; witness' duty is to pass by the cells of the prisoners every morning between twelve o'clock midnight and two o'clock A. M., and see if everything is all right; was in the habit of passing by McFarland's cell every night since he has been confined in the prison; always found him awake on these occasions; sometimes he would be reading; generally witness saw him in bed; witness opened the prisoner's cell door every night.

Cross-examined—I always carry a lantern when I am visiting the cells; have sometimes found a light burning in McFarland's cell; the prisoners are allowed a light whenever they want it; found a light burning in McFarland's cell at least six or seven times; generally when I would visit him he was reading; he would speak to me when I brought my light into the room; generally I was accompanied, when making my rounds, either by Mr. Devers or by Mr. Cowenhoven; on all occasions I found McFarland in bed; I cannot say positively whether or not he was undressed; know that on every occasion when I called he was actively awake; when I came into his cell he would generally say to me "All right," or "Good morning;" he always complained to me that he could not sleep.

DR. REUBEN A. VANCE.

This is one of the medical gentlemen who are to testify as experts on the question of insanity. He gave his evidence in a clear tone of voice, and, in response to questions by Mr. Gerry, said: I am a physician, graduate of the Bellevue Hospital Medical College; am employed often as the out-door attendant in Bellevue Hospital; hold also a position in the New-York Medical College; attend the Dispensary of the Church of the Holy Trinity, and have other medical appointments; was for eighteen months house-surgeon at the Bellevue Hospital; I have seen the prisoner at the City Prison; remember having visited him on the 8th, 11th and 16th of March last; I saw him in the small room adjoining the Warden's office.

FIRST EXAMINATION OF THE PRISONER.

Q.—How long were you in conference with him on the first-mentioned day? A.—I was in conversation with him not less than three hours.

Q.—What did you speak of during that conversation? A.—I asked him as to his family, his religion, his age, as to where he had traveled, as to how many States he had been in, and questions of like character; I also asked him as to what business or businesses he had been engaged in.

Q.—Did you, on that occasion, make any personal examination of him as to the condition of heart and lungs? A.—I did; I examined him in order to see whether any changes had taken place as to the action of his heart and lungs.

Q.—What was the result of that examination? A.—I found that those organs were perfectly sound.

Q.—Did you examine him with reference to any disease of the brain? A.—I did.

Q.—Did you make any examination with regard to the temperature of his body? A.—I did; I examined that by reference to his hand, his face, his head and his chest.

Q.—As to his sensibility to pain; how about that? A.—I examined him with regard to that.

Q.—You used the proper instruments for that purpose? A.—I did.

Witness continued (explaining the course of examination in this particular)—If we find that the patient does not feel peculiarly sensible between the distances indicated by the instrument, (placed on the surface of the skin,) we say the sensibility is diseased; in this case I found the tactile sensibility to be normal; I looked for indications of paralysis, and found none; I examined particularly the circulation of the eye and the condition of the nerve; I found there was a congestion of the internal structure of the eye and congestion of the optic nerve; when beginning this examination the prisoner's pulse was 102 per minute; at the conclusion of the examination it was 115; this examination lasted three hours.

A SECOND EXAMINATION.

Q.—Did you call again to see him on the 11th? A.—I did.

Q.—How long did your interview with him last then? A.—About half an hour.

Q.—Did he complain of anything then? A.—Yes; he complained of being unable to sleep.

Q.—What was the condition of his pulse at that interview? A.—When the interview began it was 107, and after the examination was concluded, (about twenty-five minutes or half an hour,) it was 128 to the minute.

Q.—Did you notice anything peculiar in the appearance of the prisoner? A.—I did; his face had a haggard look; his eyes were blood-shot; the muscles of his face were constantly twitching.

A THIRD EXAMINATION.

Q.—Did you visit him again on the 15th of March? A.—I did; on that day I was at least one hour with him.

Q.—What did you talk of then? A.—We talked of his health and of his family troubles.

Q.—Did you examine the temperature of his body? A.—I did.

Q.—How? A.—By my hand, which is the usual way; sometimes it is done with the thermometer; I found his bodily temperature to be normal; his muscular power was equal on both sides; I examined, also, the eye, the tongue, and the muscles of the extremities.

Q.—From these examinations what opinion did you form? A.—That there was a congestion of the optic nerve.

Q.—What was the relative condition of the prisoner's pulse when you began and when you ended this examination? A.—When I began it was 98; afterward it went up to 124.

Q.—As to his speech, did you discover any defect in that? A.—I discovered no defect in his speech.

Q.—Did you find anything the matter with the heart and lungs? A.—I discovered no organic disease of either the heart or lungs; there was no difference as to the muscular power on either side of the body; I discovered no paralysis.

Q.—As to the brain? A.—I found that there was too much blood in the brain, congestion of the brain, to some extent; he had, too, a functional disorder of the heart, indicated by the undue frequency of the pulsations of that organ; I thought that this congestion of the brain was attributable to his mental and emotional anxiety.

Q.—From what you saw were you led to believe that what he said as to his condition was true? A.—I was convinced that what he told me as to his inability to sleep was true.

THE VARIOUS PHASES OF INSANITY.

Q.—Doctor, what is insanity. A.—Insanity is a general or partial disease of the brain, which, while it does not in all cases impair consciousness or self-knowledge, prevents a perfect freedom of action.

Q.—Can you determine the presence of insanity from the emotions? A.—We can very often determine the presence of insanity from the emotions.

The witness here was questioned as to the mental formula accompanying insanity, and gave, in substance, these definitions: An allusion is a misinterpretation of any real object in its effect on the brain; if the patient fancies that he sees an object which does not exist, that is an hallucination; a delusion is where the mind forms a false conception; is impressed with an idea of something which has no existence, in fact; any of these conditions of the mind argue the presence of insanity; insanity, in all its forms, does not necessarily abolish consciousness; patients who are insane perform the ordinary functions of nature; freedom of mind (which is absent in an insane condition) is synonymous with freedom of thought; freedom of action is the ability to act in accordance with the thought impressed on the brain.

THE BRAIN AND ITS ORGANIZATION.

The brain is the center of the nervous system; physically speaking, it consists of cells of gray matter which contain substance of white matter; these cells are very numerous, and very minute, and to distinguish them one has to use a microscope; thought is the result of certain chemical changes in the gray matter of the brain.

Q.—There can be no thought without this change being presupposed? A.—No, Sir; there never was a thought without a human brain to think it.

Q.—What is the recollection? A.—The recollection is the action of ideas arising from the evolution of the residua of the brain; thought becomes impaired in proportion as the brain is, from any cause, diseased; there are organic diseases of the brain which are owing to the hardening or the softening of it, or to the formation of tuberculous matter therein owing to inflammation or to other causes; functional diseases do not presuppose any of these causes; they are due to an alteration of the quantity or quality of the blood which supplies it; congestion of the brain is that condition where more blood is attracted to or circulates through the brain than there should be in its normal or proper condition; in health, every thought requires a certain consumption of material intended for brain supply; sleep is a beneficent provision of nature whereby rest and partial inaction are substituted for the usual wear and tear of the brain; if sleep be lost, if a man be unable to sleep, an inordinate quantity of blood is supplied to and circulates through the brain, producing, to a greater or less degree, mental disorder.

HOW MENTAL DISEASE IS DETERMINED.

There are many phenomena attendant on disorders of the brain, whereby physicians are able to determine mental diseases; some of these are great restlessness of manner, twitching of the nerves, suffusion of blood in the face, distension of veins in the neck, &c.; some of the phenomena are discernible, for instance, when a man is in a fit of anger, (the mind not being then in its absolute normal condition;) by using the opthalmiscope we can determine the condition of the brain by the size of the optical vessels, and by the color of the retina of the eye, with greater accuracy than you can determine the condition of the stomach from looking at the tongue. (Witness here produced an opthalmiscope and explained its operation; the same instrument he used in making an examination of the prisoner.) When suffering from congestion of the brain the patient sometimes complains of want of sleep; in this case the symptom certainly indicates the nature of the disease; he will also oftentimes complain of pain in the head; of bad vision—sometimes seeing only half an object, then seeing double, and seeing objects surrounded with balls of fire; he will also hear strange sounds; complain of undue heat or undue cold, the latter indicating partial paralysis; will sometimes lose the power of one side of his body; will have also deafness, or blindness, as the case may be; these sounds and visions are hallucinations or delusions; physicians generally give large doses of morphine in these cases; witness had known instances where three grains of morphine were given in one dose; the usual dose is from one sixth to one-half a grain; this brain disorder, if not arrested, results either in apoplexy, epilepsy, softening of the brain or mania; mania is a disposition to commit violent acts, to do outrageous things; as the congestion is quelled, these symptoms will, of course, disappear; in cases of congestion it is found also that sensibility (to the touch) will be diminished, increased or perverted, in accordance with the peculiar character of the disease; sometimes what we suppose to be productive of pain appears to give them great pleasure, because they will frequently repeat it; witness had known cases where women would run hair-pins through their body; the hearing is generally affected also in a greater or less degree.

Q.—How about the sense of taste? A.—This is not so generally relied on as an indication, because we can tell from the other indications, generally, without bringing it to our aid; the taste, however, in these cases is perverted, (though the appetite is not necessarily diminished,) and the patient will oftentimes entertain the idea that people are about to poison or have poisoned his victuals, simply because they do not taste to him as they usually do; persons suffering from this disease will sometimes undergo an enormous amount of fatigue; this tends to increase the disorder, generally speaking; incoherence of speech is very often a symptom; there will be a ceaseless repetition of the same idea, over and over again, as if the patient had apparently forgotten having mentioned it in a previous instance; and when he writes the writing will often undergo a great change, both as respects composition itself and the style of handwriting; the patient will have, also, bad dreams, and if he sleeps at all that sleep is very much disturbed and broken; sleep in that condition is unrefreshing and cannot be produced except by narcotics when the cause continues.

NINETEEN DAYS WITHOUT SLEEP.

I remember a case narrated, on the authority of Dr. Winslow, where a Chinese was condemned to be deprived of sleep until death ensued; he lived nineteen days, but at the expiration of eight days he asked to be put to death in any conceivable form of torture, even by burning alive, rather than by that mode of death; he lived for nineteen days, and then died.

TROUBLED DREAMS.

Where there is congestion of the brain dreams are almost inevitable; the train of thought present during the day is but damped at night, and in sleep the same thoughts occur, and the patient experiences as much torture as in his waking moments, unless it is allayed by medication.

THE ORGANIC CHANGES IN CONGESTION OF THE BRAIN.

Q.—What organic changes are apparent in an individual who suffers from congestion of the brain? A.—The appearances will vary; sometimes you see a general haggard appearance—sometimes slight paralysis in the eye—paralysis of the face—hanging of one cheek—distortion of the mouth, one corner being depressed and another elevated—the tongue not coming out in a straight line, but projecting to one side, and the person being unable to articulate properly; then there is paralysis of the arm and leg, when they cannot maintain a continued tension; there is also a projection of the eye which it is impossible to assume.

Q.—What is the change in color of the brain, to which you have referred, attributable to? A.—Increase in the amount of blood circulating through the vessels in the back of the eye; any process of decay that alters its appearance might cause degeneration of the optic nerve.

Q.—What change of character is there in those who suffer from congestion of the brain? A.—There is a general change of character; for instance, a moral man may become obscene, a pious man may become very ungodly and a thrifty person may become spendthrift; a feeling of depression and exaltation is also very common, and is inseparable from insanity; memory generally fails and judgment is invariably impaired, and the speech becomes incoherent: besides this, there are illusions, hallucinations and delusions; in the beginning the person simply complains of dark spots in his vision and noises in the ears, then follow hallucinations, and finally, delusions; wherever congestion of the brain exists it is accompanied by these signs if it continues for any length of time.

HEREDITARY INSANITY.

Q.—What is the effect of the existence of insanity in the ancestry? A.—The effect is to predispose the descendant to the same sort of disease and render him more liable to it than if his family were healthy.

Q.—Where insanity is shown to have existed in families, could not a person exhibit nervous diseases without necessarily being insane? A.—Yes, Sir; the mother may be insane, a daughter may be insane, another daughter may suffer from nervous disease, and a third become afflicted with melancholia, which from mental trouble may resolve itself into madness; in the case of collateral relatives, where a cousin becomes insane from no apparent reason, the cause must be traced to his ancestry.

Q.—From your examination of the defendant what conclusion did you arrive at in regard to his temperament. A.—He was a man of nervous terperament and excitable disposition; he appeared to me about fifty years of age.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION ASKED.

Q.—Taking into consideration the prisoner's temperament and age, the belief that his wife had been persuaded to go on the stage as a first step toward throwing him off or throwing off her allegiance to him—the belief that his wife had yielded to the persuasions with that view—the belief that his wife had absconded from him under the persuasions of the deceased and others in his interest, with the understanding that the deceased was to maintain her and keep possession of his children, and prevent his recovering possession of them, assist her in procuring a divorce in another State, and eventually marry her—the belief that deceased and McFarland's wife were determined not only to annul his marital relations, but by their subsequent marriage to annihilate his parental relations also by making the deceased the step-father of his children, both or one of them—the belief that his wife became a party to this programme from the start, owing to the influence of parties advising her to it, as though disinterested, when they were really in the service of the deceased, and helping out his intentions to divorce the defendant from his wife and eventually marry her—the belief that until he recovered his son Percy he would be deprived of both his children, and after the recovery of Percy the apprehension that he would forever lose his youngest boy—the belief that his wife still had an affection for him, and notwithstanding she left him, would have returned to him but for the prevention of the deceased, and the pecuniary countenance and support she received from deceased—the belief that after the recovery of his son Percy the deceased had men watching him [the prisoner)—the belief [that he would loose his son Percy again if he was not constantly employed, when his health did not justify it—his inability to write, as shown by erasures and blots—the belief that his poverty made him powerless in defeating the determination of deceased to appropriate his wife and children—taking into consideration further his intense fondness for his wife—continually recurring to the endearments that had once passed between them and the supposed reciprocation of his attachment to her—his fondness for his youngest son, and his increasing desire to have the possession of that son even though his wife should never again return to him—the feeling of mortification he must have experienced at the deceased supplanting him in the affections of his wife—the suspicion that he had been dishonored by the adultery of his wife and the deceased before and after she left him—the intercepted letter from the deceased to his wife of March 9, 1867—the letter of Mrs. Sinclair of Feb. 21, 1867, and of Mrs. Calhoun of Feb. 22, 1867, written to his wife—the letters of Mrs. Calhoun to his wife of June 24, 1866, Aug. 26, 1866, and Sept. 1, 1866, relative to her taking up the profession of the stage—the letter of Mrs. Calhoun of February (without the day of the month or year)—the opportunity for frequent reference by the defendant to these letters and the feelings and morbidity likely to be thus produced in his mind—his hallucination that the deceased and his wife were locked in each other's arms—the frequent reference to the amount he had to spend in recovering his son Percy, and the poverty he had been left in by it—his wild idea that if he had $30,000 he could upheave the world—his repeated conversations with personal friends on the subject of his domestic troubles, this being the absorbing topic in his mind, on which he invariably enlarged whenever opportunity offered—his inability to sleep—his taking remedies to procure sleep—his loss of appetite—his want of such a home as he had had with his wife and two children with him—his loss of their society or company—his dwelling upon suicide—the unhappiness and valuelessness of his own life—his dreams reproducing his troubles, causing him to start from his bed as if he had, or as though to seize the deceased by the throat—the voice of his absent child crying to him in his sleep—his belief that he saw strange figures and objects about and near him—his feeling an irresistible impulse to kill himself—his trying to fatigue himself by long walks at unseasonable hours of the night into a desire to sleep—his statements as to hearing voices and seeing balls of fire and flashes of light before his eyes—the involuntary working of the muscles of his chin and about his mouth and nose when in a state of great apparent mental excitement—the pupils of his eyes being at times unusually contracted—a wild expression of his eye whenever he alluded to his domestic troubles, and frequently when he did not—his incoherence of language and misuse of words—his inability to converse in a rational way, leaving a subject he was talking upon and going to something else different from it—his introducing his griefs to comparative strangers—his talking to his fingers and muttering to himself—the loss at times of his personal identity—his changing from a pleasant, agreeable literary companion into one tolerated from pity and tenderness on the part of his friends—his desiring people to be with him or to look after him lest he should commit suicide—the unsteadiness of his hands, so as almost to prevent the feeling of his pulse—the nervous motion of his hands when engaged in conversation—the suffused face, frequently changing into paleness and then again into redness—his tendency to press his head with his hands and to pull his hair, and his complaints of pain in the head—"that his brain was on fire"—the unnatural distension and staring of his eyes, as testified by William Marsh—his neglect of his person—the difficulty of pleasing him in what he ordered for his meals—the impossibility of his being calmed by his friends, though spoken to in the most earnest manner by them—his pulse varying from 100 to 130 a minute, when the normul pulse should be from sixty-five to seventy-five—his strong personal physical resemblance to a first cousin, who died from constitutional active insanity, no other cause having been proved for it except feelings occasioned by his loss of his property—the duration of these troubles on him from Feb. 21, 1867, to Nov. 25, 1869—his mind having been proved to be running on his troubles within some thirty minutes of the time of the alleged shooting, being then shown to have been (if the witnesses are believed) in a state of frenzy and absolute distraction in reference to the conduct of the deceased toward him, and the supposed sale of his property in New-Jersey by the deceased and his removal to some distant place with defendant's youngest son, and then the [illegible] sudden appearance of the [illegible]. Taking all these matters into consideration, what, in your judgment, as an expert in diseases [illegible] in connection with all this [illegible] of the prisoner, based upon [illegible] careful examination and inspection of him since Nov. 25, 1869—was the condition of his mind on and throughout Nov. 25, 1869, and particularly at the time of the alleged shooting of the deceased?

THE OPINION OF WITNESS.

Witness—I should unhesitatingly say he was not in his right mind—that he was insane.

Q.—Was he or not insane on that day and at that particular point of time? A.—I should say yes, Sir.

Q.—Under all the circumstances just supposed and to which your attention has been directed, was the prisoner at the bar, in your judgment and according to your belief, sane or insane on the day and at the point of time in question? A.—I should say he was insane.

Q.—Under the same circumstances, was the prisoner at the bar, in your judgment, and according to your belief, at the time of the alleged shooting of the deceased on Nov. 25, 1869, "aware of the nature, character and consequence of the act he was committing?" (Oxford's case, 9 Cur and Payne, 546.) A.—He was not, Sir.

Q.—Under the same circumstances was the prisoner at the Bar, in your judgment and according to your belief, at the time of the alleged shooting of the deceased on Nov. 25, 1869, "in such a state of mind as to know that the deed was unlawfully and morally wrong?" (Willis vs. People, 32 N. Y. R. 719, per Denio, C. J.) A.—I don't believe he was.

Q.—Under the same circumstances was the prisoner at the bar, in your judgment and according to your belief, at the time of the alleged shooting of the deceased on Nov. 25, 1869, "in consequence of the infirmity of disease incapable of distinguishing between good and evil, and of forming a judgment upon the consequences of the act which he was then about to commit?" (Hadfield's Case, 27 Howell's State Trials, 1,286.) A.—He was certainly incapable.

This concluded the direct examination of Dr. Vance. District-Attorney Garvin then held a brief consultation with the Recorder, who announced that the Court would be adjourned until this morning. Previous to the formal adjournment, Mr. Graham rose and said:

CONTRADICTING A NEWSPAPER REPORT.

If your Honor please, I don't often contradict anything in the newspapers, but the papers have introduced an article, published in a Western paper, which judicious friends of mine think I should contradict. I can only contradict this through the Court, as the representatives of all the newspapers are present. It has been stated I went to the District-Attorney and disavowed the course of the defense in connection with Mrs. Calhoun. I wish to say distinctly that neither to the District-Attorney nor with any other human being had I a conversation on the subject, nor do I mean to have one.

District-Attorney Garvin—The gentleman has never spoken to me on the subject.

Mr. Graham—And I would not think of doing it for a moment.

The Court then adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Ohio Democratic State Convention is to be held in Columbus on Wednesday, June 1.

The First District of Ohio pays an income tax of about $280,000, which is fully equal to that paid last year.

A citizen of Frankfort, Ky., felt himself under the necessity to postpone his wedding because his tailor cut his pants too short.

The New-Orleans Police Board, on Wednesday, dismissed the entire detective Police force of that city.

There is no law in Kentucky providing a penalty for committing rape upon a colored woman, the Democratic Legislature of 1869 having repealed the law making it a crime.

A Massachusetts paper regrets that the crowded state of its columns will not permit it to publish a furnished sketch of the life of a certain gentleman, but promises to preserve it as material for an obituary notice.

The Republicans of Georgia are proposing to organize young men's clubs in every county in the State. A meeting to make preliminary arrangements is to be held in Atlanta to-morrow.

The berry and fruit crops in Southern Illinois were not much injured by the late cold weather, and late accounts from Kentucky say that the reports of the damage done in that State were exaggerated.

A gay old married gentleman in Erie, Penn., seventy years of age, ran away with his neighbor's wife last week, but deserted her before they reached Cleveland, taking with him all the money the woman had appropriated from the large wealth of her lawful husband.

Mrs. ELIZA FARRAR, widow of the late Prof. JOHN FARRAR, of Harvard College, died on Friday last, at Springfield, Mass., of which city she has been a resident for several years. In 1866 she published an interesting volume of Recollections of Seventy Years, which she dedicated to the memory of her husband. They had been often repeated to him during a long sickness that terminated in his decease in 1853.

The New-Orleans Commercial Bulletin has discovered that the liberation of the Southern slaves has very greatly added to the per capita coffee-consuming capacity of the South. While in servitude the negroes, it says, lived lazy and indolent lives, but in their new freedom, with its responsibilities, they have realized the want of such an energizing and thought-sustaining agent as coffee.

The Mobile Register, which insists upon the organization in Alabama of a white man's party, denouncing any other policy as in the last degree baneful and dangerous, says: "Whoever advises a qualified platform, lowers the true flag of redemption and liberty, and dilutes his white creed in the shape of tickling the Radical palate, rejoices our enemies, because he helps to crush out all virtue, faith, hope and pluck in a white race already sufficiently demoralized by the surging tide of adversity and suffering."

In view of the numerous subsidizing schemes before Congress, the Indianapolis Journal suggests that a company be subsidized, which shall undertake, on behalf of the American people, and for the glory of this country alone, to discover the pot of money at the point where the rainbow rests upon the ground, Congress to grant the Company about ten or twenty million acres of land, accompanied with a guarantee of the principal and interest of five millions of dollars of the Company's bonds, secured by a first mortgage on the money-pot—to be foreclosed when found.

THE CUSTOM-HOUSE.

The Cartage Investigation—The System—Facts and Figures—Official Changes in the Collector's Department.

The investigation now in progress in this City under the special agents of the Treasury Department, Messrs. EVANS and ROBINSON, in reference to the new carting system and other matters pertaining to the Custom-house, was continued yesterday. It will probably be concluded today. The agents yesterday visited Castle Garden, the Cartage Bureau and the Public Stores. In reference to the particular object of their visit they are rather reticent, but it is understood that one of the main points to be determined is, as to whether the new carting system is in reality cheaper and more self-sustaining than the old. In reference to this matter, the TIMES has taken some pains to ascertain the facts in the case, and the following figures will be found useful for reference:

THE CARTING SYSTEM.

The present carting system was established about the middle of February, and, taking the business transacted during the months of March, 1869 and 1870, and comparing the two, the result will show the advantages claimed for the new order of things. In March, 1869, the number of packages received at the Public Stores was 15,076, and the cost of cartage $7,941 31. For the month of March of the current year the packages received numbered 16,346, and the amount paid for cartage was $6,725 52. Thus, although 1,270 more packages were received, the amount paid out for cartage by the Government was some $1,200 less, and for an equal number of packages the saving would have been $2,215 79. Another advantage claimed by the advocates of the new system is that, in addition to its expediting business, greater security is gained in the transmission of goods. The eight carmen employed at the Public Stores are under bonds for the safe delivery of goods in the sum of $50,000 each, and if a package is lost or damaged while in their charge, the loss so accruing is immediately settled for.

THE IMPORTING BUSINESS.

The business at the Public Stores is largely on the increase, and the receipts during the present month of packages thus far, are greater than for any corresponding period during the last three years. Up to yesterday, 15,378 packages had been received. If the same average is continued until the close of the month, the number will amount to about 19,000, and April, 1870, will be the heaviest month ever known at the Public Stores in the importing business of the City. Since Jan. 1, the total number of packages received at the Stores has been 51,585. During the first four months of 1869 the number received was [illegible]. This shows, although the month of April is not yet completed, an excess of 12,[illegible] packages for the [illegible]. The cost of carting these goods for [illegible] was [illegible], and for 18[illegible] $[illegible] 37, which, [illegible] a comparison of figures, [illegible] increase in the [illegible] and twenty-[illegible] per cent. [illegible] the cost of transporting goods from point to point. Various changes have been suggested, which if carried out and perfected will probably show a larger percentage in favor of the Government.

CUSTOM-HOUSE APPOINTMENTS.

The following changes have taken place in the Collector's Department since April 14: Inspectors—At $4 per day—J. R. McNaughton, vice J. C. L. Hamilton; F. S. Means, vice C. L. Reynolds; J. S. Bangs, vice R. H. Fuller. Special Inspectors—At $4 per day—J. H. Platt, A. F. Adams, S. T. Bulkley. Night Inspectors—At $3 per day—James Webb, vice H. Vail; B. S. Steen, vice Wm. Hussey.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

Superintendent Jourdan Unmasks the Boy Bennett—How He Was Not Drugged and Robbed.

The youth FREDERICK M. BENNETT, who attempted to explain his absence from home with $350, which he had been sent to deposit in bank, by a romantic story of capture and drugging by thieves, unfortunately for himself attracted the attention of Superintendent JOURDAN and Capt. KELSO, whose detective acumen being brought to bear upon the case, soon persuaded BENNETT and his friends of the utter falsity of the story he had concocted. It now appears that the boy was the only desperado in the affair, and wine and women of his own choosing the only stupefying agents of which he was the victim.

Yesterday BENNETT was before Superintendent JOURDAN, and was compelled to make a statement which was taken down in writing, from which it appears that he resides in Pine-street, Bergen City, and is employed as a collector for J. M. FISKE & Co., No. 18 South-street, where he has been engaged since June last. On the 14th inst. he was given a check for $350, payable to bearer, to deposit in the American Exchange National Bank, corner of Broadway and Cedar-street; but instead of doing so, he drew the money, and that night, after buying an overcoat and hat, went to Boston by the Fall River route. He was a guest while there of the Tremont House, and leaving there Sunday night, came back to New-York and immediately left for Chicago, arriving there last Tuesday night, and on Thursday started for New-York, and arrived here on Friday night. While in Boston, at the Tremont House, he wrote the letter which has been published describing his detention by thieves, and posted it himself at the Thirtieth-street depot in a lamp-box. After his return from Chicago he states he met a man who accosted him with an invitation to smoke, and with whom he visited a house of ill-repute in Greene-street, and accompanied a girl to a room. After this he remembers nothing more until he found himself lying in Washington-square Saturday night, and started for home, where he told his story. Superintendent JOURDAN, asking the direct question whether there was any truth in the letter above referred to, he answered with a plump negative. He claimed, however, that he had $245 when he returned from Chicago, and of this amount all but $60, which he had in his stocking, was taken from him in the Greene-street house. It also appears that he claimed to have entered the house of LAURA BARMORE, No. 133 Greene-street, and to have been the companion of a girl known as ANNA KELLY, who, however, stated she never saw BENNETT until he went to the house yesterday, and could not have been with him Friday night, as she was then in Newark. FRANK CARROLL, the bar-keeper, corroborated her testimony as to her absence, and also as to the fact that BENNETT was not in the house on Friday night.

Superintendent JOURDAN having carefully considered this story, concluded that BENNETT was the only criminal in the case, and sent him before Justice DOWLING, at the Tombs, together with LAURA BARMORE and ANNA KELLY. The last were discharged, and the boy was remanded to Police Head-quarters to await an examination upon a charge of larceny.

THE ARCADE RAILROAD.

Full Text of the Bill in the Legislature—Extraordinary Powers Granted—Broadway to be Partially Closed for Five Years.

The following is the full text of the extraordinary Arcade bill, passed to its third reading in the Legislature—almost a law:

AN ACT to incorporate the New-York Arcade Railway Company, and to provide for the construction of a sub-surface railway in the City of New-York.

The People of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Melville C. Smith, Origen Vanderbergh, N. B. La Bau, Edward M. Clymer, John A. Griswold, Sidney W. Hopkins, W. C. Church, R. R. Hazard, Jr., Benjamin F. Dunning, Samuel O. Bigelow, Daniel D. Badger, George H. Bronson, Philip Caswell, Jr., Richard D. McGraw, Samuel Barton, James H. Ingersoll, Frank Work, Augustus Schell, John H. Fry, C. Francis Bates, Henry W. Perkins, James Crawford, Henry Clews, Nath'l Cheeney, Martin E. Green, Austin Myers, John P. Moore, Homer A. Nelson, Sam'l F. Barger, John P. Nasro, John C. Robinson, William H. Rix, Edward O. Eaton, Jeremiah Eighmie, Gilbert Comstock, Joseph G. Jennings, Jacob S. Freer, George W. Carpenter, D. P. Dey, John H. Sanborn, William Turnbull, Luke S. Putnam, John O'Donnell, George D. Lord, A. Ferris Smith, D. Ashley Dickinson, Harlow M. Wilcox, Theo. P. Austin, Jas. L. Miller, C. Sidney Brown, Rodney M. Whipple, Chas. H. Horton, Michael Nolan, Cornelius S. Groat, Hubbard L. Cummings, Theodore M. Pomeroy, Philo Remington, Norman W. Kingsley, Henry G. Coggeshall, their assigns and successors, are hereby created a body corporate, by the name of "The New-York Arcade Railway Company," and by that name shall have perpetual succession, and shall have and enjoy all the privileges, rights, franchises and immunities incident to any corporation created, or which may or might be created, under an act entitled "An act to authorize the formation of railroad corporations and to regulate the same," passed April 2, 1850, and the several acts amending the same, and shall be subject to all duties, obligations and liabilities imposed by said act, and the several acts amendatory thereof, except in so far as any of the provisions of the said acts shall be inconsistent, or in any way in conflict with any of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. The capital stock of said Company shall be $10,000,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $100 each, with power to said Company to increase the amount of said capital in a further amount, of not exceeding $15,000,000, but such increase shall only be made in the manner prescribed for increasing the capital stock of railroad corporations, by virtue of chapter 140 of the laws of 1850, being an act entitled "An act to authorize the formation of railroad corporations, and to regulate the same."

SEC. 3. The business affairs and property of said Company shall be managed by a board of thirteen directors, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum.

SEC. 4. The directors shall hold their office for one year, and until others are elected and qualified in their stead.

SEC. 5. Said Board of Directors shall be elected by the persons named as corporators in the first section of this bill. Such election shall be held in the City of New-York within ninety days after the passage of this act, and the ten persons, or a majority thereof, first named in the first section of this act shall constitute a Committee to fix the time and place for such election, and shall notify said corporators thereof by depositing in the Post-office, twenty days previous thereto, a notice properly directed and addressed to each of them, post-paid, at his usual place of residence, so far as the same may be known or can be reasonably ascertained; also by publishing notice of the same for at least two weeks in two of the principal daily newspapers in said City. At such election the said Committee shall act as inspectors, and the thirteen persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected directors of said Company. After said first election the directors shall be elected annually by the stockholders of said Company in person or by proxy. Each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote for each share of stock held by him. In all elections to be held under this act, part 1, chapter 18, title 2, article 2 of the Revised Statutes, entitled "Regulations concerning the election of directors of moneyed corporations," shall apply and be observed.

SEC. 6. Said Company are hereby authorized and empowered to locate, construct, maintain and operate, as in this act provided, an arcade or sub-surface railway, for the transportation of passengers and property by steam, or other motive power, under and along certain streets, avenues and squares in the City of New-York, commencing, at a point in or near the Battery, thence running up Broadway to Fourteenth-street; thence through Union-square to Seventeenth-street; thence up Broadway to its junction with Eighth-avenue, and thence to a junction with the Hudson River Railroad, with a branch from Union-square up Fourth-avenue to the Harlem River, together with such stations, stairways and platforms, entrances and approaches adjacent thereto, switches and turn-outs for the proper working and accommodation of said railway as may be necessary. Said Company is also authorized and empowered to extend the tracks of their said railway, in open excavations or on the surface, as the grade may require, from the point of commencement before mentioned, at the southern extremity of Broadway, along the easterly side of and in the Battery, to a place on said Battery near the South Ferry, and to make on the route aforesaid the necessary connections, turnouts, switches and other conveniences for the working of said railway, and may make connections with any steam or horse railroads, in such manner as may be deemed best by said corporation. Said Company shall have power to enter upon any street crossing the route of said railway, subject to the same regulations and powers in this act contained as to the routes specified for said railway, and excavate such cross street and appropriate the same to a distance not exceeding 100 feet for the purpose of depots, storehouses, light, ventilation or otherwise, constructing the surface or roadway over said excavations substantially in the same manner as over the main line of said railway.

SEC. 7. Said railway hereby authorized may be constructed on the plan substantially of the "Improved Arcade Railroad," by excavating the streets to a sufficient depth and width through which the railway is located, and laying down therein four or more tracks, with suitable sidewalks along each side of said railway, as hereinafter prescribed; the upper or surface streets and sidewalks to rest upon iron girders or beams, supported by iron tubular columns or masonry, or both, and the surface of the streets, avenues and squares being restored substantially as they were before the building of said railway, said lower sidewalks not to be excavated unless with the consent in writing of a majority of the property-owners owning a majority of the taxable property thereon, as appears by the last assessment roll, along the entire line of said railway, and no excavation of the sidewalk in front of Trinity Church shall be made without the consent of its Vestry, nor shall said Company remove any vault in front of any building and appropriate the space occupied by the same without having first obtained the written consent of a majority of the owners of lots fronting on the said railway, except such portions as extend beyond the curb-stone; but nothing in this section shall prevent said Company from removing any vault, after having obtained the consent of the owner or owners thereof, but said Company shall have the right to make the outer wall of said vaults conform to the general plan of said railway, making said wall or iron columns on the line of the curb-stone a support of the superstructure, and providing for light and ventilation. Between the upper sidewalks and the buildings along said surface [illegible] the sidewalks are authorized to [illegible], and along the exterior [illegible] described, an open space, not to exceed six [illegible] may be left for light and ventilation [illegible] sidewalks being connected by [illegible] and convenient points. There shall be no excavation or occupancy of the cross streets if the said arcade plan of construction as above described is not adopted with the consent of the property-owners as aforesaid. If not so adopted said Company may inclose its railway tracks in a subway or subways beneath the carriage-way, and may use masonry or other suitable materials for constructing such inclosures, and in the latter case there shall be no openings from said subway or subways to the surface of the street or sidewalks. The engines used to propel the cars shall be made on the most approved plan, so as to prevent the emission of smoke or sparks.

SEC. 8. Said Company shall have the right to acquire the title to and hold such real estate or interest therein as may be necessary to enable them to construct, maintain and operate said railway, and to construct and maintain proper platforms, stairways, stations, depots and buildings or other property, at such points along said routes as may be most convenient and suitable for the ingress and egress of passengers and freight, and requisite for the operation of said railway, and for proper communication between said railway platforms, stairways, stations, depots and buildings. In case said company cannot agree with the owner or owners of real estate or any interest therein for the purchase or use thereof, or in case such owner or owners are infants, or of unsound mind, or cannot, after due diligence, be found within the State of New-York, they may acquire the title to the same in the manner specified in the act entitled, "An act to authorize the formation of railroad companies, and to regulate the same," passed April 2, 1850, and the several acts amending the same. But, whenever there shall be taken for the said railway, as herein authorized, and for turnouts, platforms or stations, any public grounds, parks or places, no compensation shall be demanded or awarded for the same; but in all cases, the use of the streets, avenues, squares or grounds and public places, and the right of way under and through the same, for the purposes of a sub-surface railway, as herein authorized, shall be considered and is hereby declared to be a public use, consistent with the uses for which the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of said City hold said streets, avenues and public places. But no portion of any public grounds, parks or places so taken shall be more than 500 feet in length nor more than 100 feet in width, and the said Company may make the necessary deflections of their lines for the purpose of using the same for stations.

SEC. 9. Whenever the construction of said railway shall interfere with the water mains or pipes, or gas-pipes, or with the public or private sewers, rendering it necessary to make any changes in the same, such changes, additions and alterations shall be made under the direction and supervision of the Commissioners hereinafter named, at the proper cost and charges of the said Company; and, for such purpose, the Company may use streets running parallel with their railway, and streets leading from the line of said railway to and across parallel streets.

SEC. 10. In all the operations of the Company, in either constructing or using their railways, the Company shall not unreasonably stop the free and accustomed use of water, gas and sewerage, but shall, at all times, do and perform such work, and use such means as the Commissioners hereafter named may, from time to time, direct for the purpose of preserving such usual and accustomed use; all expenses for changing sewers, water-pipes or gas-mains shall be borne exclusively by the corporation hereby created.

SEC. 11. For the purpose of constructing and operating said railway, the Company may enter upon and use any of the streets, avenues, squares and public places that may be necessary for the purposes of this act; but shall, after the completion of their works, restore the same substantially to their former condition; and, in constructing its said road, shall so manage the same as not to interrupt the travel beyond a reasonable time on streets other than Broadway, through which the said railway is to be made, nor on the streets crossing the line of the same; and the Commissioner of Public Works of said City shall have the power to compel the said Company to erect temporary bridges for the accommodation of the travel where the work of construction is being carried on; and south of Fourteenth-street to compel the execution of the work in such manner as not to interfere with the surface of Broadway except under such conditions and regulations as the said Commissioner may prescribe, the said Company shall at its own cost and expense make the foundation of each and every building, adjoining or near such excavation, firm and secure; but the Company may carry on the construction of their railway in as many places as said Commissioners may deem advisable; and the materials to be removed and received shall, as far as practicable, be taken and received from opening in the intersecting streets; but said Company shall not enter upon or appropriate any portion of the surface area of the Battery, until after the Commissioners hereinafter named shall have, in writing, designated, limited and defined, by metes and bounds, that portion of the surface area of said Battery to be appropriated to the use of the Company.

SEC. 12. There shall be three Commissioners, of whom one shall be appointed by and continued during the pleasure of the Governor, one by the Mayor of the City of New-York, and one by the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of New-York, who shall be a Board of Commissioners, and who shall perform all the duties imposed upon them by this act, and who shall receive from said Company compensation at the rate of $10 for each day of such official service rendered under and in pursuance of this act. A majority of said Commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 13. Said Company shall make just compensation under provisions of existing laws authorizing the formation of railroad companies, to the owner or owners of any wall, building, structure, or lands, or other property along the route of said railway, for any damage which they, or either of them, shall sustain, by reason of any direct injury caused thereto by the construction of said railway. But, in proceedings to ascertain the value of the property taken and the injury or damages sustained, the question of benefit shall be considered; and when it shall appear that the construction of the said road will enhance the value of the property of the person or party claiming damages to an amount greater than the amount of the injury sustained, then, and in that case, the claimants shall not be entitled to recover more than nominal damages; and in case the benefits are less than the injury, the claimants shall only be entitled to recover the excess of such damage or injury. The said Company is hereby required to re-lay the fifty-four-inch tube of "The Beach Pneumatic Transit Company," authorized by law, so far as the same is now constructed below its said railway, and to make such compensation for damages, as and in the same manner as is provided for other cases in the first part of this section.

SEC. 14. The Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the Corporation of the City of New-York and all other companies, are hereby prohibited from giving any permission to any other person or corporation to do any acts or things hereby authorized, or to hinder, delay or embarrass the construction or operation of said railway. And it is hereby made the duty of said Mayor, Common Council and other officers of said corporation, and each of them, to do such acts within their respective departments as may be officially required of them, and needful under this act, to promote the construction and protect the operations of said railway.

SEC. 15. The said Company shall have one year and six months, from the date of the passage of this act, in which to commence the construction of said railway, and five years thereafter in which to complete the same, delays by injunctions or other legal proceedings against said corporation excepted; but no omission to construct any portion shall work a forfeiture of their franchise in respect to any section of said railway which may have been commenced or completed. And all applications for injunctions in any matter relating to said railway, shall be made only to the Supreme Court of the First Judicial District of this State and not elsewhere, and shall be made only at a special term of said Court, at the Court-house in said City, upon eight days' notice to said company or attorney.

SEC. 16. The directors are required to open books for subscription to the stock of said corporation, and shall give at least one week's notice in two or more of the New-York daily newspapers of the place or places where said books will be opened, that an opportunity may be given to those who desire to subscribe for said stock, and the said books shall be kept open for at least thirty days; and in the event of a larger amount being subscribed than the capital stock of said Company, then such subscribers shall be entitled to a pro rata number of such shares of said stock, as near as may be, and in proportion to the amount so subscribed; but such subscribers shall, at the time of subscribing, pay to the Treasurer of said Company ten per cent. of the par value of each share so subscribed.

SEC. 17. The corporation hereby created shall not fix the rate of fare for passengers for the entire length of its said railway at more than fifteen cents for each passenger by express or through trains, and not more than ten cents for each way passenger traveling by slow or way trains; said rate to include Government tax.

SEC. 18. This act is hereby declared to be a public act, and the use of the lands and premises by the Company, to be taken and used, is hereby declared to be a public use. Said Company may consolidate its franchises and railway with any other railway corporation or company authorized to construct and operate a line of conveyance underground, or beneath the surface of the streets of the City of New-York.

SEC. 19. But no ground shall be disturbed under this act, except below Wall-street, until the full amount of $10,000,000 shall have been in good faith subscribed, and twenty per cent. thereon actually paid in.

SEC. 20. This act shall take effect immediately.

Important Notice to Bill-Posters.

The Mayor yesterday issued the following notice to bill-posters:

It is the intention of the Mayor to enforce rigidly the ordinance against the posting of hand-bills of all kinds and descriptions upon sidewalks and curbstones. This notice is sent to you that you may be put upon your guard, and issue the proper notices to your customers and employers. An order will be issued to the Police to arrest bill-posters in the act of offending. This will not apply to the streets fronting upon the rivers. Special exceptions may be made concerning announcements of entire public interest, and permits without charge in such cases may be obtained on application at the Permit Bureau of the Mayor's Office.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Woodruff.

COLLISION NEAR NANTUCKET SHOALS—SCHOONER CROSSING COURSE OF STEAMER.

John Low, Jr., vs. The Steam-ship Western Metropolis.—This was a libel to recover the damages sustained by the libelant by the sinking of the schooner Triumph, of which he was owner, laden with a cargo of fish, by reason of a collision with the above steam-ship at a place easterly from the Cross Rip Light, near Nantucket Shoals, at about 4 o'clock in the morning of March 17, 1864. The schooner was on her voyage from Gloucester, Mass., to New-York. The wind was north-west by west, and after beating out her port tack the schooner had tacked to the south-west, and on that starboard tack close-hauled, she was seen by the lookout on the steamer, then on her passage from New-York to Boston, on a course about east. She was immediately reported to the pilot, and seen by him and the men at the wheel, dead ahead, or a little on the steamer's port bow. The pilot of the steamer then ordered the helm to be ported, and it was put hard-aport, when, seeing the danger of collision, he ordered the engine to be slowed, stopped and backed, which was done, but the headway of the steamer was so great that she struck the schooner on her starboard side, by which the schooner and her cargo, with two of her seamen, were wholly lost.

The District Court gave a decree for the libelant, and the claimant appealed.

Held by the Court.—That all the evidence establishes very satisfactorily that if the steamer had kept her proper course she would have passed to the windward of the schooner at a perfectly safe distance astern of her. That although there is much discrepancy as to the state of the atmosphere, the distance at which a sailing vessel could be seen, and as to whether the schooner had a light burning in her rigging, the testimony of the pilot himself shows that he, in fact, saw the schooner in season to adopt the proper maneuver had he known whether any change of course was necessary. That he gave the order to port in entire ignorance of the course of the schooner. That this grand mistake swung the steamer around to starboard so as to place her in pursuit of the schooner, or to bring her on a line converging to the schooner's course and meeting it precisely at the place of collision. That the schooner was close-hauled on her starboard tackle, and it was her duty to keep her course, as she did. That if the night was either so dark or so foggy that by slowing, stopping and backing as soon as the schooner was discovered, the collision could not be avoided, then the steamer was running at too great speed. That porting the helm, the course of the schooner not being known, was a palpable fault; if the helm of the steamer had been kept steady, an observation of less than a minute would have shown that the course of the schooner was across the course of the steamer, and that if any change was necessary or prudent, it was to starboard the helm. That whatever view be taken of the aspects of the case, the steamer was wholly and solely in fault.

Decree affirmed with costs.

For libelant, Benedict & Benedict; for claimant, Mr. Evarts, and Beebe, Donohue & Cooke.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—EASTERN DISTRICT.

The Union Ferry Company vs. The Steam-ship Favorita, of the Pacific Steam-ship Company.—This case was referred to Commissioner JONES for an assessment of damages, and he has made a report that the libelant's damages exceed those of the defendant by $3,604 40, and holds that the libelants are entitled to recover $1,802 22. The suit arose out of a collision that took place some five years ago between the ferry-boat Manhasset and the Favorita.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—APRIL 25.

Before Judge Freedman and a Jury.

A WIFE'S SEPARATE PROPERTY.

King vs. O'Brien.—The Great American Tea Company obtained a judgment against the husband of plaintiff to the amount of about $600, and the Sheriff levied on a small stock and furniture in Canal-street claimed as the separate property of Mrs. King, but which the defendant claimed was the property of her husband. The jury found a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $950.

COMMON PLEAS—TRIAL TERM—PART I.

Before Judge Van Brunt.

REFORMATION OF LEASE.

O'Donnell et al. vs. Harmon et al.—This was an action in equity to reform a lease according to what was claimed by plaintiffs to have been the actual agreement between the parties, they alleging that the provision in the lease limiting them to exercise their election to purchase, within three years, was made without their assent. There was a conflict of testimony on this point, which the Court decided in favor of defendants.

Mr. Hurley for plaintiffs; Luther R. Marsh for defendants.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Bedford.

The case of John O'Toole, charged with obtaining money by false representations, was resumed yesterday. The complainant, Thomas Holmes, testified that the accused swindled him out of $115 due him for services as a seaman, by means of a power of attorney which was obtained from him by means of false statements. He was convicted, and then remanded to await trial on a new indictment.

A young German named Sigmund Friedman, for having forged the signature of Hallgarten & Co. to two checks on the National Park Bank, and to having obtained $28 on the checks from Ferdinand Mayer, of No. 129 Spring-street, by representing them as genuine, was sent to State Prison for two years.

James Stukley pleaded guilty of having broken into the grocery-store of Christian Revines, at No. 539 Broome-street, with intent to steal, and was sent to State Prison for four years.

Isaac Henderson, jointly indicted with John Fountain, a colored burglar, who was sent to State Prison for ten years, for having broken into the apartments of Diedrich Siedenburg, in Thompson-street, was subsequently discharged on suspended judgment.

The Court then adjourned until this morning.

YORKVILLE POLICE COURT.

Before Justice Coulter.

John Young was charged with swindling Jas. Alger, of No. 642 Eighth-avenue, and Thomas Hay, of No. 742 Eighth-avenue, out of $4 each, yesterday. The manner in which the money was obtained makes the case interesting, and shows that the accused had reduced his swindling to a system. He went into the store of the first-named gentleman, and producing a $10 note asked to have two fives for it. He got the change as requested, but slipping one of the $5 notes to an associate and getting a $1 note from him, he represented that he had only got $6. Mr. Alger thinking he might have made a mistake, gave him $4 more. However, he watched Young, and observing him go into all the stores along the street, his associate accompanying him, his suspicions were aroused. He informed Officer Keating, of the Twenty-second Precinct, of the circumstances, and he at once arrested him. Both the above-named gentlemen made complaints against him, and he was committed to answer.

MONDAY, April 25—P. M.

The sales of Gold are comparatively steady today, 113¼@⅜@¾@⅛ ₱ cent., and the Public Funds are advanced ⅛@¼ ₱ cent. on the latest transactions of Saturday. It is no matter of surprise that the Funds should approach more closely the price of Gold. The Treasury is rich in Gold and growing rich in Currency, and there is no reasonable question that the Secretary of the Treasury will sensibly increase his purchases of United States 5-20s in May, and in a considerable measure increase his sales of Gold through the same month. We believe it will be the policy of the Administration, for several months to come, to utilize a large share of the present enormous and useless Gold balances in the Treasury by conversion into United States 5-20s, saving not only 6 ₱ cent. per annum interest, but realizing the difference in the exchange, now amounting to about 5 ₱ cent. We make no prediction for the next month as to the rise or fall in Gold, but have reason to look for a much closer approximation than at present of the price of 5-20s to the price of Gold, and to large purchases of 5-20s before the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, for Treasury account. This calculation is outside the question of the Funding bill before Congress, which if determined at all this session of Congress will take the simplest and least disturbing form, but it is based upon the point of practical economy in reducing the Interest-bearing Funded Debt by the vigorous application of the Gold and Currency balances in the Treasury to this object. The total of United States 5-20s purchased since the present Administration came into office fourteen months ago is now over $110,000,000. By the 30th of June the amount should and we believe will be increased to $150,000,000.

The Foreign Exchanges are pretty firm at the close of the day on the basis of 109⅛ ₱ cent. for 60 days London, 109⅝ ₱ cent. short sight. The rates through the day were the same as on Saturday with nearly all the leading Bankers. They were ready to draw at these figures, but not inclined to yield more than a very slight brokerage on large sums. The prepayment of the May coupons, commenced this morning, adds somewhat to the demand for Exchange.

Money is in very free offering at 5@6 ₱ cent. on call loan, to the Brokers, and there is an inquiry for prime Merchant paper at 6@7 ₱ cent.

Should the Treasury in the next two months turn $35,000,000 or $40,000,000 of its Gold and Currency balances into U. S. 20s, which, as intimated above, we believe to be highly probable, it will add largely to the prevailing ease in Money, besides furnishing a correspondent amount of capital, now idle in the shape of Gold in the Treasury, for employment on the Stock Exchange, and in the adjustment of the Foreign Exchanges. Should the latter seem to require Gold for shipment through May, June, and July, the sales and Gold Interest payments from the Treasury will be both timely and entirely convenient.

On the Stock Exchange the transactions of the day have been by far the largest of the Spring season. Aside from the free movement in the Funds in the Government Department of the Exchange, the speculation and rise in the New-York and Western Railroads have been every way remarkable, and the transactions enormous in amount, not much more than one-half being registered in the official list of sales reported from the Exchange Board. The excitement ran high through the morning and up to 3 o'clock in the Afternoon, when signs of realizations, and a consequent reaction in prices, began to appear in the Long Room and on the Street. The speculation took a much wider range than at the close of last week, and embraced the St. Paul Stocks, New-Jersey Central, Michigan Central, Cleveland and Pittsburg, and Toledo and Wabash, in addition to the Stocks named as especially prominent in our weekly review of this morning, such as North-west, New-York Central, Lake Shore, Ohio and Mississippi, Rock Island, Reading, &c.

The amount of May Interest called for today, is $3,300,000. The payments do not appear in the daily statement of the Treasury Office, as the checks will not be charged off until Monday next, May 2. The Assistant Treasurer and his Cashier, Mr. WHITE, have greatly facilitated the payment of the registered interest by consolidating the sums due to holders of 1862s, 1864s and 1865s in a single line. That is, where the same party has interest standing to his credit on all three of these loans, he has only to give a single receipt and to receive a single check for the whole. The prepayments for the week will probably be large on account of the facilities offered for signing receipts for the registered stock and the considerable amount of Coupons due by the next steamers from Europe.

The following quotations were made at the late Boards. The Public Funds were in large demand, and closed at the highest rates of the day. Gold was steady. Exchange firm. The Railways were on the upward turn again after the reaction noticed at the close of the Second Board. The aggregate business of the day is unusually heavy.

The Mark Lane Express of April 11 says:

"Although the cold influence of March was still felt at the opening of the week, this gave place, under a change of wind, to brilliant sunshine and a much higher temperature. The nights, however, have been mostly cold, and vegetation, for the want of warm rain, still looks very backward. It has, however, been all that could be desired for the completion of sowing the Lent corn, and a large breadth has now been got in, together with much potato planting, so that the seasonable showers already promise complete alteration in the face of the country. No practical man seems to apprehend any harm from the lateness complained of, either to the corn or fruit, but in France the dry weather has affected the price of oats. Still one day's heavy rain would set all matters straight, and as we have not yet got half through April, who can doubt that this will come? The change already experienced has taken off the upward bearing of the Wheat trade, and most markets have reported more dullness, or some even a decline of 1s. But there is nothing to justify any sweeping reduction of the low rates now ruling. Shipments on their way are light compared with our necessities, the granaries have had a steady draught upon their stores, and though the opening of the Baltic may produce some fears, prices there are too near our own, and stocks not so over abundant as to force liberal shipments. If the London arrivals from the country have for some time been small, we again note a large increase in the general weekly deliveries, viz., 18,452 quarters, at 3s. 11d. below last year's rates. This peculiarity has obtained the notice of the French, who very naturally infer that we have under-estimated last year's crop; but with stocks and the barn-thinning in the country, and stores in London and other parts diminishing also, the onus which has weighed down the trade must be gradually frittering away, and bring a chance of recovered vitality. Although Marseilles is in calm, Paris and many other country markets have been dearer for Wheat; and it is the same in Belgium, while Holland has kept steady, as well as most of Germany and Hungary. New-York, however, again shows weakness, but even at the present reduction in Wheat, there is not a profitable margin between prices, and we must wait till the end of the present month to ascertain the extent of the supplies which we are likely to receive from this quarter.

The arrivals off the coast since April 1 were 26 cargoes, of which 14 cargoes were Wheat, 9 Maize, 2 Barley, 1 Rye. Business was reported as follows: Wheat, 4 cargoes in all, viz.: Californian, 47s.; Marianopoli, 41s.; Ghirka, 41s.@42s. Maize, 13 cargoes in all, at 27s. 6d.@28s. 3d. Barley, 2 cargoes in all at 22s. 9d.@23s. 3d. Rye, 1 cargo, 31s. 3d. The sales of English Wheat noted last week were 51,330 quarters at 42s. 5d., against 42,878 quarters at 46s. 4d. in 1869. The London averages were 45s. 10d. on 2,417 quarters. The imports into the Kingdom for the week ending April 2 were 455,882 cwts. Wheat, and 85,125 cwts. Flour.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

GOLD INTEREST BONDS.

FIRST MORTGAGE
of the
WEST WISCONSIN RAILROAD COMPANY,
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD,
FREE OF GOVERNMENT TAX.
FIFTEEN YEARS TO RUN FROM JANUARY, 1870.
LAND GRANT OF OVER 1,000,000 ACRES FROM GOVERNMENT,

Upon which, together with road and all its property, these bonds are a First Mortgage.

70 MILES OF ROAD FINISHED AND RUNNING,

from which income is already derived, with rapidly increasing receipts.

This road, with its connections, forms an AIR LINE FROM ST. PAUL TO MILWAUKEE, and is a SAVING OF NEARLY 100 MILES on the great North-western route to Chicago.

ELEVEN COUNTIES along the line of this road DONATE $50,000 EACH, with right of way for construction.

This Company is EXEMPTED FROM TAXES UPON ITS LANDS FOR FIFTEEN YEARS, by special act of Legislature.

These bonds have the option of being converted into stock, and are receivable at par, as cash, for the purchase of any of the lands of the Company.

The immense tonnage of grain and lumber accumulating weekly at St. Paul must, upon completion of this road, be carried to Milwaukee and Chicago by this direct route.

The advantages, resources, connections and land grant of this Company are fully set forth in a pamphlet which can be obtained at our office.

A large number of these Bonds have been placed in Europe, and we now offer a LIMITED NUMBER IN THIS MARKET AT 90 FLAT, and recommend them with confidence to our friends and capitalists, fully believing them to be one of the safest and cheapest investments ever offered.

WHITE, MORRIS & CO.,
Bankers and Financial Agents,
No. 29 Wall-st.

THE SOUTHERN CENTRAL RAILROAD is now completed the entire distance from Owego to Auburn. A popular and prosperous Agricultural and Manufacturing district is thus efficiently provided for. The local business of the Southern Central will be very large both in freight and passenger traffic. The rich Agricultural country through which it runs will afford a constantly increasing business. The great manufacturing establishments at Auburn, whose water-power is the best in the State, and the enterprising towns along the line, will always secure to this road a good income.

VERMILYE & CO., the Financial Agents of the Road, offer the remaining unsold portion of the Bonds with the greatest confidence, believing them to be as good a security as any that has ever been placed on this market.

The Bonds bear Seven per cent., have thirty years to run, and they are convertible into stock at the option of the holder.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD

NAVAL STORES—There has been a very moderate inquiry reported for Resin, on the basis of $2 10@$2 12½ for Strained ⅌ 280 lbs.; receipts, 1,382 bbls.; sales, 1,950 bbls.; exports, 1,916 bbls. Tar has been in some request at from $2 50@$2 50 ⅌ bbl. Crude Turpentine has been dull and nominal. Spirits Turpentine has been in light demand, and quoted at 46c.@46½c. for Merchantable, ⅌ gallon; receipts, 346 bbls. We quote: Spirits Turpentine at 46c.@47½c. ⅌ gallon; Crude nominally at $3 50@$3 62½ ⅌ 280 lbs.; Resin, $2 05@$7 50 ⅌ 280 lbs., the latter for choice White; Tar, $2 20@$4 50; Pitch, $2@$2 50 ⅌ bbl.

OILS—Have been very quiet since our last, including Crude Whale at 65c.@75c. for Southern and Northern; Bleached Whale, 85c.@88c.; Crude Sperm at $1 52@$1 55; Unbleached Sperm at $1 67½@$1 70; Bleached Sperm at $1 72@$1 75; Lard oil at $1 20@$1 30; Red Oil at 72c.@75c.; Linseed-oil at 88c.@90c., in casks and bbls.; Olive-oil at $1 40@$1 50; Menhaden at 53c.; Spermaceti at 32½c.@33c.; Extra Refined Seal at 85c. ⅌ gallon; Cotton-seed Oil, Crude, 50c.@52½c.; Southern Yellow, 60c.@65c.; Refined Yellow, 70c.@72½c.; White, 80c.@82½c. ⅌ gallon.

PETROLEUM—The offerings of all kinds of Oil have been on a reduced scale and prices have been quoted decidedly stronger; hence buyers have been operating with much less freedom. Crude has been in less import demand, but firmer in price, having been quoted up to 15c.@15¼c. in bulk, and 19¾c.@19½c., and, in some instances, as high as 20c., in shipping order, here, ⅌ gallon; also, 19c.@19¼c. in shipping order, at Philadelphia, where some 5,900 bbls. were placed for early delivery. At the Lower Creek sales were reported of equal to 2,500 bbls., in bulk, at $4 20 ⅌ bbl. The receipts here were — bbls.; in Philadelphia, 660 bbls. arrived. Refined Oil has been held with increasing confidence, on a lighter offering, but the demand has been less active. Sales have been reported here of 1,500 bbls. Standard White, for April delivery, at 28¼c.; 2,000 bbls. do., May, at 28½c., and 2,000 bbls. do., June and July, at about 28c. ⅌ gallon. Also, at Philadelphia, 3,500 bbls. Standard White, for April delivery, at 26¼c.; 1,000 bbls. do., July and August, at 27c., and 1,000 bbls. do., buyer the balance of the year, on private terms. The receipts of Refined Oil here have been — bbls.; at Philadelphia, 1,540 bbls. The export clearances hence have been 10,000 cases for Venice. Refined Oil in cases has been in active request, chiefly for export, at from 32c.@32½c. ⅌ gallon, with sales reported of 10,500 cases, mainly deliverable to suit vessels. Naphtha has been in moderate demand at 9¼c.@10c., in shipping order, and 5c. in bulk, ⅌ gallon.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been rather firmer in price and moderately inquired for. Sales have been reported since our last of 750 bbls., in lots, at $27 37@$28, chiefly at $27 85, for New Mess; $27 50@$27 62½ for Thin Mess; $24@$25 for Prime Mess; $21@$23 for Prime, ⅌ bbl. Also, 1,000 bbls. New Mess, seller April, May and June, at $27 25@$28 ⅌ bbl. Cut-meats have been in fair request at firm prices; sales have been reported of 265 pkgs. at 11c.@12c., chiefly at 11½c. for Shoulders; 15c.@17c. for Hams, ⅌ lb. Bacon continues quiet at former prices, with light offering reported. Lard has been held with confidence on a reduced available supply and pretty fair inquiry. Sales have been reported since our last of 470 tcs. and bbls., in lots, at from 15c.@16⅜c. for poor No. 1 to choice Kettle-rendered, chiefly at 16¼c.@16⅛c. for City, and 16¼c.@16⅝c. for fair to choice Western Steam, ⅌ lb. Also, 1,000 tcs. prime Steam, seller April, at 16¼c.; and May and June at 16¼c. ⅌ lb. Beef has been in request and buoyant; sales have been reported of 230 bbls., in lots, at $9@$14 50 for Plain Mess, $14@$17 50 for Extra Mess, and $4@$8 for inferior grades, ⅌ bbl. Tierce Beef continues quiet at $24@$27 for Prime Mess, and $28@$31 50 for India Mess, ⅌ tierce. Beef Hams have been in moderate request at $27@$33 50 ⅌ bbl.; sales, 150 bbls. Butter has been in demand at full rates, including State, inferior to prime, at 18c.@37c., and Western, ordinary to prime, 15c.@28c. ⅌ lb.; the day's receipts were 2,439 pkgs. Cheese is selling more freely at from 6c.@17½c., as the extremes, for very common to fancy Factory; the day's receipts were 818 boxes.

RICE—Has been firm, but quiet; 110 tcs. Carolina changed hands at from $6 75@$7 25 ⅌ 100 lbs.

SEEDS—A sale of 1,000 bags Calcutta Linseed, to arrive, was made at $2 10, gold, ⅌ bushel, cash—showing a rather easier market for this description.

SUGARS—A moderate movement has been reported in raw Sugars at unchanged prices. Sales, 1,137 hhds. Cuba and Porto Rico at from 9½c.@11c. ⅌ lb. We quote fair to good refining grades Cuba at 9¼c.@9¼c.; fair to good grocery grades at 9½c.@9¾c.; good to choice grocery grades at 10c.@10¾c. ⅌ lb. TALLOW, &c.—Sales have been reported since our last of 81,500 lbs. Tallow at 9¼c.@9¾c.; 40,000 lbs. Stearine at 15c.@16¼c.; and 28,500 lbs. Grease at 8¼c.@12c. ⅌ lb.

WHISKY—Has been quiet at about former quotations; sales 200 bbls., in lots, at $1 06@$1 07 for wood and iron-bound Western and State pkgs., ⅌ gallon; receipts, 655 bbls.

FREIGHTS—The market has been quoted steady, but has been without notable activity. For Liverpool there were taken 1,050 bales Cotton, by steamer, at ¼d.@⅜d. ⅌ lb., the latter rate for Sea Island; 46,500 bushels Wheat at 4d. ⅌ bushel; 100 hhds. Tallow at 15s. ⅌ ton. For Glasgow—1,700 bbls. Flour, by steamer, at 1s. 9d. ⅌ bbl.; 22,500 bushels Wheat at 5d. ⅌ bushel. For Bristol, an American ship of 1,300 tons capacity on private terms. For Rotterdam, a Norwegian bark, 2,500 bbls. Petroleum, from Philadelphia, at 4s. 6d. ⅌ bbl. For Rio, a vessel with Flour, at 90c., gold, ⅌ bbl.

NEW-YORK CATTLE MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Monday, April 25, 1870.

Trade in horned cattle was brisk and at high prices this morning at Communipaw Market. The grades ranged from common to good, and, although 17c. ⅌ lb. was freely and pretty largely obtained, yet we can quote no prime Steers. Some Texans fed in Illinois were better than such cattle generally are. Many of the cattle on sale this forenoon looked travel-tired and exhausted, and were quite unfit to be slaughtered. Prices were as follows, at an increase of fully 1c. ⅌ lb. on grades: No prime Bullocks; first quality, 16½c.@17c. ⅌ lb.; second quality, 15c.@15½c. ⅌ lb.; third quality 14c.@14½c. ⅌ lb.; a small lot of Bulls from Illinois sold as low as 13½c. ⅌ lb.; highest price quoted, 17c. ⅌ lb.; lowest price quoted, 13½c. ⅌ lb.; this day's average, 16c. ⅌ lb.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

A dispatch to the English Press Association, dated yesterday, says that a thin slip of wood, painted blue, bearing the inscription, "City of Boston, sinking Feb. 11," had drifted ashore on the coast of Cornwall. There is a suspicion that the message is a heartless hoax....The details of the murder of the captives in the hands of the Greek bandits are given in a dispatch from London. The robbers were driven into a tower on the coast, near Oropo, where they were surrounded, after the failure of all negotiations. Offers were again made to the brigands, but they were rejected, and during the progress of the assault the captives were taken out and killed—Mr. HERBERT and the Italian Secretary first, and, when hard pressed, VYNER and LLOYD. The robbers made their escape, leaving two of their leaders mortally wounded. The English journals demand indemnity from the Greek Government. ....Capt. EYRE, of the Bombay, is making an effort to effect the restoration of his certificate ....Business in Parliament is to be pressed forward vigorously. The House of Commons reassembled yesterday. The Naturalization bill was passed....The Spanish Cabinet are said to be quarreling fiercely and the friends of MONTPENSIER to be gaining strength. The North-eastern provinces favor ESPARTERO for King....The French Ministers have addressed a circular to the officers of the civil service as citizens, urging them to vote "Yes" in the coming plebiscite....Another public meeting of the Ecumenical Council will be held today, when additional articles of faith will be voted on openly.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, a large number of bills, both private and public, were disposed of. Among the latter the most important was one regulating the frontier and coasting trade on the frontiers. A bill was reported covering the subject of the enforcement of the Fifteenth Amendment, and conference committees were appointed on the Census and Income Tax bills. A petition was presented from the City Government of Cincinnati relative to the Louisville Canal, and representing the injury to commerce caused by the new bridge across the Ohio River, and the necessity for a prompt completion of the work. Several bills were recommitted, and at 5 P. M. the Senate adjourned.

In the House considerable time was again occupied with a debate in relation to the members absent on Friday evening last, and several additional were excused. A variety of new bills, including a number for making new land grants, were introduced; among the most important were the following: Limiting the liability of ship-owners; vesting the powers of United States Commissioners in registrars of bankruptcy; for the reduction of taxation and the abolition of special licenses except on certain articles; chartering the American and Holland Ocean Cable Company; regulating trade and commerce between the States; and changing the standard weights of silver coin. A resolution was adopted for a bill providing pensions for all surviving soldiers of the war of 1812, and another providing a burial-place and a monument for the late Gen. RAWLINS, the expense to be defrayed from the contingent fund of the War Department. Mr. AYER offered a resolution that, in view of the prospective revenue receipts, the further consideration of the present Tariff bill should be dispensed with. It was declared out of order. Late in the day the tariff debate was resumed; but without, however, making much progress with the matter, the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate yesterday consent was asked to introduce a bill to correct a "mistake" in the new Excise act, by which it is made necessary to have a petition for a license signed by twenty freeholders. A Republican member said he would consent if another correction were also made in the same bill, relating to the confirmation of Excise Commissioners by the Aldermen in cities. Objection was made, and the bill was laid aside. The bill appropriating $50,000 to erect and lease elevators at Buffalo was passed, after a protracted debate, by a vote of 17 to 12. The Eight-hour bill, relating to mechanics and laborers employed by the State, was passed unanimously. The Governor returned with objections the bill incorporating the United States Mutual Benefit Society of New-York, and the bill for the Hopkinton Manufacturing Company. The New-York Pneumatic Tube Underground Railway bill was lost by a vote of 8 to 16, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table. The Champlain Canal Enlargement bill was amended and passed. The Senate held an afternoon session, at which the Supply bill was discussed.

In the Assembly a large number of private and other bills were passed. The bill to aid the Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburg Railroad was recalled from the Senate, as it contained a provision for State as well as local taxation. The bill making appropriations to charitable institutions was considered in Committee, and after amendment ordered to a third reading and passed. The Governor vetoed the act relating to the Coroners of Erie County, the bill incorporating the Peabody Mutual Benefit Society of New-York, and the bill incorporating the National Mutual Benefit Association of Buffalo. The objections were sustained. The bill limiting the damages that persons injured on railroads may recover to $5,000, was recommitted to strike out the enacting clause, after a sharp debate, by a vote of 59 to 27, and a motion to reconsider was lost. At the afternoon session the Conference Committee's report on the County Courts bill was agreed to. The bill making appropriations to pay the canal debt was passed. The House receded from its amendments to the Supreme Court bill, leaving the salaries $5,000 as fixed by the Senate, and the bill passed. A motion to concur in the Senate amendments to the Champlain Canal Enlargement bill was made, but was not acted on, when the House took a recess till 7½ P. M. At the evening session the Champlain bill was passed, together with many other bills.

GENERAL.

The Seventeenth United States Infantry, now in Virginia, and the Fourteenth Infantry, now in Kentucky, are ordered to Sioux City, Iowa, with all possible dispatch, to report to the General commanding the Department of Dakota.

The Attorney-General of this State has given an opinion on the new Excise act, in which he says the only important change is in vesting the power to grant licenses in city and town, instead of county authorities. There is, he then says, no conflict between the acts of 1857 and 1870, and the sale of liquors on Sunday or on election days within a certain distance of the polls he holds to be prohibited by the latter.

The troubles between the stove companies and the molders at Peekskill, N. Y., continue. To-night a special meeting of the village Trustees is to be held to deliberate upon the request of the stove founders and citizens for an additional Police force. The molders make violent demonstrations daily, preventing the men employed by the companies from working.

The old man who was injured so badly on Friday night by the citizens of Middle Village, who pursued him under the impression that he was a burglar, is not expected to recover from his wounds. His name is THOMAS MULHEARN, and his age about fifty-five years. He resided at No. 19 City Hall-place, New-York, with his three sons. He was crazy, and had the impression that men were seeking his life. He fled to Long Island, and passing through Middle Village on a run, was taken for a burglar, pursued and brought to bay. He drew a pistol to defend himself, and then was stoned and clubbed and captured.

The Athletic Base-ball Club, of Philadelphia, defeated the Maryland Club, of Baltimore, at Philadelphia, yesterday, by a score of 34 to 16.

The opposite wing of the Fenians, or those opposed to Gen. O'NEILL, yesterday issued an order from their head-quarters in Philadelphia, disapproving the action of the New-York Congress and approving the action taken in Chicago.

The Postmaster-General has addressed a letter to Senator RAMSEY, Chairman of the Post-office Committee, giving reasons why there should be an increase in the service on the mail steam-ship route from San Francisco to Japan and China.

The McFarland trial was continued yesterday, but only two witnesses were examined, and the Court adjourned until this morning. The principal witness was Dr. VANCE, who gave some very important and interesting medical testimony regarding insanity, and declared as his opinion that the defendant was insane when he shot RICHARDSON.

The birthday of Lord BYRON was celebrated last evening at Delmonico's by a banquet, at which JOHN G. SAXE, CASSIUS M. CLAY, Hon. WM. PRESTON and several others made speeches.

Taxing Incomes.

There is no doubt that the popular sentiment is very much opposed to the Income tax, but we are sure that the feeling is an impulsive one, and not at all based on deliberate reflection. The tax is unpopular in its operation, chiefly by reason of the inexperience of the people with regard to taxation in general. It is to be remembered that previous to the war we had little or no necessity in that direction. We had no public debt, and a very economical governmental machinery. We consequently had no need to put taxes upon the necessities of life, or in any way to impair the industries of the country. The case is very different now, and it is most remarkable to note the willingness of the people to submit to the burden. We doubt if history furnishes a parallel to the cheerful submission of our citizens to a degree of taxation, in a crude and repulsive form, which would not be tolerated for a moment in any other civilized country.

It is this cheerful and submissive temper which calls most loudly for careful consideration, and it ought to meet a corresponding treatment from Congress, as well as from the officials who have charge of the collection of taxes. The study should be how to lighten the burdens of the people, and at the same time to produce the necessary amount of funds; and not, as sometimes seems to be the case at Washington, to get the most out of the people without regard to the interests affected. On principle there is no question that the income tax is one of the best devices of the whole revenue scheme. It reaches interests which ought to be reached, and which cannot be so fairly reached in any other way. It falls upon a class which can best afford to pay, and which would otherwise evade their proper contribution to the general requirement of revenue. Yet while the imposition is eminently wise and salutary, it is one which is inevitably unpopular, simply because it falls upon a class who largely control popular sentiment. Hence the necessity for a politic regard to all those details which affect the general verdict.

The Income tax is the most clamored about of any, for the reason that it has been the worst administered, besides being excessive in its rate. The regulations which have been made with reference to its collection have been inquisitorial and exceedingly offensive; but there is no doubt that the amount realized from it has been a clear gain to the mass of tax-payers, for the reason that it would not have been realized from any other source. But 272,842 persons out of our forty millions of people pay the tax, amounting to about thirty-five million dollars, and we venture to say that no equal amount is raised which falls upon a class better able to pay it. If we could get rid of the odious features of the collection, and could make the burden fall where it ought, the tax would be as popular as it now is odious. How best to do this is the problem; and it is one which Congress ought to consider very seriously. We are glad to see that there is a growing appreciation of this necessity, and that members are beginning to see that the popular demand for reform must be heeded.

That the present tax is excessive is very generally admitted, and that it is annoyingly collected there are thousands of witnesses to testify; but those facts do not afford a sufficient ground for its entire abolition. We have little doubt that with a reduction from five to two, or even three per cent., an increase in the amount of exemption, and a more considerate and thorough collection, the tax could be made to yield far more than it does, and at the same time be popularized. While the fact is indisputable that we are raising altogether too much money by taxation, it is equally apparent that we have not yet learned the best methods and sources of revenue. English statesmen have made taxation a study, and they seem to have brought the science very nearly to perfection. With them the Income tax is a favorite, just as it will be with us when we come to know it better. What we need is a general reduction of taxation, and to place the burden where it will be felt the least. We hold that a moderate and a properly collected income tax will be the most satisfactory and just of any that can be devised, and we hope the House of Representatives will firmly resist the effort of the Senate to keep it at its present figure, chiefly for the reason that we think such a course is calculated to make the tax odious and ultimately to cause its absolute repeal.

The Arcade Railroad Again.

As one of the curiosities of legislation, we publish the bill to incorporate the Arcade Railroad Company as it was sent from the Senate to the Assembly. The theory that the Legislature constitutes the united wisdom—that it represents the virtue of the State—that it is to establish justice and promote the general welfare by laws skillfully framed—is reversed; and it would appear that the object is the gratification of selfish interests, and to subject the rights and property of honest citizens to unlawful control. Although the bill before us affects directly property worth hundreds of millions of dollars, no proper safeguards for its protection are introduced; on the contrary, there is a complete neglect of every wise precaution.

So far as concerns the right to take the Battery and the Bowling-green, for instance, the case stands thus: Since we exposed the grant of authority to take without compensation the whole of any parks for stations, depots, and so forth, the bill has been changed in several respects. One amendment provides:

> "But no portion of any public grounds, parks or places so taken shall be more than 500 feet in length, nor more than 100 feet in width, and the said Company may make the necessary deflections of their lines for the purpose of using the same for stations."

It will be competent under this alteration to take 500 feet by 100 feet on the Battery, the whole of the Bowling-green, 500 by 100 in the City Hall Park, the whole of Union-square, 500 by 100 in Madison-square, the whole of the triangle on which the Worth monument stands, the whole triangle at the junction of the Sixth-avenue and Broadway, and 500 by 100 in Central Park, in addition to slices from other parks touched, under the authority to change the line and to unite with horse and steam railroads.

So far as concerns the up-town parks, they may not be taken until ten millions of stock have been subscribed and two millions paid in; but as to the line below Wall-street, it is provided (section 19) that no ground shall be disturbed under this act, except below Wall-street, until the full amount of ten millions of dollars shall have been in good faith subscribed, and 20 per cent. thereon actually paid in. Under this provision, the Company may go on in their entire work below Wall-street without any subscription of stock, protected by the clause in the fifteenth section, to the effect that no omission to construct any other portion of their line within the time limited in the act, "shall work a forfeiture of their franchise in respect to any portion of said railway which may have been commenced or completed." It would be competent for the Company, on the passage of the bill, to require that the Commissioners who are to locate the quantity to be taken on the Battery, be appointed and act, and the land may be then taken. The Bowling-green may be taken under assessment at a nominal sum, without the formality of a location by Commissioners. This view is strengthened by the provision in section 5, with respect to the first election of thirteen directors, for it declares that "said Board of Directors shall be elected by the persons named as corporators in the first section of this act." At the first election only the corporators may vote; at the next election the stockholders are to vote. It thus appears that, by adroit management the persons named in the act may acquire the title to the Bowling-green and the most valuable portion of the Battery, as a free gift, and that they have only to complete the road between the Battery and the Bowling-green—a stone's throw—to be saved from forfeiture.

As the bill was reported by the Committee of the Senate, the names in the first section which we have printed in italics, did not appear. There was a hitch in its progress, and it is probable that trouble was averted by the introduction of the new names. The interest appeased, which must have been large and exacting, doubtless proceeded on the ground [illegible] bill created were too enormous to be left to the control of those originally named. The interests have doubtless been balanced with great precision by the Senate. If the new names were put in by the command of leaders of the House, the Senate having been previously pacified, the bill will pass the Assembly without additions. The bill was drawn to give control in the first election to the first ten named as corporators, but some member of the Senate broke up this scheme by sagacious amendments.

Another significant amendment was made simultaneously with the one permitting action below Wall-street. As the bill was printed, the persons specified as their associates and successors were created a body corporate, by the name of "The New-York Arcade Railway Company." The word "associates" was then stricken out, and the word "assigns" introduced, with two objects: First, that there should be no presumption that the Company was not rendered complete by the passage of the bill; second, that with the Battery and the Bowling-green in hand, the persons nominated might go into the market with rights and property vested, and with a valuable franchise, and sell out to the highest bidder. An inexperienced person might suppose that after construction the parks were to be restored, but this arises only when they are entered upon temporarily, and not when taken for depots, stations, &c.

The bill repeals the General Railroad act with respect to all inconsistent provisions, and goes so far as to require that the corporation of the City of New-York, "and all other companies, are hereby prohibited from giving any permission to any other person or corporation to do any acts or things hereby authorized, or to hinder, delay or embarrass the construction or operation of said railway." This is intended as an alteration of the charter of the Underground and other railways. The change with respect to the erection of temporary bridges and the construction of the road below Fourteenth-street amount to nothing, as the Legislature must have understood. How can a single officer be relied upon when two-thirds of the Legislature set the example of disobedience?

Nothing more sweeping in its powers, or more imperfect and purposeless in its restraining provisions, has ever passed the Senate. And if, as seems probable, the Assembly passes it in its present shape, the City will look to Gov. HOFFMAN to protect its great artery from the peril thus threatened, and to defeat the machinations by which an admitted public want is made the pretext for the perpetration of flagrant wrong.

The New Army Bill.

The Senate Military Committee have at last perfected the new Army bill, and its leading features have been promulgated. It differs very materially from the one previously reported to the House and advocated by Mr. LOGAN, and in the main is an improvement. In a former article we expressed the opinion that no new bill was needed at this time, and we are still strongly of that opinion; but it seems to be a favorite idea with Congressmen that something must be done with the army, and perhaps the bill just reported is as harmless as any which could be devised. Our representatives at Washington do not seem to realize the fact, that the army is stronger with the people than almost any other branch of the public service, and that it is an exceedingly delicate business to meddle with it. Especially is it dangerous to assail it unjustly.

The general sense of obligation is so fresh, and the feeling of gratitude so deep, that it is dangerous to trifle with the regular service, and altogether impossible safely to assail it. Heavy as the burdens of taxation are, we do not believe that the people desire retrenchment at the expense of their sacred and cherished obligations to the army, and every attempt to cripple that arm of our national defense is sure to be resented. The bill just reported provides for the abolition of the rank of General and Lieutenant-General as soon as vacancies shall occur in those places. It involves a very ungracious intimation to SHERMAN and SHERIDAN that they are unnecessary and purely ornamental appendages to our military establishment,—which they will be very likely to resent, and which the people generally will not indorse. For that reason, if for no other, we question the wisdom as well as the necessity of the proposed economy.

The reduction of the number of Major-Generals from five to three, and of Brigadiers from eight to six, is far more excusable on the score of economy and practicability, but we doubt whether even that change is demanded. We know that it cannot be done without injustice and injury to the service. Considering the extent of our country, and the constant demand for military service in a variety of forms, the present personnel of our army can be profitably employed, and the higher grades are necessary incentives to ambition and honorable effort. Before the war we had too restricted a line of promotion, and the consequence was that the service was filled with veterans holding ridiculously low rank. The result was a source of general dissatisfaction and a feeling of humiliation which impaired the elan of the service.

We are firm believers in the army, and we know that the people share the feeling, and have the best reason to respect it and be grateful to it for what it did during the war. We do not believe that there is any disposition to lessen its honors and rewards, or to be niggardly in respect to its pay. The new bill, we are told, does not seriously reduce the pay-table of the line, nor does it contain the odious features of the House bill for the forcible retirement of officers. In some other respects it seems to be commendable, and is evidently the result of careful consideration. It was reported to the Senate yesterday, and it is a consolation to know that there are abundant friends of the army, both in that body and out of it, who will scan it closely and see that it is made what it should be before it passes.

Where and How to Live in New-York.

The experiment of the "flat houses" is apparently turning out as profitable to their owner as the most sanguine friends of the project expected. Those which are fast being completed in East Seventeenth-street, near Irving-place, had every floor engaged six months ago by the most respectable class of tenants, and it is said the landlord received nearly a hundred written applications more than he could satisfy. A fourth-story floor, with six exceedingly small rooms, rents in these houses for some $1,500 per annum; the fifth story, we believe, at $1,200. This is certainly not the entertainment to which "the middle class," who must pay small rents, were invited. The whole house must yield a larger per cent. on the capital than the old-style single house. That it is, however, an advantage to the public of moderate incomes, is shown by their eagerness to secure it; and as it pays so well, we may be sure of others being built on similar plans.

The explanation of the high rents which are readily paid for these poor quarters is that the houses are in the "magic parallelogram" bounded by Third and Sixth avenues, Eighth-street and the Park—that is, the people living in them are near all the clubs, concerts, lectures, operas and houses they most desire to frequent. Moreover, these houses have a respectable door-way and porter to receive their visitors, and the tenants can leave their rooms in Summer without the necessity of supporting servants, keeping up an establishment, or incurring the risk of burglary. These "flat houses" in Seventeenth-street do not, however, solve our social problem they are not like the French or German. They do not give us a pleasant suite of rooms—a home—at a low rent. They are poor and dear.

Possibly, New-Yorkers must submit themselves to the unpleasant conclusion that this problem—of securing a City home for the middle class—is insoluble here. It may be that taxes will always be so high under our City Government, and the space for pleasant dwellings so narrow, and the pressure of business and commerce on this magic island so enormous, that room will always be the most expensive of all luxuries in New-York. Even now, with the extreme depression of business, and real estate in the most sluggish condition, we hear of the sale of a single lot, twenty-five feet by one hundred, as high up as Fifty-ninth-street, at forty-two thousand dollars; so that we may judge what space in good quarters will cost a few years hence, when business has revived on a sound basis. New-York will then manifestly be no place for men of refinement to live in who have not their "ten thousand" income.

What, then, are the great body of artists, professional men and moderate merchants to do under such a condition of rents? They do not want to bring up their children in a tenement-house quarter; they find even the flat houses too expensive; they hardly care to live in a city district, remote from all the best advantages of a city, and their only choice will be between boarding-houses and hotels, and the country. Any prudent and refined mother knows that, of all possible instrumentalities for destroying health and spoiling manners in children, a boarding-house or hotel life is the worst. The husband, too, finds none of the recuperative effect of a home in these caravanseries. The whole family grows up in a kind of nomadic condition; the wife, if young and heedless, exposed to temptation, the children bold and fast, and none of them feeling the sacred and conservative influences of a home. Such a family had better have a shanty of their own, if they consider their highest interests, than live in the most luxurious hotel.

The country is evidently the alternative. Here the wonder is, that we have not adopted the pleasant suburban expedients of London and other large cities. Why are not small neighborhoods laid out along our principal railways, as "parks," with villa-sites, where a group of congenial people can get together and form an agreeable suburban society, yet always near the City? Our people have not half utilized the lovely rural districts which surround the City. On the Hudson River, for instance, for twenty miles out, lots in beautiful situations can be bought at from eight hundred to fifteen hundred dollars each. Manhattanville, Carmansville, Fort Washington and Spuyten Duyvil are accessible by hourly trains, and are as near Wall-street as Central Park. If the underground or elevated railway be a success, they will become as near to the business quarter as Fortieth-street is now. The most exquisite villa-sites could be laid out in these or other places, the children could grow up with all the benefits of the country, the families be near the pleasures of the City, and rents need not be more than eight hundred dollars per annum.

What is needed is a direction of capital toward our suburban districts, in New-Jersey, Westchester County, and on Long Island, with a view of laying out such grounds, and building moderate, tasteful houses. No investment could be safer than houses worth six thousand dollars or eight thousand dollars each, on sites worth, say, one thousand dollars each, and arranged in pleasant grounds. They would always be in demand for rent or purchase. The class of tenants would be thoroughly respectable. They would soon erect their own churches and schools, and form a very agreeable society. The railroads are fast learning their true interests, and will favor the formation of such settlements by frequent and late trains, and cheap fares. In such neighborhoods children will grow up in vastly more healthy circumstances than in the City, and the change of air and quiet of the country will compensate the gentlemen of the family for early breakfasts, late returns, and other inconveniences of a rural residence. A rent of eight hundred dollars or nine hunded dollars is about the medium rate which can be afforded by a large class. For this sum, at present, nothing pleasant or convenient can be obtained in New-York. With this, we are persuaded, something very agreeable might be contrived in the suburban districts.

Superintendent JOURDAN is doing a good work, by all accounts, and bids fair to commend himself to the hearty approbation of the law-and-order loving public. He is reported to have ordered the detective force to devote more of their time than heretofore to the investigation of murders, and there is hope that we may now be spared the horrible mysteries in the way of assassination which have been so alarmingly frequent in our City. The new Superintendent has a practical knowledge of his duty, and ought to be able to throw a more perfect protection around the lives of our citizens than they have enjoyed for two or three years past. We are glad to know that he has ordered the detective force to turn their attention to the apprehension of assassins, and we hope that the next case that happens will be thoroughly worked up, and the offenders brought to swift condemnation and punishment.

There can be no doubt that the slip of wood found on the Cornish coast is another attempt to impose upon the public in reference to the ill-fated vessel, the City of Boston. It is always difficult to ascertain the motives which can induce a reasonable being to play off a trick of this kind, but a careful study of all the known facts has convinced maritime authorities that the City of Boston either foundered in a storm on the 31st of January, or perished amid the ice a few days from that time. A large steamer was seen in distress off Sable Island on the 31st of January, and the probability is that she was the City of Boston. It is but too certain that no trace of her will ever be found, and that anything which comes to light professing to be a message from her is only the invention of some idiot, who deserves six months in prison.

The blowing up of the Blossom rock in the harbor of San Francisco has given the citizens of that place a new and satisfactory sensation, and the good success of the whole business is calculated to interest us all in this part of the world who are looking for the removal of the Hell Gate obstructions. Nothing in that work of the San Franciscans has been so remarkable as the time occupied about it—only four or five months. No doubt the currents of our Sound passage are more difficult to deal with than were the still waters of the Western bay; but we should suppose Col. VON SCHMIDT'S plan could be practiced here as well as there—the dams placed, the shafts sunk, and the excavations made within a reasonable time. The explosion of those twenty-three tons of gunpowder do not seem to have made the expected noise for the lookers-on: but the solid good effected is a compensation for any disappointment in the spectacular way.

Excursion parties to Greece had better be postponed for the present. The English travelers who were taken by the brigands near Marathon have been unfortunate in their trip. First they were held in captivity until a heavy ransom was paid. But pending the negotiations, the English Government remonstrated with the Greek Government, and the latter stirred up the bandits. This interference cost the travelers their lives. Without waiting for further explanations, the brigands put their prisoners to death. The "Lord" with the doubtful title seems to have been released on "parole," and consequently he alone is left to tell the tale of the captivity. This little incident will probably be enough to turn people's steps from the classic land, or at least to induce them to sally forth in stout bands, and armed with good rifles and revolvers.

The murder of O'DAY on Sunday, by one of his own desperate gang, points a moral in a very different way from that which is usual. All accounts agree that he was a ruffian of the first water, and that his "taking off" was a positive relief to the community. In the interest of law and order, it is a consolation that he is so effectually out of the way; and, although his life was worse than useless, it is to be hoped that his death may be utilized by the hanging of his murderer. If that could be accomplished, O'DAY will not have died in vain.

London journals have been discussing the alteration of the famous old school called Christ's Hospital, founded in the time of EDWARD VI., and latterly so much associated with the names of COLERIDGE, LAMB, HUNT, and other literary men. It is now proposed to give it a more popular character, by decentralizing the endowment and making four schools from it—one on the present site, two more in other parts of the metropolis, and a girls' boarding-school somewhere in the country. Most visitors to what COBBETT used to call the "Wen" may see some of those little boys of Christ's walking along in their leather-belted blue coats, yellowish knee-breeches and bare heads; but, under the proposed distribution, it is probable that curious uniform would disappear—making one tradition the less in those historic streets of London.

The warnings said to have been received by the British authorities in respect to Fenian attempts upon the London Times and Pall Mall Gazette offices will strike most people as bordering on the region of romance. Certainly it seems very unlikely, to say the least, that in a city like London, watched and guarded by an army of Police, any attempt of the kind should be seriously entertained. Were such to be successful to any extent, the political effect would be disastrous to the Fenians themselves, and the friends of Ireland, who counsel moderate treatment along with reform, would be forced into silence. On the whole, the best explanation of the affair is that somebody has been amusing himself at the expense of somebody else.

Mr. WILLIAM J. THOMS writes a letter to the Standard (London) for the purpose of proving that Capt. LAHRBUSH, who is now 104 years old, does not actually exist—or, at least, was not born at the time he states. Mr. THOMS says that he cannot find Capt. LAHRBUSH'S name in the Army List for 1789—the year he entered the army. Seeing that he served as a volunteer, this omission need cause no surprise. Mr. THOMS further states that the name of Capt. LAHRBUSH does not appear at any period in the Army List. The name of the gentleman in question is FREDERICK DE LAHRBUSH, and he obtained his commission in the Sixtieth Rifles in the year 1809. He retired from the army in 1818, and between these two dates his name was entered in the Army List, and will still be found there by any one who takes the trouble to search for it. Mr. THOMS "wonders" how it could have happened that Capt. LAHRBUSH witnessed the interview between NAPOLEON and ALEXANDER in 1807. It is, nevertheless, quite true that Capt. LAHRBUSH was a spectator of that event, and remembers it distinctly to this hour. With regard to the parish in which Capt. LAHRBUSH was born, he cannot give any decided information about that, for in his childhood he was frequently taken by his parents to Prussia and back again to London—his father having been in the service of the Prussian Government. He cannot, therefore, recollect in what parish he was born, but he has described the house and street to us, and we judge it to have been somewhere near Lambeth Palace. The parish may therefore have been Lambeth—perhaps Mr. THOMS may think it worth his while to make researches in that quarter. In any case, we may take the liberty of suggesting to Mr. THOMS that an inquiry of this kind may just as well be conducted in a spirit of courtesy toward an aged and respectable man, as in one which is apparently intended to be offensive.

"THE BELLE'S STRATAGEM" AT WALLACK'S.

Mrs. COWLEY'S quaint, stilted and very old-fashioned comedy of "The Belle's Stratagem" drew as fine a house last night at Wallack's as if it had been the freshest and most epigramatic product of ROBERTSON or VICTORIEN SARDOU. "The Belle's Stratagem" is fast slipping into that distant perspective as a picture of manners which presages its losing at no remote period its hold upon the stage. Yet the characters are various and fairly contrasted, the dialogue has abundant wit, if little humor, and the moral of the domestic tiffs and reconciliations, as with the "School for Scandal," is applicable not to a day, but to all time. Mr. J. W. WALLACK is an effective Doricourt, although the part, for obvious reasons, is not one of those best suited to his style. He is lighter in it than might be expected, and acts throughout with much ease and spirit. Mr. JOHN GILBERT is a magnificent Hardy, and leaves us absolutely nothing to wish for in the character. Flutter is a little too much for Mr. MARLOWE, and so is Sir George Touchwood for Mr. ROCKWELL, but it is an ungracious task to speak otherwise than with approval of such pains-taking artists, and it is fair to say that each seemed to do his best with what was intrusted to him. We hardly like Miss MADELINE HENRIQUES in Letitia Hardy so well as in Lady Teazle. In the latter part, however, she is, to our mind, unsurpassed at present on the American stage, and her Letitia Hardy falls short in excellence simply because of its inequality, which is easily excused in the first attempt at a rôle so trying. Some of the scenes—notably the trying ones in which she imposes on Doricourt—were very admirably played indeed, and when Miss HENRIQUES is as ripe in Letitia Hardy as she is in Lady Teazle the former will rival in evenness of merit the latter highly-finished impersonation. Miss E. MESTAYER was exceedingly acceptable as the Widow Rackett, and Mrs. PHILLIPS was hardly in her element as Lady Frances. The comedy was listened to by the audience with great satisfaction and hearty applause. To-night BUCKSTONE'S uproariously funny comedy of "Married Life" is announced, with a very strong cast.

Musical.

ORATORIO AT STEINWAY HALL.

The rendering of MENDELSSOHN'S oratorio of "Elijah" by the New-York Harmonic Society was hardly calculated to add to the esteem in which the work is held, or to the reputation of the association. Inferior in melodic beauty, and in massiveness of instrumentation to the Handelian compositions of the same order; inferior in dignity to its sister oratorio, "St. Paul," its descriptive music, only the concerted portions of which are notable, calls with unusual imperativeness for a variety of expression the singers last evening did not seem to possess. The recitations, in a word, dragged almost from the very outset. The arias were generally done with correctness and sufficient shading, but the concerted pieces were given without the prayerful fervor, or the passion, or the awe, or the enthusiasm of praise they respectively exact, and were not remarkable even for power of sound or for precision of execution, though in respect of the latter quality, and to a certain extent in respect of sentiment, the chorale of the angels was not at all deficient, and was consequently not suffered to end in silence. The principal soloists were: Mr. W. H. Beckett, bass; Mr. Simpson, tenor; Mrs. Gertrude Hess, soprano, and Mrs. Barry, of Boston, contralto. Mr. BECKETT'S voice is of good range and quality, and, as it was especially proven after the first half hour's use, in fair subjection. No attempt was made, however, to use it in giving the music a dramatic coloring, and with the exception, perhaps, of Mr. SIMPSON, Mr. BECKETT set an example in this regard for all his associates. Mr. SIMPSON sang with breadth and accuracy. The voice of Mrs. HESS is shrill and tremulous; that of Mrs. BARRY is extremely even, rich and sympathetic, and enabled her to bear off the vocal honors of the night. Mr. F. L. RITTER conducted.

CARLOTTA PATTI IN OPERA.

The performance of the opera of "The Magic Flute" at the Academy of Music last evening, was largely attended. Wednesday evening the opera will be repeated in this City, and Thursday it will be given in Brooklyn. A special representation of "Faust" is advertised for Friday night. Saturday a matinée rendering of "The Magic Flute" will terminate Mr. STRAKOSCH'S brief and pleasant season.

BENEFIT CONCERT TO MRS. EDWARD LODER.

The benefit concert to be given to Mrs. EDWARD LODER to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, has an especial claim on public patronage in that the beneficiary never, during those years when she was the first concert singer in the City, and when her good style and thorough training were of great service both in church and concert-room, refused her aid to such an undertaking. Miss KELLOGG, in lending her valuable assistance, gives proof of the goodness of her heart; and it should be borne in mind that while the various charities for which such great efforts have recently been made have other means of attracting public sympathy, the musician, in advancing years and increasing necessities, can only appeal to the musical world by means of that art of which he has been the servant. We sincerely trust the public will respond generously to an appeal which the beneficiary's fellow-artists are doing their utmost to strengthen by an attractive performance.

Miscellaneous.

GERMAN ENTERTAINMENT IN BROOKLYN.

At the Brooklyn Academy of Music a very pleasant entertainment, consisting of instrumental music, and a gymnastic and dramatic exhibition, was given yesterday by the German Turners of the New-York District Turner organization. The main attraction was the gymnastic part of the entertainment. It was offered by a number of the best trained Turners of the organization, under the direction of Mr. CARL STAHL. Feats on the parallel bars, vaulting horses and horizontal bars were done, and, besides, the Williamsburg Turnverein built a number of pyramids, some four and one five men high. This exhibition showed the great strength, agility and practice of the Turners; and, considering that these are not professional athletes, but amateur gymnasts, their efforts were very creditable. The performers were greatly applauded. The other features of the entertainment were singing by the singing sections of the New-York and Williamsburg Turnvereins, two tenor solos by Mr. C. ALVERS, a farce in German, and several excellent orchestral selections, executed under the baton of Mr. CARL ANSCHUETZ.

The Plot on the Steamer George Washington.

An examination into the plot which was discovered on board of the steamer George Washington on her voyage to New-Orleans, of which ALBERT KOMP and ALEXANDER LANGE are alleged to be the instigators, was commenced before Commissioner OSBORN yesterday. The particulars of the plot, including the shipment of a box on board of the vessel, the insurance of its contents for $1,600 as machinery, and the firing of the vessel by means of the box, which was found on investigation to contain explosive oils and other combustible matter, have already been given in the TIMES. Testimony was furnished by SAMUEL H. YEAMAN, one of the owners of the vessel; JOHN H. CLARK, EDWIN B. GATES, Captain of the vessel, and W. H. PARSONS. After this the case was adjourned until Thursday.

WASHINGTON.

The Alaska Fur Trade—Prospects of the Census Bill—The Army Bill in Committee—An Indian Summer Campaign—The President on Georgia Reconstruction—The Funding Bill—Social and Personal.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Mr. DIXON endeavored today to bring the bill regulating the Alaska fur trade before the House, but was not successful. It required two-thirds majority to suspend the rules, but the vote he obtained lacked just four of that number. The Secretary of the Treasury is very anxious that some provision should be made for this trade, and desires the immediate action of Congress. The season for taking the seals is passing away, and no provision whatever has been made to secure any revenue to the Government. Up to this time the seals have been killed and the skins stood subject to the action of Congress. But even this law has expired, and as the Aleutes have no other means of support, they will be reduced to destitution, and Congress called on for an appropriation for their support unless they are allowed to pursue their only branch of industry.

THE STEAM-BOAT LAWS.

The House Committee on Commerce have taken no action, so far, on the bill revising and codifying the Steam-boat laws, and the probabilities are that, owing to the large amount of business before Congress yet unacted on, nothing will be done with the measure this session.

THE CENSUS.

The Joint Committee of both Houses of Congress on the Census bill has been appointed, and will go to work immediately. Senator CONKLING, Mr. BAYARD and Mr. CARPENTER represent the Senate, and, as stated last night, Gen. GARFIELD, Mr. ALLISON, and Mr. COX, the House. Numerous amendments have been handed the members of the Committee, but the probabilities are that very little change will be made in the Senate bill, and that the next census will be taken under the old law, of which Mr. CONKLING is so much enamored. The time is so short now that there is hardly any other course left, if the census is to be taken at all.

THE ARMY BILL.

The Committee on Military Affairs of the Senate considered the bill for the reduction of the army this morning, and agreed to nearly all the sections of the measure which Mr. WILSON offered. The pay sections are the same in both bills. Mr. WILSON, however, has added one or two sections, one being a provision that the present pay of the private soldiers shall continue until the 1st of June, 1871. Gen. LOGAN proposed that the army shall be reduced to 25,000 on the 1st of September. Mr. WILSON extends the time to the 1st of January.

PROGRESS WITH WORK.

Mr. ANTHONY cannot be too much commended for the rule which he offered and had adopted in the Senate some days ago. Under its operation upward of fifty bills have been passed during the last two legislative days. Thirty-one measures were passed today, which is an unusual amount of business for that usually very tardy body. Probably the most important measure passed was that from the Committee on Commerce, regulating the commerce on the Northern and North-eastern waters.

THE LOUD VS. COLE PATENT CASE.

Judge FISHER, Associate Judge of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, reversed, today, the decision of the Commissioner of Patents in the Loud vs. Cole patent case, and decided the suit in favor of LOUD. The patent was on a paddle-wheel.

INDIAN SUMMER CAMPAIGN.

Gen. SHERMAN today ordered the Fifteenth and Seventeenth Regiments of Infantry to Sioux City. Also, that the Recruiting Officer at New-York send 150 men to Fort Leavenworth. These orders are regarded as preparations for an Indian Summer campaign. Gen. SHERMAN and several of his staff will leave here next week on an inspecting tour through Montana and the other far Western Territories.

POWER OF THE SURETIES OF A CONTRACTOR.

The Second Controller ruled today that the sureties of a contractor could continue the contract after the decease of the latter, and be held the same as if they were the original contractors.

THE SOUTHERN SCHOOL SYSTEM.

Capt. GEO. B. CORSE, United States Army, has been ordered here, by the Secretary of War, from Florida, to give his knowledge and experience to the Committee on Education and Labor in reference to the school systems in the South.

PERSONAL.

Revenue Commissioner WELLS, EDWARD ATKINSON, Esq., of Boston, and CHAS. NORDHOFF, of the New-York Evening Post, had a long conversation with the President today on the subject of the tariff and taxation in general.

THE INCOME TAX.

The Conference Committee on the Income Tax resolution on the part of the Senate, is composed of Messrs. SHERMAN, Z. WILLIAMS and MORRILL, of Vermont. This guarantees a sensible decision.

THE PRESIDENT ON GEORGIA.

The President today expressed himself freely to his visitors upon the subject of reconstruction in Georgia. He regards the amendment submitted by Senator WILLIAMS as the best solution of the question, and expressed a hope that a settlement might be made with that for a basis. He is very desirous that this question shall be settled at an early day, not alone for the sake of the people of Georgia, but for the sake of the Republican party as well.

THE FUNDING AND CURRENCY BILLS.

The Ways and Means Committee today further considered the Funding bill, but reached no positive conclusions. There is little doubt, however, that the bill will be reported this week. The Bank Committee discussed the Currency bill at their special meeting today, but reached no vote.

A PLEASANT AMATEUR ENTERTAINMENT.

A charming entertainment was given here tonight for the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan Asylum, by the Amateur Theatrical Society of Washington, composed of ladies and gentlemen from the best circles of society. There were present the President, nearly every member of the Cabinet, and a very large number of other distinguished people. The plays performed were BUCKSTONE's comedy of "Leap Year," and the farce of "Popping the Question." The principal characters were remarkably well sustained, particularly those of Miss O'Leary, by Mrs. Gen. RICKETTS, who was the soul of the play; Sir Solomon Solus, by Mr. SHERMAN, and Walker, by Col. H. P. CURTIS, which were both excellent. Miss Desperate, by Miss JEFFERS, Mrs. Flowerby, by Miss JULIA SCHENCK, and Mrs. Crisp, by Miss SALLIE SCHENCK, daughters of Gen. SCHENCK, were personated with much success. In the farce Miss VIRGINIA EASTMAN as Winter Blossom, invested the scene with most admirable spirit; she was well sustained by Mr. PERCY ALDEN, of New-York, as Mr. Primrose; Mrs. RICKETTS as Miss Biffin; Miss DELAFIELD as Bobbin; Miss NELLIE FLETCHER as Ellen Murray; and Mr. THOMAS HOFF as Henry Thornton.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

THE CHINA AND JAPAN MAIL SERVICE.

Postmaster-General CRESWELL has sent a letter to Senator RAMSEY, Chairman of the Post-office Committee, giving special reasons why the mail steam-ship line between San Francisco and China and Japan should be sustained by additional Government aid. In this he shows, among other things, the large increase of the trade with China and Japan since the service was established, and concludes as follows:

"Unless the service is now increased, its abandonment must be considered as certain in case of foreign competition, which must be regarded as being in itself a certainty, provided any room is left for it. This would be a national misfortune greatly to be deplored, which, indeed, we would only begin to appreciate years hence, when the commerce of the Pacific, multiplied many fold, would be absorbed by the same people and by the same means that now monopolized the Transatlantic trade, apparently beyond our power to dispute its possession. Under the circumstances, I trust Congress will act favorably and promptly on the bill now pending, authorizing an increase of service to semi-monthly trips under the same terms and conditions as the present monthly service. I think it may be safely calculated from the record of the line that the increased duties and taxes will soon equal or exceed the amount of the subsidy paid by the mail service. Whether this be so or not, any failure to successfully maintain the important [illegible] communication with the populous countries of Western Asia which promises to add so largely to the commerce and wealth of our people, would be disastrous to the best interests of the country."

THE TRANS-CONTINENTAL RAILROAD.

The report of the Subcommittee of the Pacific Railroad Committee on the bill incorporating the Southern Transcontinental Railroad Company, and granting the right of way to lands in aid of its construction, has been printed. They say in conclusion:

"The question, therefore, of the right of a railroad company to acquire lands from the State of Texas must be decided without reference to the present State Constitution. We entertain not the least doubt of the power of the Legislature to enter into an agreement with a corporation to grant to them lands in aid of the construction of a railroad, to be carried out through the instrumentality of the State Land Office under proper provisions of the law. But, from the examination we have given the subject, we are forced to the conclusion that the Memphis, El Paso and Pacific, sometimes called the Transcontinental Railroad Company, by reason of their neglect to perform the work required of them, have lost the right to demand any more lands from Texas. We take pleasure, however, in repeating that we see no reason for supposing that the State Legislature may not hereafter set apart and appropriate lands to aid in the construction of railroads in that State as they have done heretofore. It is not to be supposed that the Convention meant for the future to prohibit the application of their rich and valuable public domain in aid of the construction of railroads and other internal improvements so necessary to Texas."

NOMINATIONS.

The following are the nominations of today:

Commodore P. Lee to be Rear-Admiral; Capt. Enoch G. Parrot to be Commodore; Commander Wm. T. Spear to be Captain; Lieut.-Commander Edmund O. Matthews to be Commander; Lieut. John McGowan to be Lieutenant-Commander; Frank Burnett to be Supervising Inspector of Steam-boats in the Fourth District; Granville Hosmer to be Coiner in the Branch Mint at Carson Valley, Nevada; John B. Kilburn to be Postmaster at Rutland, Vt.; Wm. Holland to be Postmaster at West Troy, N. Y.; James Low, Jr., to be Postmaster at Suspension Bridge.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Monday, April 25.

Mr. SHERMAN presented a petition of the Board of Aldermen and Councilmen of Cincinnati, relative to the Louisville Canal, representing the injury to commerce from the new bridge, across the Ohio River, opposite the falls, and the necessity of greater promptness in the completion of the work on the enlargement of the Louisville Canal. He asked its reference to the Committee on Appropriations, and hoped they would report an appropriation to complete the work.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Bills were introduced by Mr. SHERMAN amendatory of the law for the disposal of coal lands, &c., in the public domain, and by Mr. PRATT amendatory of the Pension Act of July 14, 1862.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

The Senate insisted on its amendments to the Income Tax bill, and Messrs. SHERMAN, WILLIAMS and MORRILL (of Vermont) were appointed a Committee of Conference.

A Committee of Conference, consisting of Messrs. CONKLING, CARPENTER and BAYARD, was also appointed on the Census bill.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. SUMNER, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported a bill making an appropriation to carry into execution a recommendation of the President of the United States in pursuance of an award made by a joint commission between the United States and Peru.

THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.

Mr. STEWART, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill covering the subject of the enforcement of the Fifteenth Amendment.

It provides that all citizens of the United States who are or shall be otherwise qualified by law to vote at any election by the people in any State, Territory, District, County, City, parish, township, School-district, municipality or other territorial subdivision shall be entitled and allowed to vote at all such elections without distinction of race, color, or previous condition of servitude, any law, custom, usage or regulation of any State or Territory, or by or under its authority to the contrary notwithstanding. Also, that if the laws of any State or Territory shall require any act to be done as a pre-requisite to voting, it shall be the duty of the officers of the law in said State or Territory to give equal opportunity to all citizens of the United States to perform such pre-requisite, and any such official failing so to do shall forfeit and pay $500 to the person aggrieved thereby, to be recovered by an action at law, and in case of conviction shall also be fined not less than $500, and imprisoned from one month to one year. The offer of any citizen for whom such pre-requisite is required is to be deemed a performance in law of such act, if such act fails to be carried into execution by reason of the wrongful act or omission of the said officers charged with the duty of receiving or permitting such performance of such offer. The same penalties are prescribed against any person who shall hinder or attempt to prevent any citizen from performing such pre-requisite. Persons deprived of any office, except that of member of Congress or State Legislature, by reason of the violation of the foregoing provision, may recover possession through the United States Courts, which are given concurrent jurisdiction in all such cases. The United States District Courts shall have, exclusively of the State Courts, cognizance of all crimes and offenses against the provisions of this act. All the officers of the United States are required, under a penalty of $1,000, to institute and enforce proceedings thereunder, and the President is authorized to employ the land and naval forces or the militia to enforce its execution.

BILLS PASSED.

The calendar of bills was then taken up, and those only to which no objection was made were passed. Among those were the following:

A bill to carry into effect a decree of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New-York in the case of the British steamer Labuan; a bill extending for three years the time for revising and consolidating the statutes of the United States, being a substitute for the House bill; a bill to pay officers of the First Brigade of colored troops, raised under authority of the War Department, for the difference between the dates of their commissions and actual muster, occasioned by the delay in recruiting a brigade in the South; to renew a grant of lands for the benefit of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company; giving priority in Courts of the United States to cases to which a State is a party, or where the execution of the Revenue laws of a State may be stayed by judicial order or process, directing the Court on sufficient reason shown, to give such cause preference over all civil causes between private parties. The joint resolution for the repair of the inclosure of the cemetery at Harper's Ferry, West Va. The joint resolution, donating captured cannon for the purpose of constructing a monument at West Point, N. Y. The joint resolution, to enable the Court of Claims to hear and determine the claims of George F. Werborn, a subject of the King of Prussia.

SETTLEMENT OF ARMY AND NAVY ACCOUNTS.

The bill to authorize the settlement of the accounts of officers of the army and navy was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Messrs. SHERMAN and TRUMBULL remarked that some legislation was necessary to allow disbursing officers to close up their long-standing accounts, but the present bill was not sufficiently guarded, and that the accounts, in some instances, covered an aggregate of one hundred millions of dollars worth of property seized and transferred during the war.

Mr. WILSON said that while amounts involved in the settlements were very large, the actual balances were but trivial. He said that the Pay Department had paid out in consequence of the war more than a thousand millions of dollars, and yet the total amount of loss to the Government would not exceed a quarter of a million as compared with the loss sustained in the war of 1812 and the Mexican war. This exhibit was a most gratifying one, the war of 1812 having occasioned a loss in the Pay Department of two millions and the Mexican war several hundred thousand dollars.

IMMIGRANT LABOR CONTRACTS.

The bill to make the importation of immigrants under labor contracts unlawful was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor.

POSTAL RESPONSIBILITY.

The bill for the relief of the Postmaster at Ilion, N. Y., to allow him, in settlement of his account, for stamps lost or stolen, was objected to by Mr. EDMUNDS, upon the general ground that such officials should be held responsible for the safe custody of public property. This they were paid for, and those who were unwilling to assume the necessary responsibility ought to retire from the public service.

PRIVATE BILLS.

A large number of private bills were passed, and the Senate at 5 o'clock adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. GARFIELD presented a joint resolution of the Ohio Legislature looking to the passage of a law for the surrender of the national road to the counties in which it is located.

Mr. POMEROY presented resolutions of the Iowa Legislature concerning settlers on the Des Moines River lands, and Mr. SMYTHE, of Iowa, introduced like resolutions for a grant of lands for railroad purposes in regard to the Fox and Wisconsin Rivers.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Bills were introduced and referred as follows:

By Mr. STARKWEATHER—In reference to limiting the liability of ship-owners.

By Mr. BARNUM—To change the port of entry for the District of Fairfield, Connecticut.

By Mr. WHEELER—Granting lands for a railroad from Columbia River to Great Salt Lake.

By Mr. O'NEILL—Vesting the powers of United States Commissioners in registrars in bankruptcy.

By Mr. BUCK—Granting right of way to a railroad from Alabama to the Pacific coast.

By Mr. BULKLEY—Granting lands for the Selma and Fernandina Railroad Company.

By Mr. HAYS—To annul all contracts for the hire or purchase of slaves.

By Mr. SARGENT—For the relief of the people of the United States by reducing taxation, providing that on the 30th of June next there shall be a reduction of fifteen per cent. on internal taxes and ten per cent. on import duties, except on spirits, tobacco and cigars; that no income or salary derived after Dec. 31, 1869, shall be taxable, and abolishing all special licenses except on distillers, brewers, and [illegible] tobacco, snuff and cigars.

By Mr. WILSON, of Minnesota—For a railroad from [illegible].

By Mr. FITCH—To grant lands for the Oregon branch of the Pacific Railroad, and for a railroad from Portland to Astoria and McMinnville, Oregon.

By Mr. TAFFE—Granting lands for the Omaha and North-western Railroad.

By Mr. ARNELL—To provide for the settlement of accounts between Southern railroad corporations and the United States Government, and for the collection of balances due from such corporations.

By Mr. JUDD—To reduce and lighten the burden of taxation.

By Mr. FARNSWORTH—To charter the American and Holland Ocean Cable Company; also, to revise, consolidate and amend the statutes relating to the Post-office Department.

By Mr. WELLS—For the survey of the Mississippi River from the mouth of the Missouri to the mouth of the Meramac.

By Mr. STRICKLAND—Granting lands for a railroad from Ontonagon to the Michigan State line.

By Mr. CONNER—To regulate trade and commerce between the several States.

By Mr. ADAMS—Amendatory of the act of March 16, 1868, to facilitate the settlement of pay-master accounts.

By Mr. MCKEE—To revive the act of Aug. 11, 1856, granting lands, for railroad purposes, to Mississippi.

By Mr. MERCUR—Changing the standard weights of silver coin.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolutions as follows were offered:

By Mr. GIBSON—Directing the Secretary of the Treasury to cause inquiry to be made relative to the trade between the United States and the British North American dependencies. Over under the rules.

By Mr. MCKENZIE—Calling on the President for a statement as to moneys paid into the Treasury on account of property seized and sold for taxes due to the United States under the act of June 7, 1862. Over under the rules.

By Mr. BOOKER—That the honor and good faith of the Government are bound to the payment of loyal citizens of the South for property of every description taken from them for the use of the Government. Over under the rules—60 to 90.

Mr. WOODWARD offered a resolution for the building of an additional bath-room in the Capitol for members. Tabled.

By Mr. CESSNA—Instructing the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions to report a bill providing pensions for all the surviving officers and soldiers of the war of 1812. Adopted.

By Mr. STILES—Calling for information as to army officers on duty in Washington. Over under the rules.

TAXES AND THE TARIFF.

Mr. AYER offered the following:

Whereas, The Secretary of the Treasury estimates the Customs receipts of the Government for the next fiscal year at $185,000,000, the Internal Revenue receipts at $175,000,000, and the excess of total receipts over expenditures at $102,000,000; and

Whereas, The public welfare demands such prompt reduction of the burdens of taxation as shall be consistent with the maintenance of public credit; and

Whereas, It is both impracticable and inexpedient to make a general readjustment of the tariff during the present session of Congress; therefore

Resolved, That in the opinion of this House the Tariff bill now pending in Committee of the Whole ought to be indefinitely postponed.

The Speaker, in deciding a point of order made by Mr. SCHENCK, said that if the resolution proposed to postpone the Tariff bill it would not be in order, because it was a well-known parliamentary principle that nothing can be postponed that is not under consideration. It was a mere expression of opinion that it ought to be postponed.

The House refused to second the previous question by 28 to 110, and the resolution went over.

THE ABSENTEE QUESTION AGAIN.

The morning hour having expired, the question came up as to the members who were absent on the call of the House on Friday night, and Mr. SCHENCK offered on that subject a resolution:

That each of the absentees under the call on Friday last who have not yet been excused, be fined $10; that any one who may believe he has a good excuse to offer, may present it to the House, and that, except for the purpose of hearing such excuses, all further proceedings under the call be dispensed with.

The previous question was seconded by 109 to 22.

Mr. ELDRIDGE made the point of order that members under arrest had no right to vote.

The Speaker said there was no evidence of their voting.

The resolution was then adopted.

On motion of Mr. SCHENCK, Mr. FERRY was excused on account of illness.

Mr. KNOTT asked to be excused, stating that he had not been absent for an hour since the session commenced, and that he had been only delayed on his way to the Capitol on Friday night by stopping to purchase books which he required.

Mr. KNOTT was accordingly excused.

Mr. KELLOGG moved to dispense with all further proceedings and that all fines be remitted. [Cries of "No, no."]

The Speaker ruled the motion to be out of order.

On motion of Mr. BUCKLEY Mr. HEFLIN was excused on account of illness.

On motion of Mr. ELDRIDGE Mr. MORGAN was excused, he having been ill in bed on Friday evening.

The question gave rise to considerable discussion, Mr. MORGAN not asking to be excused, but alluding to the fact of the absence on Thursday evening of the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means and the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DAWES stated that he was not absent on Thursday night, though he was not in the hall at the time of the adjournment, and remarked that he was not responsible for the Naval Appropriation bill then under consideration, but was opposed to it.

Mr. SCHENCK admitted that he was absent on Thursday, having gone to Mount Vernon with his Ohio friends. It was the only day of vacation he had taken during the whole session; but if there had been a call of the House and he had been fined he would have paid it without complaint.

Mr. LYNCH participated in the discussion, and repeated the assertion about the absence of Messrs. DAWES and SCHENCK on Thursday night, and commented on the ludicrous appearance of those gentlemen the next evening—one in the capacity of a judge and the other as prosecuting attorney. He had come up to the House on Friday evening, but had gone to the Committee-room to attend the business, in which he felt his time would be better occupied than in indulging in the amusement of the House.

Mr. SCHENCK repeated that if he had been fined for his absence on Thursday, he would have paid the fine without whining about it. As to his acting as prosecuting attorney, he stated that it was not he who made the motion for a call of the House.

Mr. DAWES asked Mr. LYNCH what he meant in referring to him as acting as judge on that occasion.

Mr. LYNCH replied that the gentleman (Mr. DAWES) was in the chair, hearing excuses, and that the circumstance struck him as ludicrous after that gentleman's absence the night before.

Mr. DAWES said that he had already stated that he was not absent on Thursday night, and inquired whether the gentleman (Mr. LYNCH) had any respect for what belonged to a gentleman.

Mr. LYNCH replied that he had great respect for the gentleman himself, and therefore he must have respect for what belonged to a gentleman.

The discussion was carried on in the same tone and temper for a considerable time.

Finally, Mr. LYNCH was, on motion of Mr. HAMILTON, of Florida, excused.

On motion of Mr. CULLOM, Mr. TAFFE was excused on account of illness.

Mr. JONES, of Kentucky, said that his absence had been accounted for on Friday night, and that he had then been excused.

On motion of Mr. STEVENSON Mr. STRADER was excused.

On motion of Mr. BINGHAM Mr. GARFIELD was excused, he having been engaged on Friday evening in entertaining members of the Ohio Legislature.

Mr. CULLOM moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution remitting all the fines imposed.

On a count by tellers the vote was 79 to 38; but Mr. DAWES having called for the yeas and nays, the rules were not suspended—yeas 86, nays 54, two-thirds not voting in favor thereof.

Mr. SCHENCK gave notice that he would, daily, after the reading of the journal, move for a call of the House, so as to ascertain how many persons were present, and who they were. The matter here ended.

THE PUBLIC LANDS.

Mr. FITCH moved to suspend the rules, so as to give next Thursday to the consideration of the business of the Committee on Public Lands. Rejected.

ALASKA FUR TRADE.

Mr. DIXON moved to suspend the rules so as to consider a substitute for the Senate bill to prevent the extermination of the fur-bearing animals of Alaska. Yeas 111, nays 59; less than two-thirds in the affirmative.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were presented as follows:

By Mr. UPSON—Of ninety-four business firms and companies of Cleveland, Ohio, against the passage of the Funding bill.

By Mr. STARKWEATHER—Of citizens of Groton, Conn., for compensation for property taken by the United States; also, of fire-arms manufacturers for increase of the tariff on shot-guns; also, for the abolition of the duties on tea and coffee.

A MONUMENT TO THE LATE GEN. RAWLINS.

Mr. LOGAN, by unanimous consent, introduced a joint resolution appointing Gen. GILES A. SMITH, Gen. JOHN E. SMITH and Gen. ELI S. PARKER a Commission to procure an appropriate burial place for the remains of Gen. JOHN A. RAWLINS, late Secretary of War, and that the cost of the same be paid out of the contingent fund of the War Department.

Mr. COX suggested a modification to provide for the erection of a suitable monument over the grave.

Mr. LOGAN modified the resolution accordingly.

Mr. VOORHEES remarked that the remains of Gen. RAWLINS were lying in a public vault in a grave-yard in Washington.

The joint resolution, as modified, was passed.

TREASURY COLLECTIONS.

Mr. PETERS moved to suspend the rules for the purpose of reporting from the Committee on the Judiciary, and passing a joint resolution to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to collect wrecked and abandoned property, derelict claims and dues belonging to the United States. The rules were suspended and the joint resolution passed by 99 to 47.

THE TARIFF.

The House then, at 3:35, went into Committee of the Whole on the Tariff bill, Mr. WHEELER in the chair, commencing at the following paragraph as amended:

On all iron, in slabs, blooms, loops, or other forms, less finished than bars or more advanced than pig-iron, except castings, $8 per ton; provided that on all ends, clippings, punchings, turning and borings of new iron, fit only to be manufactured into ingots or bars, a duty shall be paid of $11 per ton.

Mr. CONGER moved an amendment, forfeiting such clippings or punchings, &c., entered for any articles of manufacture. Agreed to.

Bars.

The next paragraph was: On iron bars rolled or hammered, comprising flat bars not less than one and a half nor more than four inches wide; not less than half an inch nor more than two inches thick, one cent per pound.

Mr. ALLISON moved to amend by making the description read: Not less than three-eights of an inch thick.

After discussion by Messrs. Allison, Schenck, Brooks of New-York, Kelley and Maynard, the amendment was rejected.

Mr. COX moved to reduce the rate to half a cent per pound.

After discussion the amendment was rejected by a vote of 40 to 77.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, moved to make the duty $18 per ton instead of one cent per pound.

After a general discussion, participated in by Messrs. Brooks of New-York, Kelley, Burchard, Hill, Stevenson and Marshall, without disposing of the amendment the Committee rose.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Mr. INGERSOLL introduced a joint resolution donating four pieces of condemned cannon to the Ladies' Monument Association at Peoria, Ill., which was passed.

Mr. SCHENCK gave notice that he would ask for night sessions to-morrow, (Wednesday and Thursday,) for the Tariff bill.

Mr. BURDETT, from the Election Committee, reported in the election case from the Fourth District of Louisiana, that MICHAEL RYAN is not entitled to the seat and that J. P. NEWSHAM is.

Mr. CALKIN offered a resolution calling for information as to the amounts expended in the improvement of the Boston and New-York Harbors, the Delaware Breakwater and the mouth of the Mississippi River respectively; which was adopted.

The House then, at 5 o'clock, adjourned.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAM-SHIP BIENVILLE.

The steam-ship Bienville, from Havana April 20, reached this port yesterday. Purser A. T. ALEXANDER has our thanks for courtesies.

Further News from Puerto Principe—Unreliable Stories—Battle at Canto Bajo—The Phillips Affair.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Wednesday, April 20, 1870.

The Secretary of the Captain-General publishes in the Gaceta, dated Puerto Principe, 14th inst., a résumé of the operations which have taken place in the Cinco Villas. The news is naturally from Spanish sources, and fails to give the Cuban account, but at present it is almost impossible to acquire even the most insignificant item of information from Cuban sources; nothing but rumors, and those of an exceeding unreliable nature, are circulating. The Secretary says that Col. VERGEL met two hundred insurgents near Las Minas, and that he fired two shells at them, killing two men. This indicates that VERGEL did not attack the insurgents, but the Secretary forgets to say so. The same column destroyed several entrenchments, and burnt some huts during the following four days, and found some saints' pictures in the mountains, but saw no insurgents. Col. FAJARDO has strengthened Fort Parra, families from the insurgent districts settling under its shelter. Mr. Secretary adds that thirty-two negro slaves also presented themselves, stating that they "preferred the slavery of their masters to the cruel treatment they had received from the insurgents." Some private letters announce the same fact, and if it is true, it proves that these negroes only deserve cruel treatment for being so stupid and cowardly as to allow themselves to be ill-treated. The negroes are sufficiently strong to defend themselves against Cubans and Spaniards, and if they only unite and work together, will be enabled to dictate terms to either party, and be the casting vote and power of the revolution, which can only be productive of beneficial results to them. The Secretary also states, according to the information obtained from those who surrender at different places, that the insurgents appeal to extreme measures to prolong the war, and that they oblige everybody, without distinction, to take up arms; but that, at the same time, they distrust each other, and when the men go out of sight of their leaders, their arms are taken away from them. The hard work they have to undergo, and the cruel punishment they have to suffer, have caused many families to take refuge in the mountains, and increase the hatred which they entertain toward those who prevent them from returning to their homes. The disagreements and accusations among said leaders increase with every defeat. But the next information which the very positive and able Secretary communicates is the most startling of any. It may be true and it may not be. The Secretary himself would not tell an untruth, but he may be the willing instrument of the propagation of a report which, if founded, is of the utmost importance. The insurgents, he says, do not heed or obey CESPEDES any longer, and act as if he was not in existence, having offered the Presidency to Mr. FORTUN, a new man in the history of the revolution. The Secretary says it appears that Mr. FORTUN has declined the honor, which the persecution of the troops makes very unenviable. Perhaps Mr. FORTUN was offered the position by a few dozen of disaffected patriots of that stamp so peculiar to all Spanish-American countries, where every party, no matter how united at the outset, soon splinters—perhaps all having the same end in view, but being internally divided, owing to personal likes and dislikes. But if this notice is not considered sufficient for the partisans of Spain, the next undoubtedly will be, even if only half or quarter of it turns out to be true.

A BATTLE AT CANTO BAJO.

The Spanish gun-boat Echo arrived at Nuevitas on the evening of the 13th, bringing the important information of a battle having been fought between the forces of MAXIMO GOMEZ and MODESTO DIAZ and the Spanish battalions of SAN QUINTIN and BAILEN at the crossing of Canto Bajo. Full particulars of the engagement are yet wanting, the Spanish report stating that the Cubans intended to cross VALMASEDA's line at Canto Abajo, proposing to invade the jurisdiction of Bayamo and to attack the Spaniards in the rear, but that the two Spanish battalions not only stood their ground firmly but had gained a very decisive victory over the insurgents, killing 170, and the remainder running away in utter confusion, the troops driving them into the river, where the larger portion was drowned. Perhaps when full particulars arrive, even from Spanish sources, the aspect of the above affair, however, may change. If the account is true, however, the Spaniards can concentrate all their forces toward the Camaguey, and even relieve the garrisons in portions of the Eastern Department. A correspondent of the Voz gives the number of Cubans killed as 180, and the wounded at the same figure, stating also that the Cubans, possessed of a terrible panic, ran away, disbanded, and that the larger portion were drowned in the river. The steamer Montezuma, I should add, has arrived, and the news she brings only corroborates, in some particulars, the account of this battle, but in the main affirms entirely the contrary. MODESTO DIAZ having massed the different corps under his orders, marched to Canto Abajo, where a portion of his command engaged the Spanish battalions, the engagement lasting several hours, while the largest part of his army crossed the Canto River, cutting VALMASEDA's lines. That portion of the insurgent army which attempted to pass at Canto Abajo was badly defeated and dispersed for the time being, the troops having the advantage of intrenchments. The insurgents, however, crossed later in the day, closely pursued by the troops. VALMASEDA finding his stronghold (Bayamo) threatened, arrived there by forced marches, and advancing his lines from Manati to Las Tunas, in a westerly direction. After the retreat of the insurgents from Corralillo, at Canto Abajo, they united with the other forces and made a flank movement toward the Sierra in order to attack the Capitania del Horno. This they effected on the 15th.

HORNO,

the seat of a Capitania de Partido, is a point of some strategical importance defending the principal road to the Sierra. El Horno has a garrison of [illegible] Cuban volunteers, twenty-three Spanish volunteers and nineteen soldiers. The Cubans attacked fiercely, and in less than an hour had captured the place, killing the garrison, with the exception of eleven volunteers, who escaped, and seven who were taken prisoners. The insurgent loss was fifty-one killed and twice that number wounded. If they win a few more battles like this, they will cease to exist. The Cuban losses between the 13th and 17th amount to over three hundred men killed out of a total of about fourteen hundred, not including the wounded. The Spaniards have also about two hundred killed and a large number of wounded. The Spanish battalions of Bailen, San Quintin, España, Matanzas and Valmaseda, inclusive of about three hundred counter guerrillas and about four hundred volunteers, are pursuing the insurgents actively, and minor skirmishes, and perhaps a regular engagement will be the event of the next few days. The Spaniards outnumber their opponents, who are the flower of the insurgent army in the Eastern Department, and are commanded by the most noted leaders, such as MODESTO DIAZ, MARIANO, (who has been killed twenty-seven times by the Spaniards,) FIGUEREDO, AGUILERA and GOMEZ.

THE PHILLIPS AFFAIR.

Mr. PHILLIPS, the former United States Vice-Consul at Santiago de Cuba, and of whose case and escape I furnished you full particulars at the time, arrived at Santiago de Cuba from San Domingo on the afternoon of the 8th inst. Admiral POOR will at once inquire into the motives which caused Mr. PHILLIPS' flight, and to demand satisfaction if it is found that the life of Mr. PHILLIPS had really been in danger. Mr. PHILLIPS is on board of the Severn, and will therefore be enabled to give Admiral POOR such information as may enable that gentleman to elicit full and complete particulars regarding the whole affair. Admiral POOR is a very prudent and intelligent gentleman, and therefore no fear is entertained that he will act either hastily or unwisely. Should the citizens of Santiago de Cuba have committed the outrage with the alleged threats of murder, it will be necessary to demand full and complete satisfaction. QUASIMODO.

EUROPEAN NEWS BY MAIL.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAM-SHIP CITY OF BROOKLYN.

The Inman steam-ship City of Brooklyn, which left Liverpool April 14, and Queenstown April 15, reached this port yesterday, with three days later news than was at hand by the America.

The Chamber of Agriculture Journal says: "Mild weather and grateful rains are working wonders in most parts of England. Vegetation is shooting rapidly; pastures have changed from a dead and frost-nipped condition into bright green herbage within the short space of three or four days; and young clovers are springing up with specially good and equable plants. The wheats, more backward, thin and weak than they have been known for years, are only just coming into readiness for the hoe; the roller and presser have been universally in requisition for solidifying the dry and dusty soil about the plants, and the crop has suffered severely from drought following upon an excessive rainfall. Beans and early peas are coming up well; both oats and barley have this year a good seed-bed; and we do not remember a more favorable season or a better mold for potato setting, which is now nearly completed.

The Indépendance, of Brussels, says: "One of the most learned historians of Germany, Dr. JAFFE, has just committed suicide at Wittemburg with a pistol. He was born in 1817, of Jewish parents. After having passed his degrees in medicine he devoted himself to the study of the history of the Middle Ages, and became one of the principal contributors to the work entitled Monumenta Germaniæ Historica. He afterward published the Regesta Romanorum Pontificum and the Bibliotheca Rerum Germanicarum. His great merit caused him to be nominated Professor at the University of Berlin, he being the first Jew to whom such a post was confided in Prussia. Two years ago he embraced Christianity, and was subsequently so harassed by the calumnious attacks of his former co-religionists that a profound melancholy took possession of his mind, and led him to put an end to his life."

In the sitting of the French Senate on April 12, M. DEVIENNE presented the report of the Committee on the Senatus Consultum. The Committee considered it expedient to state that the bills due to the initiative of the Emperor may be presented either to the Senate or the Legislative Body. The Committee did not wish to decide the question of the election of Mayors, and therefore left this subject to the domain of legislation. They proposed to add to article 15 a paragraph establishing the irremovability of the Magistracy, and in article 19 proposed to replace the first paragraph by the following: "The Emperor nominates and dismisses the Ministers." The Committee rejected the idea of the election of the Senate by universal suffrage as being a Republican method, incompatible with monarchical institutions. The Committee raised no objection to articles 5 and 13, and considered the right of appeal to the people as essentially inherent to Democratic government. This right, moreover, it was of opinion must be absolute and free from all qualifications. The consecration of the Senatus Consultum by a plebiscitum met with the Committee's approval. The report was received with unanimous applause, and the discussion was fixed for April 14.

PIERRE BONAPARTE.

Letter from the Principal Offender to a Witness in His Favor.

The Avenir de la Corse publishes the following letter from Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE, addressed to M. DE LA ROCCA, one of the witnesses for the defense at the Tours trial:

PARIS, April 2, 1870.

MY DEAR MONSIEUR DE LA ROCCA: It would be altogether impossible for me to answer all the letters and telegrams which I receive from all points of France and foreign countries. And, above all, it would be impossible for me to reply to them with the deep emotion and profound gratitude which I feel for so much precious testimony from the noble sympathy of honest hearts. I beg you to be the interpreter of my sentiments toward these generous friends (let me call them sincerely by that name) whose equitable appreciation confirming the sovereign verdict of the national jury is my best consolation. Thanks to the courageous writers who have been good enough to defend me. They are choice spirits, intelligent champions of right, from whose manly inspirations I could have expected no less. I bow with respectful gratitude to those leaders of society whose rank and services enhance the affectionate expressions with which they honor me. Our valiant soldiers, both officers and men, will understand, I hope, without any insistance on my part, what an immense consolation I have found in their cordial expressions, so conformable to their greatness of soul, and their patriotic attachment to the Emperor's family. It is with tears in my eyes and with pride and sympathy, that I here desire to shake hands collectively with those children of my native isle, with those patriotic Corsicans ever faithful to heroic traditions, whose blood has flowed freely whenever an enemy of France was to be fought. Let us, the intrepid children of my department, whether military or civil, receive the tribute of the new debt imposed upon my old devotion by their fraternal attitude, in the face of the severe trial just undergone by him who had the great honor to be their representative, and still represents (in the Council General) one of their most illustrious cantons. Thanks to the officers, cadets and pupils of the Batavian army. The glorious House of Orange deserves magnanimous servants, who know how to do homage as well to the memory of NAPOLEON as to the good King LOUIS. Thanks to those Belgian officers who have done me the honor to write to me. Although proud of their autonomy, they are almost Frenchmen. As a commander of orders of the venerable founder of your dynasty I am tempted to exclaim, am I not your comrade! Thanks a thousand times to those martyrs of duty and fidelity to the flag, the Hanoverian officers whose congratulations are among the most precious that I have received. Are they not the champions of heroism and misfortune, these companions in arms of GEORGE V., the modern John of Luxembourg! Let me offer respectful homage to those noble women who have deigned to shed the balm of their sweet words on him who is sufficiently avenged on calumny by the sympathy of such wives and such mothers. Thanks, gratitude, imperishable remembrances, once more to all right-thinking hearts, to all those humane and generous characters who have held out to me a friendly hand in misfortune. One of my counsel said—"I have come to an age when my powers begin to fail." I myself have almost come to that. But I do hope that before my powers leave me altogether, I may prove otherwise than by words that I have never been wanting in the will to render myself useful to my country in the first place, as my duty is, and next to every good cause, if I could.

PIERRE NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.

THE BYRON BANQUET.

Celebration of the Poet's Birthday—A Festive Gathering at Delmonico's—Speeches by Cassius M. Clay, John G. Saxe, Hon. Wm. Preston and Others.

About fifty persons sat down last evening to a banquet at Delmonico's to celebrate the birthday of Lord BYRON. Judge JONES presided, and at his right were Hon. WM. PRESTON, of Georgia, formerly Minister to Spain, and Rev. Dr. BURROWS, of Virginia; at his left JOHN G. SAXE and Judge SMITH, with their wives; while at the foot of the table sat CASSIUS M. CLAY, and along the board other gentlemen foremost in the various professions, together with a fair sprinkling of ladies.

After the good things of the table had been amply discussed, the President introduced the intellectual treat with a few remarks on the rapid growth and development of the country. The health of the President of the United States and the Queen of Great Britain was then drunk, after which a poem on the "Genius of BYRON" was read by A. H. H. DAWSON, in the absence of the author, Mr. A. W. AUSTIN. The toast "Our Country" was then announced and responded to by Mr. W. J. HILL, who sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and Mr. CASSIUS M. CLAY, who spoke of the great advantages and blessings possessed by this country as compared with other nations. After speaking in the highest terms of the natural advantages of the country, and the high character of the people, Mr. CLAY said:

"But these rose-colors are not without their accompanying shades. We must denounce the virulence of party spirit, the personalities, falsehoods and sensational utterances of the Press, the stealthy progress of corruption in official life, the election of Judges, who look all the time steadily at the source of power; the frequent elections with their excitements and demoralization; and above all the abuse of the ballot, which saps the very foundations of our liberties, and makes Republicanism impossible. We need a permanent judicial, civil and foreign service, and responsible ministers of the Cabinet in the Houses of Congress. Our Anglo-Saxon good sense will bring about these and like reforms. We must win the nations by the glory of our example—lead the van not only in physical development, but in higher art and more solid literature, patrons of genius, civilization and Christianity, till the nations shall become one federal republic, and all the inhabitants of the earth unite as men and brothers."

Hon. WM. PRESTON spoke on "British Literature," which he contended was equal to that of any people since the days of Greece. An essential element of English literature, as of all modern civilization, was progress, and he believed it had steadily gained in polish and exquisite finish from the days of DRYDEN to those of TENNYSON.

JOHN G. SAXE responded on behalf of the "Poets and Poetry of America" in a characteristic speech full of wit and humorous anecdote. The average American, he said, while he is the most matter-of-fact being in the world, is the most imaginative, and combines in himself the characteristics of all other nationalities. Nowhere was the finest literature better appreciated than in this country, and it was a notorious fact that the best English writers found a majority of their readers on this side of the Atlantic. He closed with a glowing tribute to the leading American poets, in which he said that BRYANT, in his green old age, had given us the English Iliad of all time, and what he had done for the Grecian bard LONGFELLOW had done for the great poet of Italy.

The remaining toasts were devoted to the merits and beauties of particular works of BYRON, Col. AKERS responding to "Greece," DOUGLAS CAMPBELL to the "Prisoner of Chillon," J. B. HODGSKIN to "Hours of Idleness," ROBERT ANDERSON to "The Corsair," and A. J. SPENCER to the "Doge of Venice."

Another Missing Man.

JACOB A. WALLING, of No. 684 Eighth-avenue, a brother of Inspector WALLING, of the Central Police, has been added to the long list of mysteriously missing persons. Sunday morning, about 4 o'clock, he left home to go on board the steamer William Tilamer, lying at Hoboken, on which he was employed as an engineer, and he has not since been heard from. He never reached the steamer, and although he is well known to all the ferrymen, he was not seen by any one of them so far as is known. No theory to account for disappearance can be constructed except the supposition that he fell into the river and was drowned. On the other hand he was an excellent swimmer and such an accident could hardly have happened where it would not have been witnessed by some one. He has a wife and five children, from whom he has never been absent a single night, and his domestic habits render his absence the more unaccountable. Inspector WALLING begs that any one having any knowledge of the missing man will communicate with him at Police Headquarters, No. 300 Mulberry-street.

Ladies Desire what Men Admire.—And this little thing is beauty. What do we say is beautiful? A transparent complexion and a luxuriant head of hair. What will produce these? HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM will make any lady of thirty appear but twenty; and LYON'S KATHAIRON will keep every hair in its place, and make it grow like the April grass. It prevents the hair from turning gray, eradicates dandruff, and is the finest hair dressing in the world, and at only half ordinary cost. If you want to get rid of sallowness, pimples, ring marks, moth patches, &c., don't forget the MAGNOLIA BALM, ladies.

Elegance and Comfort exist throughout the AMERICAN HOUSE, BOSTON. The hotel is still kept by the veteran host Lewis Rice, whose supervision for a quarter of a century has rendered this house so popular.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Yesterday was not marked by any activity in real estate matters. The Exchange Salesroom was poorly attended, and only two sales took place. STANLEY DAY sold the three-story and basement brown-stone high-stoop modern dwelling-house, situated on the south side of West Twentieth-street, 449 feet 6 inches east of Ninth-avenue, lot 17.8x91.11, for $13,000. A referee sale was made by D. M. SEAMAN of the house on the west side of Fiftieth-street, 321 feet west of First-avenue, the lot 16x100.5. The bidding on this property was exceedingly slow and small. The advances on each bid did not amount to more than $5 and $10. The property was finally knocked down for $12,580. The sales today at the Exchange, as advertised, are large and important; and in addition, JOHN R. PITKIN will today begin the sale of 1,500 lots at Woodhaven Centre. This property is eight miles distant from the City and three miles from the Howard House, East New-York. Many of the sites offered are very desirable.

To-morrow A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BROTHER are to sell on the premises, at Passaic, N. J., thirty village lots of different sizes. They are located within a short distance of the depot, and are bounded by High, Howard and Bond streets, respectively. The sale will be absolute, and will positively take place.

JOHN MCCLAVE sold yesterday at private sale four lots on the south side of One Hundred and Eleventh-street, between Riverside Park and the Boulevard, seventy-five feet west from the latter, for $17,000. The lots are 25x100 each, and are necessary to complete the Boulevard lots.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

A HOUSE AT A GREAT BARGAIN.

MUCH CHEAPER THAN TO RENT,

AND MOSTLY PAID FOR IN WHAT

WOULD OTHERWISE BE LOST IN RENT.

Two elegant and most commodious Houses, with all city conveniences, and more too—with pleasant grounds—in a high and very healthful locality—with excellent neighbors all around—near Depots from which NINETEEN TRAINS a DAY will run EACH WAY after May 1, between 5½ A. M. and midnight, thus bringing the occupants as near to all places of evening amusement, and nearer to the business part of the City, than is any place in New-York City above 50th-st.—and by a much superior mode of conveyance. These houses were erected by a gentleman of leisure and building experience, adjacent to his own residence, and under his own eye, and with great economy in the wholesale cash purchase of all materials. They really cost less than GOLD RATES. To desirable families they will be sold at cost, with a very low estimate for the land, and on terms of payment that will make it CHEAPER for any one to BUY than to PAY RENT. Only 10 to 25 per cent. cash will be needed for the first payment, and the balance in installments about equivalent to the rent of such houses. PRICES: One, $6,500; one, $9,885; and one $17,500. For further particulars, get descriptive sheet at American Agriculturist Office, No. 245 Broadway. Also go and SEE the houses; they are worth looking at.

WETMORE'S IRON-YARD,
To close a business.
ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO.
Will sell at auction
On THURSDAY, April 28,
At 12 o'clock, at the Exchange Sales-room, No. 111 Broadway, New-York:

One-half the block corner of Adams and Plymouth sts., in the City of Brooklyn, being 115 feet on Plymouth-st., 425 feet on Adams-st. to bulkhead line, with pier built 340 feet long and 50 feet wide on pier line, equal with water right to thirty lots. This property has been occupied a number of years as a bonded storage-yard. The ground filled in is equal to ten lots, one-half covered by sheds, and the pier and bulk-head give 900 square feet of dock front, making it, with its accessibility to New-York by different ferries, very desirable for any business requiring facilities for discharging and loading vessels and storage of goods, or for manufacturing purposes. There is of upland about 27,680 feet, of water right about 47,415 feet, making a total of 75,095 feet, or about thirty lots. The pier is 40 feet wide for 164 feet 7 inches, and 50 feet wide for 167 feet. Total length of pier, 331 feet 7 inches. Right to fill out to bulkhead line 192 feet 1 inch by 115 feet 3 inches. Two large platform scales and two railway tracks within the yard will be sold with the property.

First Mortgage Bonds of the Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad Company.

These bonds are part of the first and only issue of the Company for $1,000,000, covering its entire property, and are at the rate of $13,700 per mile. Of the whole amount $600,000 have been already placed, leaving but $400,000 to be sold. They are 7 per cent. coupon bonds due in 1897, interest payable 1st January and July in New-York. The Road is in operation. It is 73 miles long, extending from La Porte on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern to Peru, where it connects with the Toledo, Wabash and Western and the Peru and Indianapolis Roads. It runs through one of the finest sections of Indiana, and makes a connecting link in the best through line from Chicago to Indianapolis, and thence to Cincinnati and Louisville.

We confidently offer these bonds as a desirable security to investors, AS THE NET EARNINGS OF THE ROAD FROM THE OPENING HAVE BEEN IN EXCESS OF THE INTEREST ON ITS BONDED DEBT, AND ARE CONSTANTLY INCREASING. Besides it is designed to extend the Road to Lake Michigan at New Buffalo or Michigan City the coming season, which will also greatly increase its earnings.

FINANCIAL.

INDIANAPOLIS, BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY
SEVEN PER CENT. GOLD LOAN.

The bonds are in denominations of $1,000 each, secured by a first mortgage on 205 miles of road, from Indianapolis, the largest city and most important railroad center in the State of Indiana, to the City of Pekin, in Illinois.

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY MILES of the line are now IN FULL OPERATION, equipped with new first-class rolling stock, and already EARNING MUCH MORE THAN THE INTEREST ON THE WHOLE ISSUE OF BONDS. The balance, thirty-five miles, is being rapidly constructed, is nearly all graded, and UNDER CONTRACT TO BE FINISHED IN JUNE NEXT.

There are thirty-six depots on the line, located in cities and towns that contain, in the aggregate, a population of 190,000, averaging over 250 to each square mile, within a radius of half a mile of the track; and within twenty miles of the track there is a population of about 600,000.

It passes through the counties of Marion, Hendricks, Montgomery, Fountain, Warren and Vermillion, in the State of Indiana, and Vermillion, Champaign, De Witt, Piatt, McLean and Tazwell Counties, in Illinois, on the line of the old emigrant State road, which was laid out in the best portion of those States before the time of railroads, was then the main line of Western travel, and consequently became more thickly settled than other sections of the West, as the numerous cities, large villages, and products of these counties demonstrate.

Besides the large agricultural productions of this section the manufacturing interest is very extensive in the large towns, and is rapidly increasing.

The coal-mines at Danville on this line are extensively and profitably worked, and furnish business for over three hundred coal cars on this line at present, and more than twice that number will be required to carry coal on completion of the remaining link.

From the present earnings on 170 miles it is safe to assume that the local business alone will be ample not only to pay the bonded debt, but large dividends on the stock.

In addition to the population and wealth of the country, and all that is necessary to constitute a first-class road and make it a profitable investment through local traffic, it forms a grand central trunk line for through business, not surpassed by any road of equal length in the West.

At Indianapolis it connects by main lines with the cities of Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Cincinnati—Pennsylvania Central Railroad, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, and other important lines. At Pekin the western terminus connections are made with Peoria, Quincy, Keokuk, Burlington and Omaha. At Bloomington with the Illinois Central Road, which runs north-west 800 miles to Fort Dodge, Iowa. A very large business will be done with this line. At Danville it connects by rail with Toledo on Lake Erie. A map will show all these to be very important connections in making through lines over this route.

The Loan is placed beyond any contingency from the present earnings from local traffic on 170 miles, which must necessarily be double when the trains run through.

The Bonds are convertible at the option of the holder into stock at par at any time, which adds greatly to their value. They may be registered at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, if desired.

Coupons payable April and October, free of tax.

Total issue $5,000,000—$2,000,000 of which are placed in trust with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company to redeem and cancel $2,000,000 bonds issued to the Danville, Urbana, Bloomington and Pekin Railroad, now merged into this road, making the loan only $3,000,000, OVER HALF OF WHICH HAS BEEN SOLD IN EUROPE AND THIS MARKET. The balance we offer at 90 AND ACCRUED INTEREST. At this low price the Bonds, being so amply secured, will be quickly marketed.

We have been thoroughly posted in regard to the road from the start, have closely inspected it from time to time during construction, and being familiar with the wealth and resources of the country, the responsibility and integrity of the officers and directors of the Company, and the present earnings of the road, it is with pleasure that WE RECOMMEND THE BONDS AS ONE OF THE CHEAPEST AND SAFEST INVESTMENTS IN THE MARKET, sure of a high standard among the best railroad securities in the country.

All marketable securities received in exchange at market rates. Bonds delivered to all points free of express charges.

Sole Lessee and Manager....Mr. AUGUSTIN DALY

THIRD MONTH of FROU- FROU !	Every evening this week and matinee SATURDAY at 1, will be acted the famous comedy of contemporaneous society, entitled, "FROU-FROU!"—characters by Miss Agnes Ethel, Miss Gilbert, Kate Newton, Amy Ames, Mr. George Clarke, W. Davidge, James Lewis, George Parkes, G. F. De Vere, W. Beekman, and others. . The Herald says: "Frou-Frou tells the truth about human nature in vivid sentences. The cunning skill of Mr. Daly in fitting his company and the public with a play that must suit every taste is shown in every incident and every scene; underlying the startling dramatic plot are admirably telling hits upon the fashions and the amusements of modern life. * * * It must be called the 'Theatrical Sensation of 1870.'"

. MONDAY NEXT, MAY 2,
MR. CLARKE'S FIRST BENEFIT.
82d time of FROU-FROU.

THE FENIANS.

Military Council at Headquarters—Departure of Staff Officers for Various Points—O'Neill's Determination.

The Fenian head-quarters in West Fourth-street, yesterday, were the scene of military stir and bustle. At an early hour in the forenoon Gen. O'NEILL and Staff met several prominent military leaders of the organization, among whom were Brig.-Gen. Kiernan, of Philadelphia; Gen. J. J. Donelly, of Utica; Col.Clingen, of Buffalo; Col. Le Carron, of Illinois; Col. Lewis, of Vermont; Major Shelly, of Louisville, Ky.; Col. Murphy, of New-York, and others. The purpose of the meeting was to complete the General's arrangements and to give instructions to the members of his Staff, many of whom departed in the evening for various sections of the country. All day long this business was carried on, and the utmost secresy was observed by every attaché of the office. Their faces wore an expression which indicated that the owners were possessed of some very important knowledge. Our reporter had an interview with Gen. O'NEILL, who stated that the control of all military operations was, by the action of the late Congress, entirely vested in him. He said that until his plans and arrangements to bring about early warlike operations should be matured, the officers who composed this council of war will hold daily sessions. He had read the charges made by the Senate against him in their proclamation, published in yesterday morning's papers, and will answer them in a similar manner. He proposes to publish a clear statement of his receipts and disbursements, whereby his perfect honesty in every transaction will be shown, and the opposition's charge of malfeasance will be refuted. The Executive Council appointed by the Congress, and having charge of civil affairs only, will not be convened by him until the termination of this council of war toward the end of this or the beginning of next week. He said also that although the precise time of the commencement of hostilities may not be made public, it will be at a date sufficiently early to satisfy the world of the earnestness of his purpose and his ability to do something more than promise and threaten.

It appears from what transpired at head-quarters yesterday that the section of the Brotherhood, formerly known as the Savage party, although not exactly of the O'Neill party, may be counted with it in the event of the latter's taking the field. The same was also said of the St. Patrick's Legion. The Senate still stand aloof and refuse to countenance O'NEILL.

The Defalcation in the Surrogate's Office—The Amount $30,000—Name of the Defaulter.

The name of the clerk who caused the deficiency in the Surrogate's office, to cover which an item of $30,000 is inserted in the County Tax Levy, is, we are informed, J. WALKER FOWLER, Chief Clerk under Ex-Surrogate TUCKER, in 1863. The money, the amount of which is correctly stated, was obtained from the trust funds that passed through the Chief Clerk's hands, which, instead of being deposited with the Trust Company, as directed, were improperly appropriated to his own use. The name of the guilty party is now made public in order that none of the present officials in the Surrogate's office may suffer under an unjust imputation. Judge HUTCHINGS, upon coming into office, was informed by the retiring Surrogate that such a deficiency existed. He immediately communicated the fact to the Board of Supervisors, and employed accountants to ascertain the amount and balance the accounts, so that he might begin the discharge of his official duties with unfettered hands. He also, in order to guard against a recurrence of such an act in the future, made it a rule that no check should be received during his administration unless payable to his own order. In connection with this deficiency we learn that a young lady of this City, who has just become of age, was to receive $25,000 of the amount thus unaccounted for. The money had been paid into the Surrogate's office, and was, as she and her friends supposed, deposited with the Trust Company. She will, it is said, lose the whole amount unless the county refunds it, and afterwards institutes the proper proceedings for its collection.

The Sheltering Arms Bazaar.

After a brief respite from the busy scenes acted within its walls during the past week, the Bazaar was once more opened to the public yesterday morning. The morning's clouds proved the existence of "fair-weather charity," for with the appearance of the sun the few loungers present found their numbers strongly reinforced, and the gathering in the evening was the same in point of numbers that has characterized every evening so far—a pushing, eager, overheated crowd, but withal a good-natured and even a merry assemblage. The competition for the watch continues to be spirited. The poll stands now: Dr. Conrad, 342; Dr. Washburne, 296; Pope Pius IX., 283; Dr. Potter, 257; Dr. Montgomery, 166; Dr. Weston, 135. In connection with the voting, an indignant individual writes to the TIMES to inquire of Beelzebub is not as much a "Protestant" clergyman as the Pope, and requesting the friends of him of the cloven-foot to rally to his support. He asks if such votes would be received?

It may also be mentioned again that by most excellent management all solicitation for the purchase of goods is prevented, contributing much toward the peace and comfort of visitors. Also every article of wearing apparel and household furniture, of the finest manufacture, and at less than Broadway prices, can be found at the elegant booths. The sales yesterday amounted to over $2,500. The tickets sold at the door realized some $401; the restaurant netted $200, the picture gallery $424, Zion Church $225, Church of the Incarnation $450, Trinity Parish $66 75, and the others in proportion.

Brooklyn Board of Aldermen.

The usual weekly meeting of the Brooklyn Aldermen was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Alderman BERGEN, the President, in the chair. A communication from the Controller was read asking the authority of the Board to issue bonds for a sum not exceeding $191,204 50, bearing interest not exceeding seven per cent., to meet expenditures for 1868-69 of lighting streets, gas for public meetings, salaries, printing, repaving streets, &c., &c. Referred to the Finance Committee. A communication was read from his Honor the Mayor nominating the following gentlemen for the office of Excise Commissioners in terms of section 2 of the new Police bill, viz.: JAMES CORBOY, JOHN PYBURN and RODNEY THURSBY.

Alderman CLANCY moved that the communication be laid on the table till such time as the Mayor see fit to send in his nominations for Police Commissioners. The motion was adopted by a majority of 18 to 4.

A communication from the Water Board, referring to the frequent thefts from the fire hydrants, was referred to the Law Committee. It appeared that as many as forty brass couplings had been purloined in two weeks.

A petition from the Fifth Militia Brigade, asking for accommodation for head-quarters, was referred to Committee on Public Lands and Buildings.

The Committee on Water and Drainage reported on a communication from the Water Commissioners asking for the extension of the water-mains throughout the City, and recommended an issue of bonds to the amount of $350,000 for the purpose. Adopted.

The Board afterward adjourned.

Kings County Board of Supervisors.

The Kings County Board of Supervisors met in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon, the President, W. J. OSBORN, in the chair.

A report was presented from the Committee on Lunatic Asylum, stating that they had received estimates for building a fence around the grounds, and otherwise improving them by grading, paving, &c. The lowest offer was from Mr. JOHN NORTON, at $13,975, and it was recommended that the contract be assigned to him. It was also recommended that the County Treasurer be authorized to borrow $14,000 to meet the necessary expenditure.

On the motion of Mr. STILLWELL, the matter was laid over till next meeting.

The Committee on Military Affairs reported in favor of leasing a drill-room for the use of Companies D, E, F and K, of the Twenty-eighth Regiment. After some discussion the recommendation was adopted.

The Committee on Accounts reported that the entire cost of the new armory in the Eastern District had been $144,000, all of which had been paid except the bill of the architects, Messrs. MUNDELL & SECKRITZ, amounting to $3,748. On the motion of Mr. CROOKE, $3,000 of this amount was ordered to be paid.

The Board thereafter adjourned till the 3d of May.

The Bloomingdale Murder—The Trial Postponed.

The Court of Oyer and Terminer for the County of Passaic was held yesterday at Paterson, N. J., Judge BEDLE and Associate Judges JANFORD, TERHUNE and DAGGERS, on the bench. The Court-house was densely crowded. The panel from which jurors were to be selected, contained many of the first business men of the city. The District-Attorney was about to open the case of JOHN J. NIXON, charged with the murder of DAVID SISCO, when Mr. WOODRUFF, counsel for defendant, objected to the case being tried at this time, as no copy of the indictment had been served on the prisoner as directed by law, in which he was sustained by Judge BEDEL, who said "that the omission necessitated delay, and that the Court could not look after these matters, but that with consent it could be amended, yet that on the whole as the Court was unwilling to proceed with the case as it stood, an adjournment would be ordered till Thursday morning, 28th inst., at 10 o'clock." Witnesses for the prosecution and defense were then discharged on their own recognizances to appear on Thursday.

BASE-BALL.

Defeat of the Champion Atlantics.

Despite the threatening weather yesterday quite a fair number of spectators found their way to the Tremont Base-ball grounds at Morrisania, and were repaid for their labor by seeing a very handsome game. The grounds were in an unrolled condition, and were, therefore, against good fielding; but, nevertheless, several very brilliant points were made. The Atlantics were short of one man—SMITH—and the Unions presented SHELLEY on third base in place of KENNEY. Shortly before play began the sun shone forth brightly, much to the delight of everybody. The Unions soon "got the hang" of ZETTLEIN's swift pitching, and punished him very badly, making over thirty first-base hits; while the champions seemed utterly unable to get the command of PABOR's left-hand twisters, and this fact, in connection with the fielding of the Union nine and their very heavy batting, gave them the game from the start. START made a very fine line catch, hot from the bat. PIKE, HALL and FERGUSON also distinguished themselves by difficult catches and some neat foul bounds.

On the Union side the fielding was, as a rule, first-class. The rapidity of stoppage and the accurate throwing of the in-field was generally applauded both by the lookers-on and by the champions themselves—AUSTIN, in the out-field, making three very fine catches.

But the feature of the game was the extreme freedom with which they, technically speaking, knocked ZETTLEIN all over the field. PABOR made two home runs by long hits over the right-field fence, PIKE securing one for the Atlantics by a hit in the same direction. This being simply a "practice" game no prestige is lost by the Atlantics, who, evidently, bore in mind that they had naught at stake, or their play might have been different. At the same time it starts the Unions into the season with considerable éclat. The score follows:

Kings County Republican General Committee.

The Kings County Republican General Committee last evening elected the following delegates to the Rochester Judiciary Convention:

First District, Edward Corning; Second District, H. B. Duryea, Benj. D. Salteman, E. B. Fowler; Third District, Augustus Ford; Fourth District, William Aiken, Silen B. Dutcher; Fifth District, H. E. Wheeler, T. C. Cronin; Sixth District, Fred. Scholes, G. M. Fisher; Seventh District, Sigismund Kauffman, D. E. Meeker; Eighth District, S. N. Meeker, Daniel Manger; Ninth District, Charles Jones, Sidney S. Williams.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, An attempt is now being made to remove the United States Navy-yard from Brooklyn; and,

Whereas, Such removal would not be for the best interests of this city, and a great expense would also be incurred by the nation; therefore,

Resolved, By the Kings County Republican Committee, that it do not approve of said removal, and that it request the Republican Representatives in Congress to oppose it.

The meeting thereafter adjourned.

Death of Capt. Hexamer, of the Famous Hexamer's Battery.

Mr. WILLIAM HEXAMER, Ex-Captain of the famous Hexamer's Battery, died at his residence, in Hokoken, at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon, of inflamation of the throat.

At the breaking out of the rebellion he raised Battery A, of the First New-Jersey Artillery, to which he was appointed Captain, and which was mustered into service Aug. 12, 1861. The battery, upon reaching Fairfax Seminary, was attached to KEARNEY's brigade, and its first engagement was at West Point, May 7, 1862. It was afterward engaged in nearly every important battle on the Peninsula.

The deceased was born at Coblentz, Prussia, April 12, 1825. In 1849 he joined in the revolutionary movement in Baden, where he served as Adjutant under Gen. FRANZ SIGEL, and in consequence became an exile from his native country.

The Christian Culture of Children—Discussion by Methodist Clergymen.

The New-York Methodist Episcopal Preachers' meeting yesterday, discussed the disciplinary plan of Christian culture for children, on which Drs. Cattelle, Griswold, Ferris and Curry, and Rev. Messrs. Dunn, C. S. Brown, J. M. Buckley, R. W. Keeler, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, and John Parker and others, participated, and furnished some rich experiences. Some of the speakers considered that a peculiar adaptation was needed to deal with children in the church, and they confessed their own incapacity to interest or instruct. But the majority considered that preparation and a heartfelt interest in the work were all that were needed to succeed with the children. Rev. JOHN PARKER, a well-known Sunday-school worker, remarked that he dealt with children just as he did with adults. He always put himself into harmony with his audience, and then talked with them rather than preached to them, and he had no difficulty whatever in providing new and interesting matter every week, for three years in succession, for his Sabbath-school children, and he believed that he could continue it for ten years just as easily. The great hindrance to the general success of ministers in this work, he thought, is the itinerant system among the Methodists, for so many ministers believe themselves ill-adapted to instruct or interest children, and hence take no part in carrying on the work of their predecessors in this direction.

The case of Rev. Mr. ACKERMAN, who is now lying in this City seriously suffering from a hip disease, was presented to the meeting, and the sum of $75 was subscribed for his immediate benefit.

The Nominating Committee reported for election as officers of the Association for the current year: President, Rev. Dr. M. D'C. CRAWFORD, New-York Conference; First Vice-President, the venerable Dr. PORTER, of the Newark Conference; and Second Vice-President, Rev. Dr. ANDREWS, New-York East Conference. The former Secretary was re-elected.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

We are requested to state that the managers of the "Union Home and School for Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans," in this City, will take charge of, educate and bring up any children that may have been made fatherless by the collision of the British packet Bombay with the United States team frigate Oneida, in the Japanese seas. Communications may be addressed to the President, Mrs. CHARLES P. DALY, No. 84 Clinton-place; to the Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Admiral FARRAGUT, No. 113 East Thirty-sixth-street, Mrs. Gen. FREMONT, Tarrytown, N. Y., or to the Secretary, Mrs. D. HOYT, No. 129 East Forty-sixth-street, New-York City.

Recently about two hundred of the graduates of Ward School No. 14, in Twenty-seventh-street, met in the large room of that building in answer to a call made by Mr. OLNEY, the Principal of the institution. Representatives from every class from the year 1855 up to that of 1870 were present. It was a very pleasant gathering. Mr. OLNEY was temporary Chairman, and Mr. PETTIGREW temporary Secretary. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and the following gentlemen were elected officers for the next year: President, GEO. HAMILTON; First Vice-President, HENRY VINTON; Second Vice-President, WM. BLAIR; Recording Secretary, J. R. PETTIGREW; Corresponding Secretary, C. BARNDOLLAR; Treasurer, THOS. SMITH. After singing "Shoo-Fly" and "Auld Lang Syne," the first successful association of all the graduates of one public school which has been yet formed in this City, adjourned till such time as the Board of Directors shall order.

The usual monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last evening. WM. E. DODGE, Jr., presided. The Membership Committee reported having passed 400 names during the month. The Boarding-House Committee urged the importance of getting control of the boarding-houses. The Committee on Open-Air Meetings reported having made arrangements for out-door meetings next Sunday afternoon at Washington-square, No. 473 Grand-street, Jackson-square, corner of Thirty-fourth-street and Eighth-avenue, and one on the wharves. Church and Library Committees reported progress. The Literary Committee hoped for fair weather. Rev. Mr. MCVICKAR and Mr. WILLIAMS, of England, made brief, but pertinent addresses.

At the public meeting called by the United States Indian Commission for this evening, at Cooper Institute, to consider the present condition of the Indian tribes, and what can be done to ameliorate their condition, addresses are to be delivered by Hon. Sidney Clark, Vincent Colyer, Rev. Howard Crosby, Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., Commissioner Parker, and Senators J. Harland and L. M. Morrell.

NELLIE RICH was charged before Justice COX, at Jefferson Market Police Court, yesterday, with having assisted in the robbery of WM. JACKSON, of No. 123 West Houston-street, at a house of ill-fame in West Thirteenth-street. She was held to bail. JACKSON alleged that a party of men assaulted him while he was in a room with the accused, and that when he subsequently applied to Policeman MASCHUTE, of the Fifteenth Precinct, to arrest two of his assailants, the latter refused to do so.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. KELSO, of the Central Detectives, received information that Dr. CHAS. MERGENTHALER, of No. 240 East Fifty-third-street, had been robbed of $2,200 in greenbacks, and jewelry valued at $300, which the servant girl, CAROLINE SCHUTTE was suspected of taking. She was arrested. She was found in possession of a bunch of keys, one of which fitted the bureau drawer in which the money was kept. As yet none of the property has been recovered, and the case against the girl is not considered conclusive.

Another lottery-dealer, named JOHN SMITH, charged with having done business at No. 164 Canal-street without a Government license, waived an examination before Commissioner SHIELDS, yesterday, and was held to await the action of the Grand Jury.

A reward of $50 is offered by Perfect Ashlar Lodge, No. 604, F. and A. M., for the recovery of the body of THOMAS SMITH, a member of the Lodge, who was drowned in the East River, near the foot of Forty-eighth-street, last Friday afternoon.

The steamer Paraguay, from Havre, with 398 emigrants, arrived yesterday, and is detained at Quarantine on account of one case of small-pox on board. She is consigned to HOWLAND & ASPINWALL.

Yesterday morning a fire occurred in the premises of JACOB BOSSING, a cabinet-maker on the fourth floor of No. 215 East Fourth-street, whose stock was damaged to the extent of $200. The first and second floor is occupied by PETER WANAMACHER as a feed-store, and his stock, which was greatly damaged by water, is insured for $2,000 in the Niagara.

PETER H. SMITH, a lineman of the Fire Department, was severely injured yesterday by the falling of a telegraph pole at the corner of Eleventh-avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-first-street, which he had mounted for the purpose of stretching the wire.

At the annual election of the Hebrew Benevolent and Orphan Asylum Society of this City at the vestry of the Thirty-fourth-street Synagogue, yesterday afternoon, the following new officers were chosen to fill vacancies: Myer Stern, President; Jesse Seligman, Vice-President; S. T. Meyer, Treasurer; Solomon Hyman, Seligman Solomon, Emanuel Lehman, John Rau, Moses Goodkind, Lewis Levengood, Trustees.

Coroner SCHIRMER held an inquest yesterday in the case of PHILLIP LEDDY, a boy who was run over by a Belt-line car on the 21st inst. It appeared from the evidence that the deceased and two or three companions were amusing themselves in Avenue D. by ringing door-bells, and, being surprised, they all ran across the car-track, the deceased being caught by the horses and run over. The jury exonerated the driver by a verdict of accidental death.

MICHAEL MARTIN, a messenger in the employ of GEORGE WILKES, editor of the Spirit of the Times, was arrested yesterday on a charge of obtaining $5 on a Post-office order, which had been committed to his care by Mr. WILKES to convey from his residence to the publication office. The money obtained by MARTIN was appropriated to his own use. Justice DOWLING held the young man for trial in default of bail.

Coroner FLYNN held an ante-mortem examination yesterday in the case of WM. STACK, of No. 26 Rector-street, who was stabbed by an unknown man on Sunday night. The wounded man stated that two or three men followed him from a saloon, and one of them assaulted him without provocation. The jury rendered an open verdict.

MARTIN MACKEY, one of the men who was with DAVID O'DAY when he was murdered on Sunday morning, was arrested yesterday by Capt. CHAS. MCDONNELL, of the Twenty-eighth Precinct. This makes the fifth arrest, the only one of the gang still at liberty being PHILIP COONEY, who is believed to be the murderer.

CHRISTIAN REICKER, yesterday morning, fell from his wagon, corner of Thirty-fourth-street and Third-avenue, and received a severe wound on the left side of the head. He was removed to Bellevue Hospital.

BROOKLYN.

At the annual conclave of Clinton Commandery No. 14, K. T., held at their Asylum, No. 6 Court-street, last Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year: Sir Robert Black, Commander; Sir Judson Curtis, Generalissimo; Sir Clarence F. Beecher, Captain-General; Sir H. W. Karn, Prelate; Sir C. F. Beatty, General Warden; Sir Robert Leeds, Junior Warden; Sir Ed. Cooper, Warden; Sir W. M. Richardson, Sentinel.

JOSEPH LAWRENT, who has been held by the United States Marshal for four weeks on a charge of having in his possession a plate for printing twenty-five cent counterfeit notes, was released yesterday on finding bail to the amount of $3,000.

Father PETER BONNER O'DAILY died at St. Peter's Hospital from the effect of injuries inflicted by his neice, MARY O'DALY, on the 1st inst., under circumstances then detailed. MARY awaits trial in the County Jail, where she had been committed to await the result of her uncle's injuries.

During the past week 48,707 persons visited Prospect Park, and on Sunday last the number reached 30,373.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

At the opening of the April term of the County Court and Court of Sessions at White Plains, yesterday morning, Judge COCHRAN, in his charge to the Grand Jury, remarked that although the law which established the Excise Commissions had been abolished, persons who should sell liquor without a license, or sell liquor on the Sabbath day either with or without a license, were guilty of a misdemeanor, and it would be the duty of the Grand Jury to indict the offenders in all cases which might be brought to their knowledge.

Rev. R. H. GREENE, rector of Grace Church, West Farms, on Sunday morning announced that the receipts of the past year had been sufficient to liquidate all the indebtedness of the Church; that there were still sufficient funds in the treasury to defray the expense of putting the edifice in good order, which would be done immediately; that the Sabbath-school connected with the church was in a flourishing condition, and that more had been done for the cause of missions during the past year than in any previous one under his ministration.

The contract for building the Spuyten Duyvil and Port Morris Railroad, from the Hudson River Railroad at Spuyten Duyvil to its proposed junction with the Harlem Railroad at Mott Haven, about a quarter of a mile north of the Harlem River, has been awarded to Mr. NICHOLAS DECKER, who is to complete the work by the the 1st of March, 1871.

The Democratic Convention of the Second Assembly District of Westchester County, held on Saturday afternoon last at White Plains, elected Hon. J. W. MILLS and Ex-Judge P. S. HART delegates to the State Convention, called to nominate candidates for Judges of Appeals.

PATRICK LENNON was arrested yesterday by Officer WOLF on a charge of robbing the money-drawer of PATRICK DONNELLY, in East Morrisania.

NEW-JERSEY.

Yesterday afternoon Constable O'SULLIVAN, who was represented as having run away with a large amount of money which he obtained from Justice WHITE, of Hoboken, upon an order from the Court, returned and presented himself to the editor of a Jersey City paper. He stated that he had deposited the money with his sureties, JEREMIAH MURPHY and JAS. COLLINS, after having held possession of it for three weeks. Where he has been in the meantime is not explained. The residence of his sureties cannot be ascertained, and the value of this statement is unknown.

The Odd Fellows of Newark are celebrating the fifty-first anniversary of the establishment of the Order in America, as well as the twenty-fifth anniversary of the formation of Protection Lodge No. 28. Exercises were held yesterday in St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, at which addresses by Masters of the Lodge were delivered, and a fine selection of music performed by the choir of the church. Today the Lodge have an excursion down the bay, and this evening a grand banquet, for which nearly 400 invitations have been issued.

Gov. RANDOLPH, of New-Jersey, has accepted the resignation of H. N. CONGAR, Secretary of State, and has appointed in his place HENRY C. KELSEY, of Sussex County. The new appointee is said to be well qualified to fill the position, although he is not generally known throughout the State. The retiring Secretary tendered his resignation soon after his election as Vice-President of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark.

On Saturday night the dry-goods store of Mr. C. V. FREEMAN, Morristown, was entered and robbed of shawls and fancy goods to the amount of about $300. Scarcely had the robbery been discovered when it was found that the stable of Mr. WM. S. DE CAMP, situate on the corner of Franklin and Elm streets, had been forcibly entered and a valuable stallion, new top buggy and set of harness stolen. It is thought that the burglaries were perpetrated by the same persons, and that the horse will be found in the New-York market.

HENRY HOFFMAN, a well-known railroad thief, was arrested yesterday evening, in Jersey City, by Detective KILCAULEY, at the Central Railroad Depot. HOFFMAN entered the western emigrant train, and on the pretense of being conductor of the train, obtained the tickets of five emigrants, who were going to California. The detective was entering the car at the time, and saw the whole transaction. The value of the tickets was $132. The thief will be brought before the Recorder this morning.

Yesterday morning the body of a man named JOHN MARKEY, who resided in Bergen-street, Newark, was found drowned in the canal at Newark. Some time since he was separated from his wife, and has since been drinking to excess.

CHARLES D. MORRISON, a prominent builder at Woodside, who has been largely engaged in real estate transactions, is alleged to have absconded for Peru, taking with him some $5,000 worth of machinery, and leaving liabilities to the estimated amount of $40,000.

Rev. WM. G. FARRINGTON, of Hackensack, has been called to the rectorship of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, Newark, and it is thought that he will accept. Mr. FARRINGTON is greatly esteemed by his present charge, and the probability of his leaving them causes much regret among his old parishioners.

Mayor CHAPMAN, of Perth Amboy, has addressed a letter to the Secretary of the Navy, urging the selection of that place as the site for a navy-yard, provided the Brooklyn yard is to be removed.

A house in Woodbridge, belonging to Mr. SAMUEL DALLY, and occupied by a Mr. WILEY, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is heavy.

ARMY AND NAVY RECORD.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Special orders have been issued from the War Department, directing the Seventeenth United States Infantry, now stationed in Virginia, and the Fourteenth Infantry, now in Kentucky, to proceed with all possible dispatch to Sioux City, Iowa, and report thence to the General commanding the Department of Dakota, for assignment to duty. Their Colonels will select suitable officers to take charge of the company and regimental property pertaining to the command, which will be forwarded after the regiments.

Assistant-Paymaster John W. Jordan has been ordered to the receiving-ship New-Hampshire. Assistant-Naval Constructor William H. Varney, is detached from the Navy Yard at Portsmouth, N. KNOX THE HATTER.—To keep in good humor is not always an easy matter in a world full of worriment. One of the most direct means of doing it, however, is to take the bull by the horns, or rather the man by the head, and put a good hat upon him. A man with a bad hat is too often a man with a bad head. If he has a good head, he will see that it is properly provided for. Go therefore to KNOX, No. 212 Broadway.

Notice to Mariners.

GULF OF BENGAL—GULF OF MARTABAN.

Lights on the Coast of British Burmah.

With reference to Notice to Mariners No. 8, dated 15th February, 1869, respecting the establishment of lights on the coast of British Burmah: The Government of India has given further notice, that from the 15th day of September, 1869, the lights from the following light-houses would be exhibited, and on the 21st, the light-vessel at the entrance of Rangoon River would be removed:

Fixed Light on Krishna Shoal.

The light exhibited from the screw-pile light-house in 3 fathoms at low water, on the south-eastern edge of the Krishna shoal, is a fixed white light, visible from E. N. E. round by N. and W. to S. S. W., elevated 60 feet above high water, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of 14 miles. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses of the second order.

Position of the light-house, lat. 15 36 30 N., lon. 95 35 E. from Greenwich.

In foggy weather a bell will be sounded every half minute.

NOTE.—This light is intended to enable vessels to avoid the danger of the Baragou Flat and Krishna Shoal; in approaching from the westward, a vessel should keep in not less than 7 fathoms, until the light bears N. W., and then shape a course N. E. by N. or N. E., (according to set of tide,) for China Buckeer light. Vessels from the northward must not get into less than 6 fathoms, or bring the light to bear southward of S. W. by W. ½ W.

No vessel should approach within 5 miles of the light-house.

Revolving Light at China Buckeer.

The light from the screw-pile light-house, about 3 miles north-east from the mouth of the Buckeer River, is a revolving light, attaining its greatest brilliancy every minute, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of 15 miles.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses of the first order.

The tower is situated on the land of China Buckeer, close to high-water mark; the lower part of the tower, seen against the dark trees, is painted white; it is in lat. 15 19 30 N., lon. 95 12 E.

Fixed Light at Eastern Grove.

The light from the screw-pile light-house near Eastern Grove, east side of the entrance of Rangoon River, is a fixed light, visible between the bearings N. and N. E. by E. ¼ E., having a more intense light visible 5 degrees on either side of the position of the light vessel, the centre bearing N. N. E. ¾ E.; in clear weather the more intense light should be seen from a distance of 16 miles, and the other 12 miles.

Position of the tower, lat. 16 29 N., lon. 96 20 30 E.

DIRECTIONS.—Steer so as to make China Buckeer light between the bearings N. by E. and W. by N., and when Eastern Grove light bears N. N. E. ¾ E., the China Buckeer light may be brought to bear W. which position is on the pilot station. Vessels should anchor until daylight or until a pilot is obtained.

AIR-LINE ROUTE.
THE FIRST MORTGAGE
OF THE
New-Haven, Middletown and Willimantic Railroad Company
of Connecticut

ARE BEING ABSORBED AS RAPIDLY AS THE WANTS OF THE COMPANY REQUIRE. The line is located between New-Haven and Willimantic, is fifty-two miles in length, and forms the CONNECTING LINK IN THE AIR-LINE ROUTE between New-York and Boston, reducing the distance TWENTY-SEVEN MILES, and the time about one hour.

One-half of the Road will be completed and Trains running early in May; two-thirds of the total cost of the enterprise has already been expended; nearly three thousand men are engaged on the work, and before the close of the year it is expected the WHOLE LINE WILL BE IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION. The present an attractive investment. They bear SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST, payable half yearly—May and November, in New-York—FREE OF GOVERNMENT TAX, AND FROM STATE AND LOCAL TAXES IN CONNECTICUT; are issued in denominations of $500 and $1,000, and can, at the option of the holder, be REGISTERED, with or without coupon attached.

This deservedly popular Security possesses advantages which will always make it a FAVORITE INVESTMENT, and one which must be constantly in demand.

Pomeroy's "Finger Pad Truss."
So called because it imitates the pressure of the human finger in its method of retaining a Rupture or Hernia. Awarded the first medal and diploma of the American Institute, October, 1869.
Report of the Judges: No. 529—Patent Adjustable Trusses, W. Pomeroy & Co., No. 553 Broadway, New-York.—BEST. The Committee are unanimous in reporting in favor of the superior merits of this truss, on account of the variable adjusting force produced by means of the serrated eccentric wheel, and the finger pad, which admits of accurate adjustment to the point where pressure is desired.
